too,
Heydoll! Well this year has been really great! [illegible]! We've had some good times in Ms. Coleman's class and Jimbo's! (Even Ms. Skelton's) we have become really close friends; I hope we become even closer! You are a really sweet; funny (asshell) guy! You've always been able to make me laugh even when I was at the lowest! You have so much going for you that I hope you turn out good! (I think! I doubt it! Ha Ha! J.K!)
I'm sorry that you and Shereee did not work out but I know you both tried! Some people were ment to be just friends! Oh, I'm sorry that me; KRISTI (more KRISTI than me) tore up your house that friday nite! That wuz pretty fun 4 us but you were just too buzy w/ ICE! But anyway I'm glad that we became as close as we are; I hope we become even closer! Stay sweet 4 me and be sure and call me any time (or just 2 talk) you've got a problem! You can do the same 4 me!

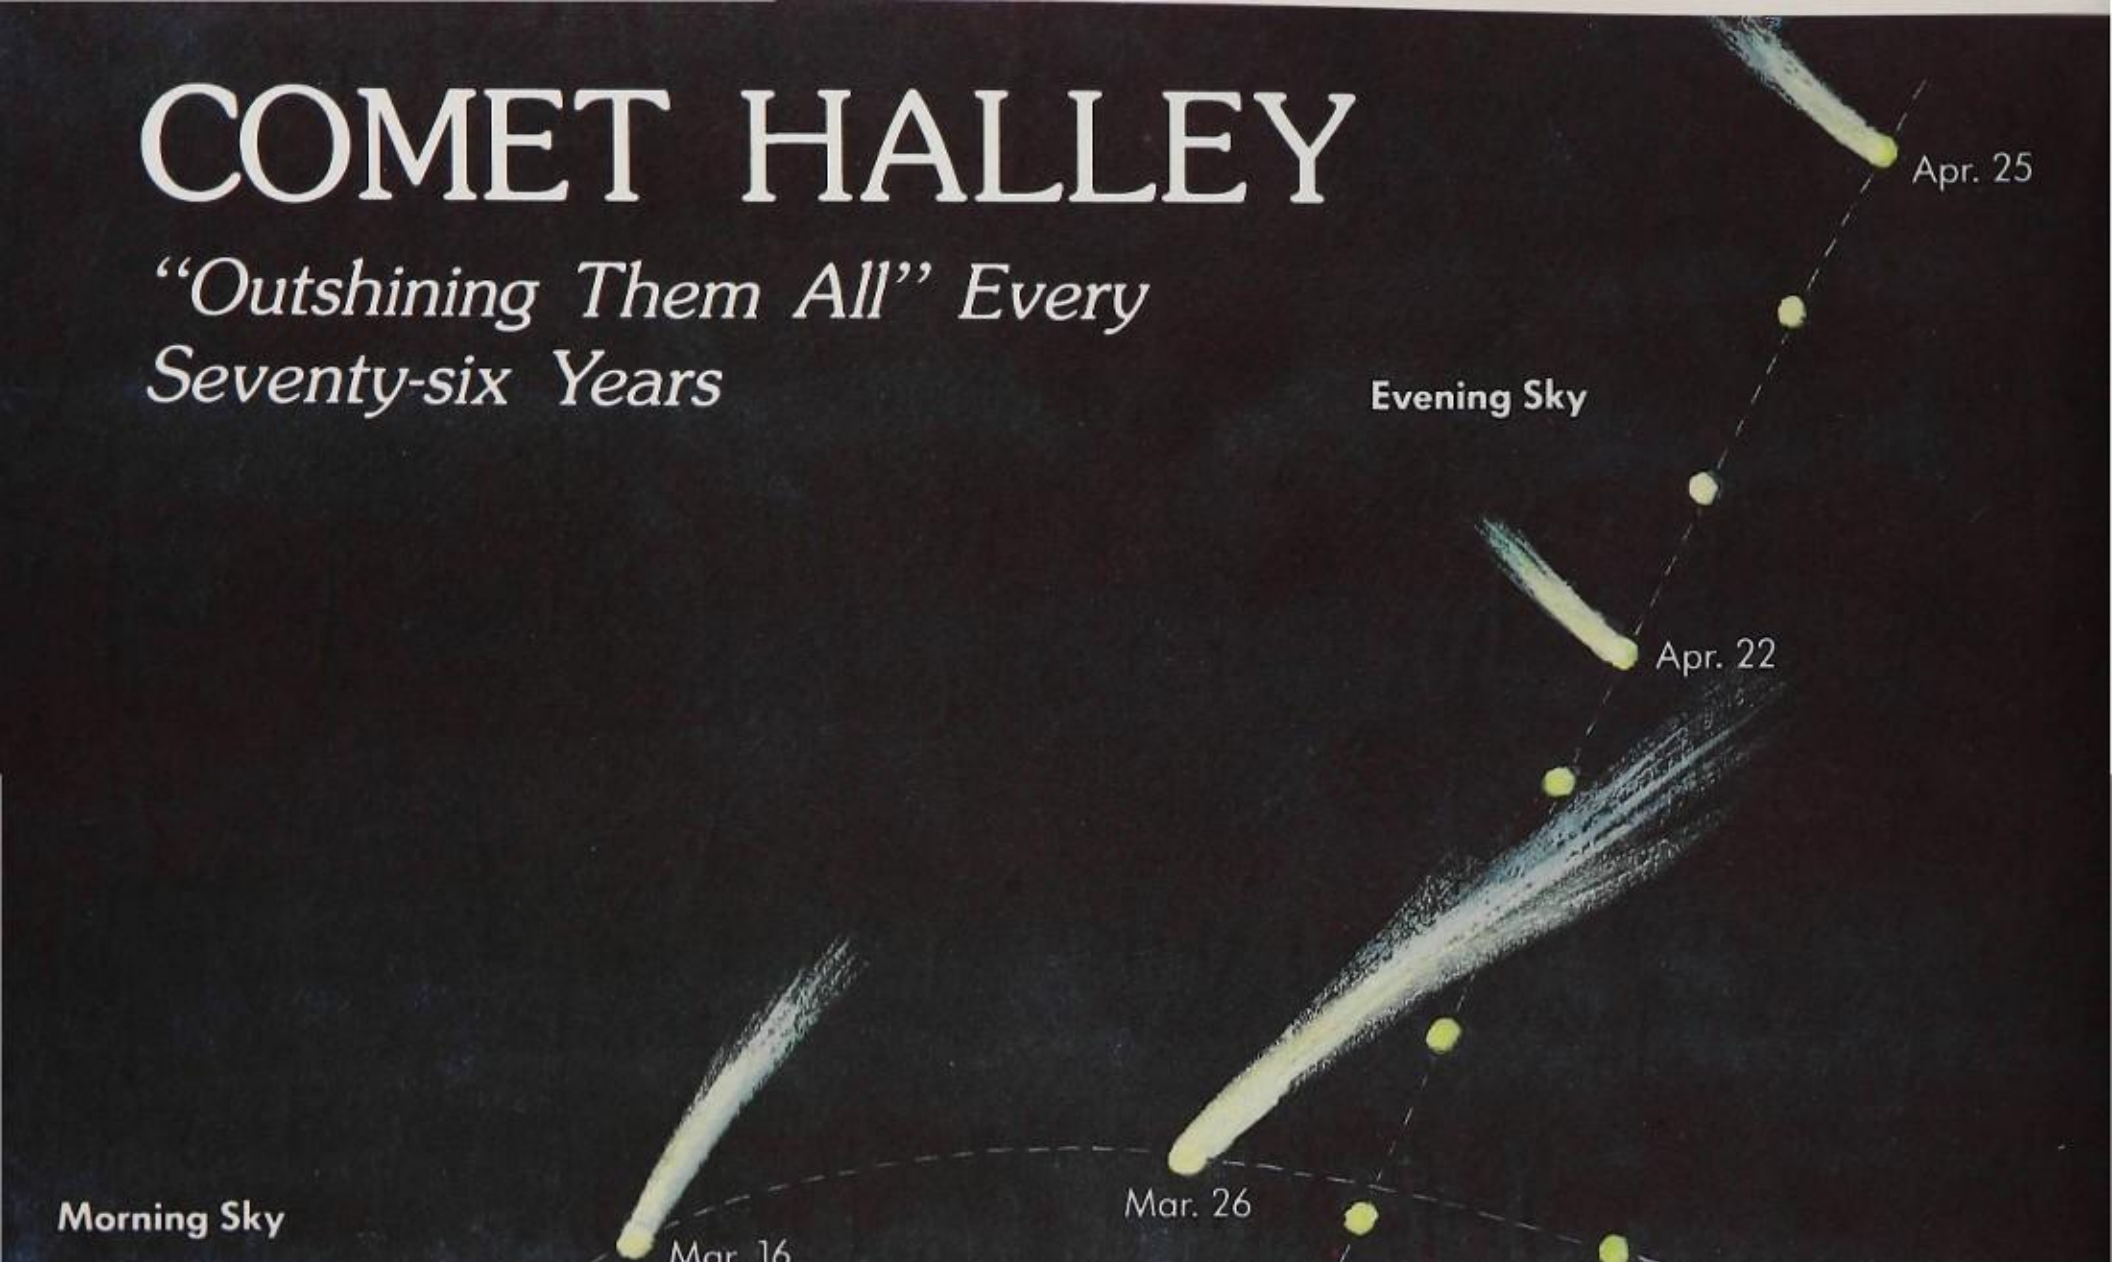
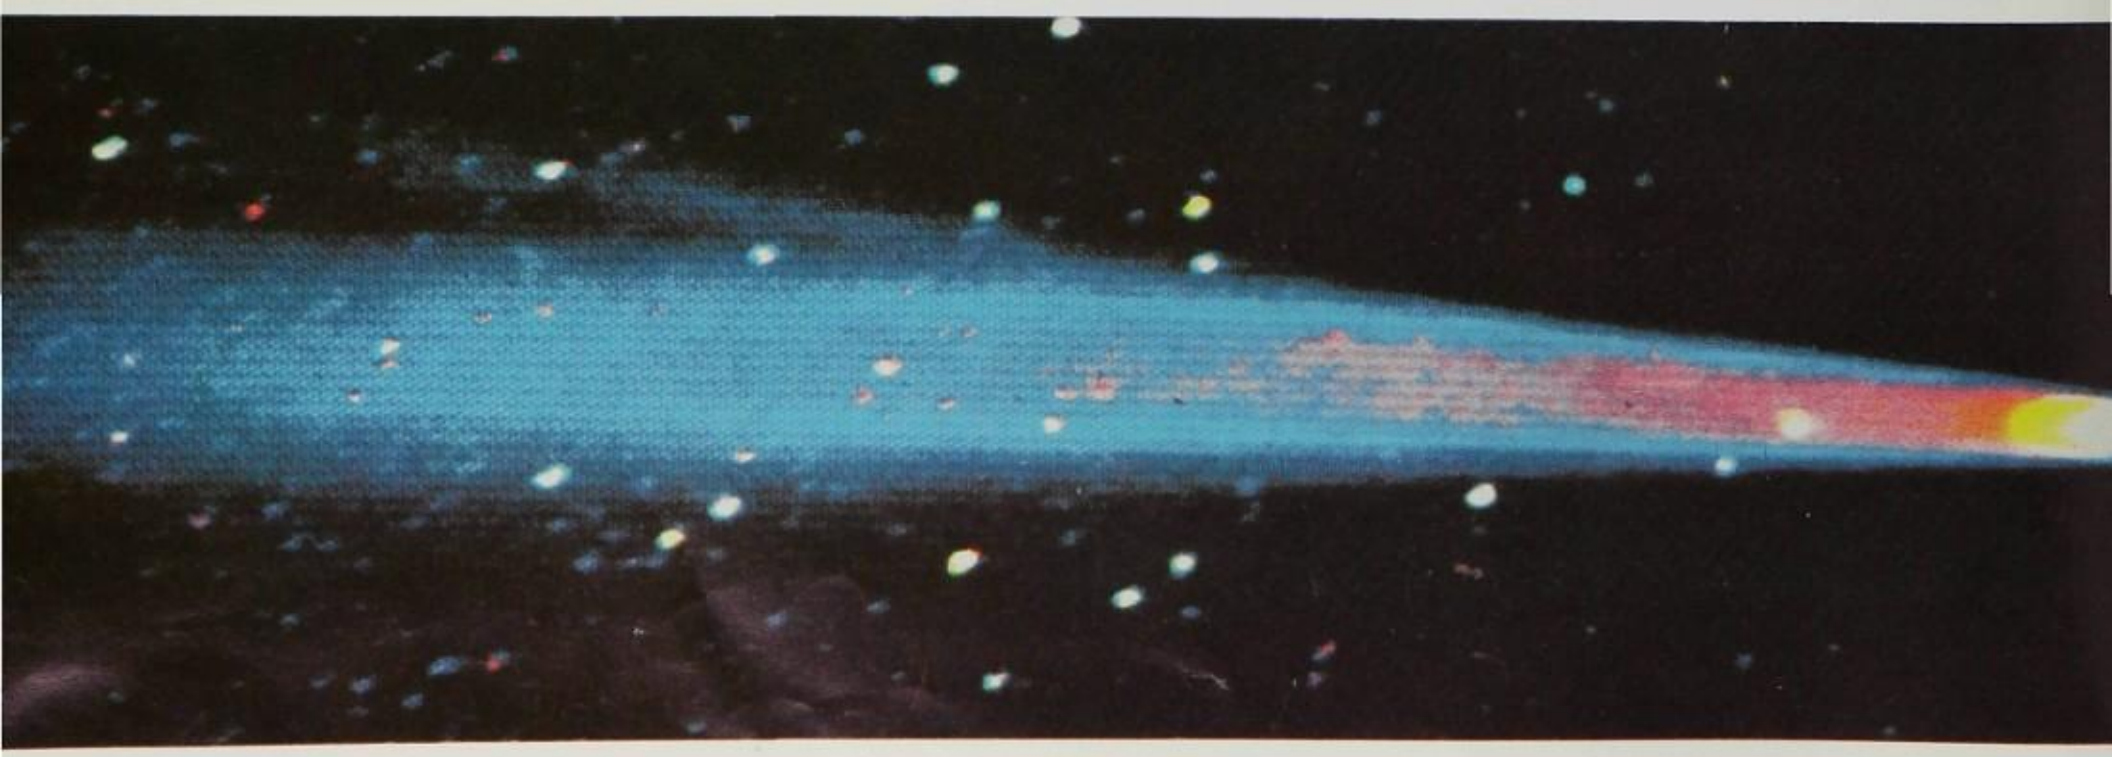
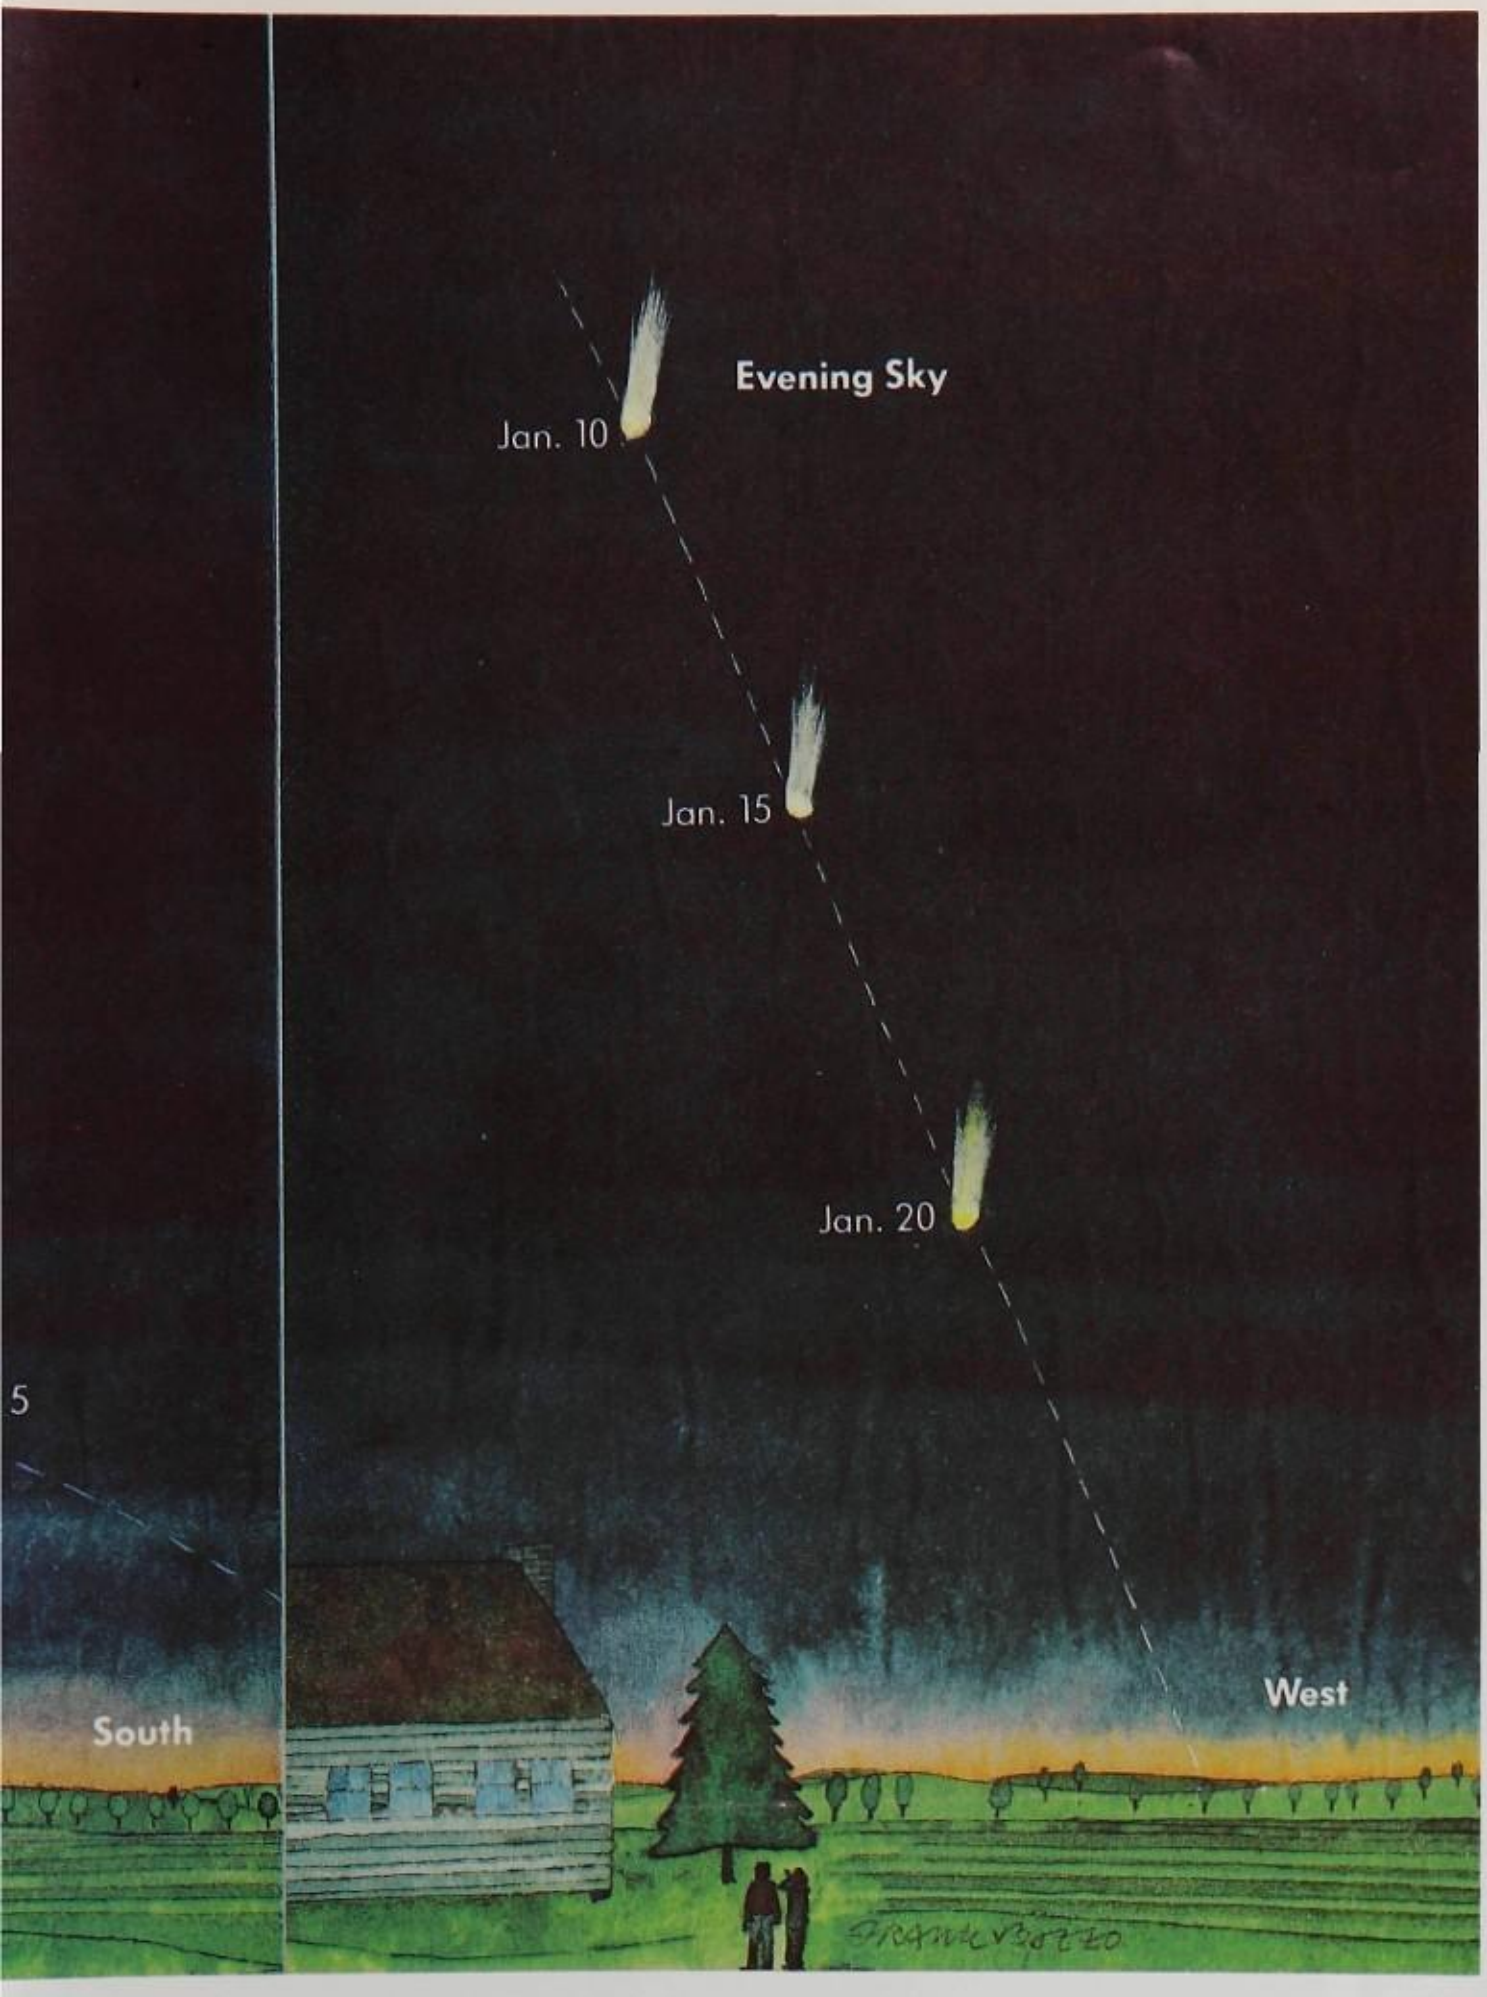
COMET HALLEY

"Outshining Them All" Every Seventy-six Years





Comet Info



COMET WATCH

November 1985 — During the week of the 10th, it was possible to see Comet Halley with the aid of telescopes or powerful binoculars. On the 27th, it came within 58 million miles of the earth — its second closest approach — but was not yet at its brightest.

December 1985 — Early this month, Comet Halley became visible to the naked eye. It appeared in the southwest sky as darkness fell. After the 29th, a short tail was visible with binoculars.

January 1986 — On the 1st, Comet Halley was 108 million miles from the earth and 94 million miles from the sun. It was visible low in the western sky after sunset.

February 1986 — When it reached perihelion on the 9th, Comet Halley was on the opposite side of the sun. Late in the month, viewers in the southern United States were able to see it in the morning sky west of the sun.

March 1986 — Comet Halley returned to the morning sky for viewers in the northern United States. Though it gave off less light, it appeared brighter to us because it was closer to the earth.

April 1986 — On the 10th, Comet Halley was at its closest approach to the earth, 40 million miles away. It was too far south to see except from the southern states. In late April, it was visible again in the north in the evening sky. By May, binoculars were needed to see it.

The diagrams above chart the comet's course from March to April, and in the month of January. Notice the drift of the comet's tail. Since the tail always faces away from the sun, at certain points in a comet's orbit the tail shines ahead almost like a headlight.

The picture at left is a computer enhanced photograph of Comet Halley in 1910, taken by astronomers at the Lowell Observatory and National Optical Astronomy Observatories.

It was impossible to recapture the awe inspired by Comet Halley as it made its thirty-first recorded visit. Witnessing the comet was a once in a lifetime thrill since it only comes every seventy-six years. The comet most recently made its spectacular orbit in 1910. Because the appearance of Comet Halley distinguished this year as special, the COHISCAN staff chose the comet to visualize our theme "We Outshine Them All."

The comet was both rare and superior, as is our school. CHS has long been a respected institution and is held in high regard for its achievements in all areas. Students and administration have immense pride and a spirit that binds everyone together with the purpose of making their school the best ever. We are a superior school because we are never complacent about our accomplishments nor discouraged about our shortcomings. We constantly evaluate and update in order to meet the challenge. We are a rare school because we refuse to be less than the best. "We Outshine Them All."

DEDICATION A Once In A Life-Time Teacher

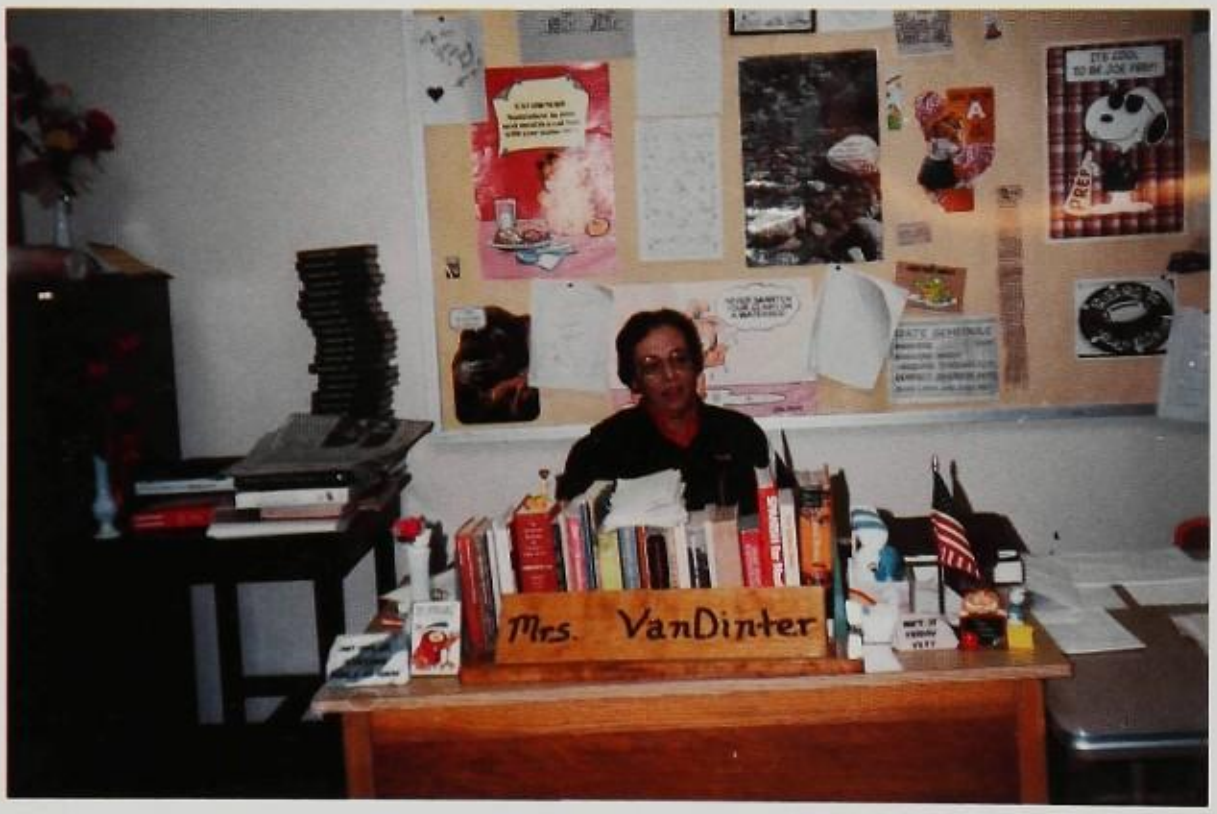
Dear Mrs. Van Dinter,

We're just writing this to say thanks. Thank you for working devotedly with the Y-Club. Thank you for sponsoring Powder Puff football each year. Thank you for guiding us through our graduation paces. To do these things, it takes a special kind of love for CHS and its students. Your ready wit and easy laughter make you a unique teacher. What we are really trying to say is we appreciate your sensitivity to ou needs, your gentleness when we're vu nerable, and your intellect. In return fo everything you've done for us, we, th senior class of 1986, dedicate th year's COHISCAN to you.



She good-naturedly takes a pie-in-the-face, then smiles through the cream.

Below and right, she holds a Y-Club meeting in her home. Through selfless actions such as this, she practiced the theme of the Y-Club, give of yourself to others.

Her room is decorated with humorous and cheerful items that reflect her positive attitude towards teaching.

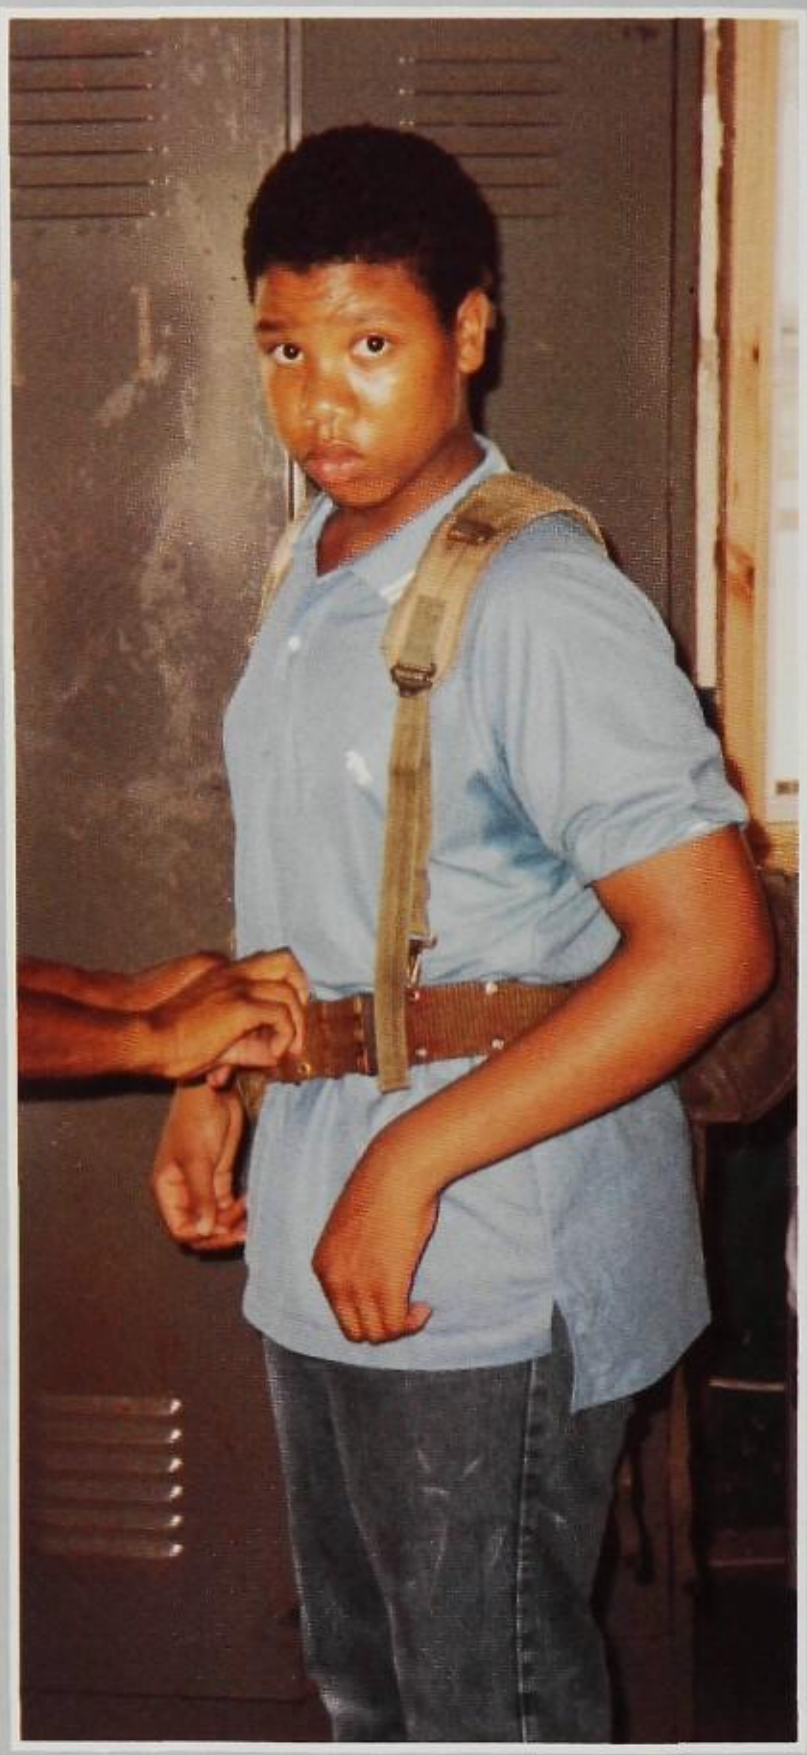
Bottom right corner: While vacationing in Connecticut last summer, she finally found some furniture in her size!

Junior Marcus Chambers is fitted for his equipment at the JROTC summer camp at Fort Benning.

Senior Kym Shuttleworth and Junior Donald Nichols break the "no hug" rule after school.

Freshman Rebecca Couch, Sophomore Bobby Copenny, and Junior Nelson Tomlinson lead the way for the marching band during summer practice.

Sophomores Chris Stover, Tarra McCullar, and Amy Klenz, and seniors Tonya Williamson and Darrell Jones find that 4 minutes is plenty of time to visit and still get to class.



Juniors Zachery Williams and Darren Smith show off their acting abilities in Mrs. Johnson's English class.

DEVILS RETURN

The Show Of A Lifetime Reopens

When writing opening copy we always try to capture the essence of our school and our students. Trying to record the spirit, pride, and enthusiasm of the student body is a monumental task. This year we have selected a poem which we think goes beyond even that.

The Sun Goes Down on Summer

I come to the water one last time as the sun goes down on summer.
It's going; I can feel it slip away, and it leaves a cold empty spot, a hole in my warm memories of endless golden days and dreams as ripe as watermelons.
I'd give the world to make the summer stay.
The water is calm around me.
It's a warm, silent sea of thought dyed in the rich blues of night and memory.
Why can't things just stay the way they are?
Instead, the days rush headlong into change and I feel like nothing's ever going to be the same.
Soon school will start again. And all the things I thought I'd left behind will come back, and it won't be gentle water I'll be swimming in —
It'll be noise and people and schedules and passes and teachers telling everyone what to do.
One more year of homework, tests and grades. Of daily popularity contests and pressure-cooker competition and heaps of frustration.
The first day is the worst. Not knowing who your friends are, or what's changed since last year. Trying to pick it up where you left off.
I'll look real hard for a last-year's friend to get me from one scrambled class to another, through halls crawling with people.
I wonder if I'll fit in.
Football practice started last week. It started without me.
I had to make a choice and football lost.
Two years on the team and it struck me — who am I doing this for?
It's just another thing people expect you to do, so you do it.
School is full of those kinds of things — things that sap your freedom, and keep you from being yourself.
That's what I want most, to be myself. But that's hard.
Hear's what I dread most: when summer goes, I go with it.
I go back to school and I change as soon as I walk through those doors.
I have to be someone everyone will like — that's a law of survival.
What would happen if I just stayed the real me?
Would they turn me off? Label me "weird"?
Would I ever get another date?
It seems like so much to risk.
But growing is a risk. Change is a risk.
And who knows, I might discover something of myself in the coming year.
I might get closer to the person I am — what a discovery that would be!
When the doors open on Monday morning, I'll have a fresh start, a fresh opportunity to find myself.
I want to be ready.

Junior Donald Nichols uses histrionics to get his point across.

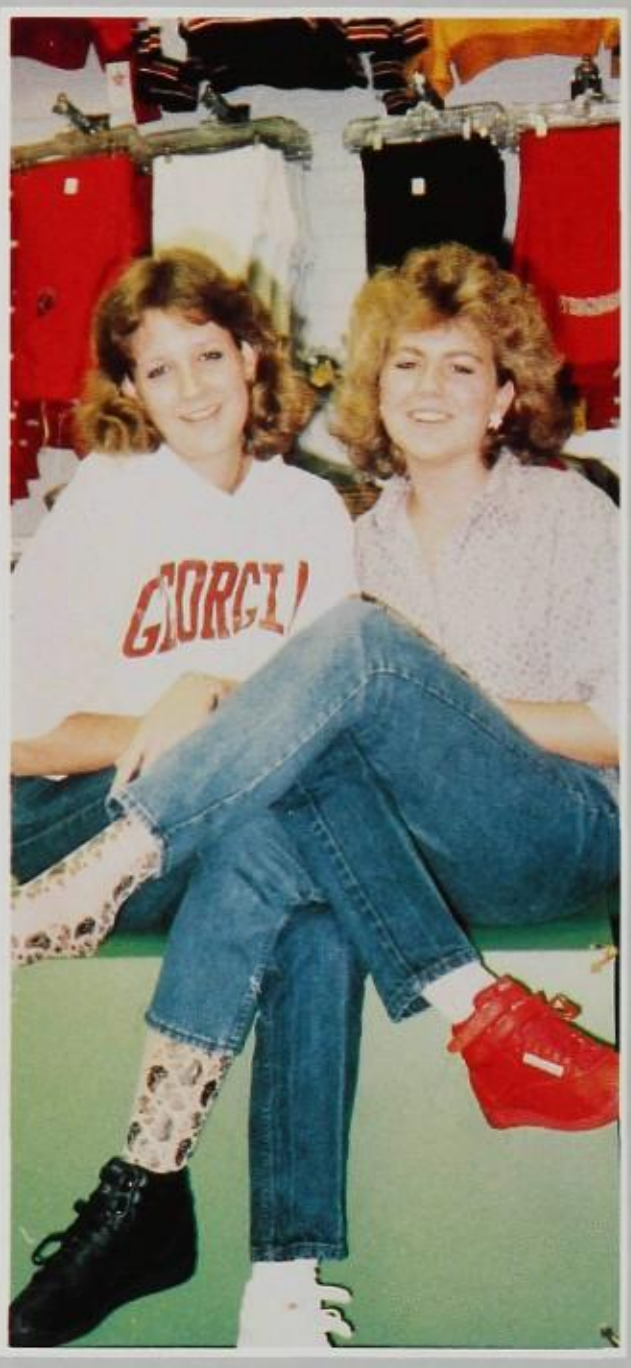
The Varsity cheerleaders were proud to bring home the spirit stick from camp.

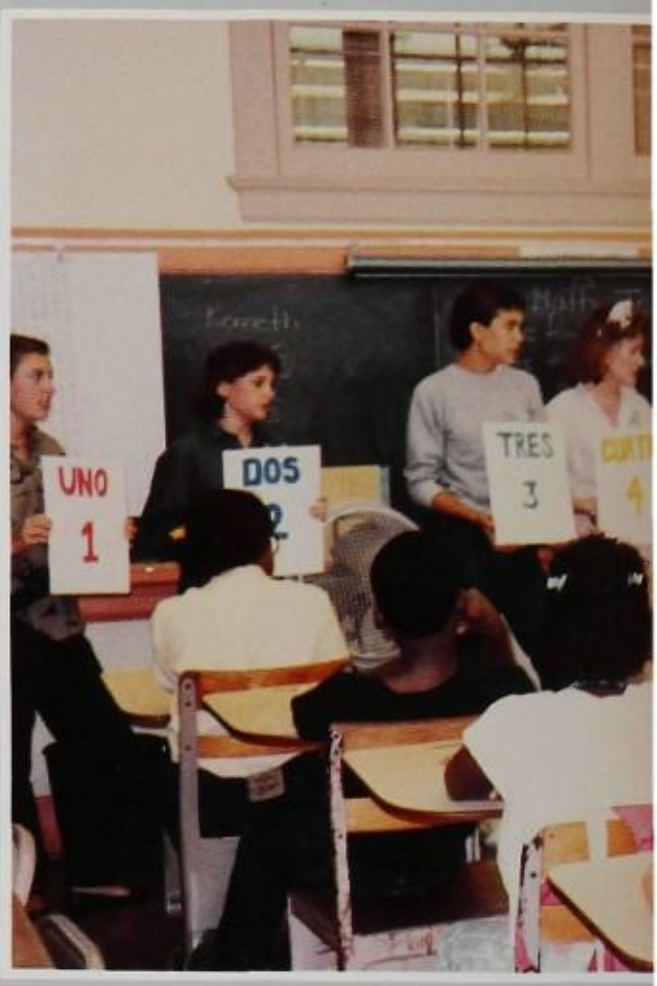
Senior Kym Shuttleworth and Sophomore Tarra McCullar clown around while taking fashion shots for the yearbook.

Columbus High students are serious about mastering their computer language.

Senior Jodonna Glenn and Junior Kim Herring are ready to go to work at cheerleading camp.

Sophomores Bretta Hollis, Felicia Foster, Leneissa Daniels, and Eugene Turner aren't the least bit camera shy!





Senior John VanDinter looks forward to graduating.

Mrs. Hopper's fourth period spent a Friday afternoon teaching St. Elmo elementary students Spanish language and culture.

Junior Jason Talbot hoses down his last customer.

Juniors Cathy Youmans, Kim Wright, and Caroline Weitzel take a boat ride at Shell Island in Panama City.

The Varsity cheerleaders regress back to their childhood days whiile attending cheerleading camp.

Proud of our school, students are careful to maintain its attractiveness.

After the first two pep rallies, students were no longer allowed to stand down on the gym floor.

Juniors Lisa Thompson and Laura Wilbanks keep in touch over the summer.

Junior Beth Tomlinson gets down to business working after school on the annual.

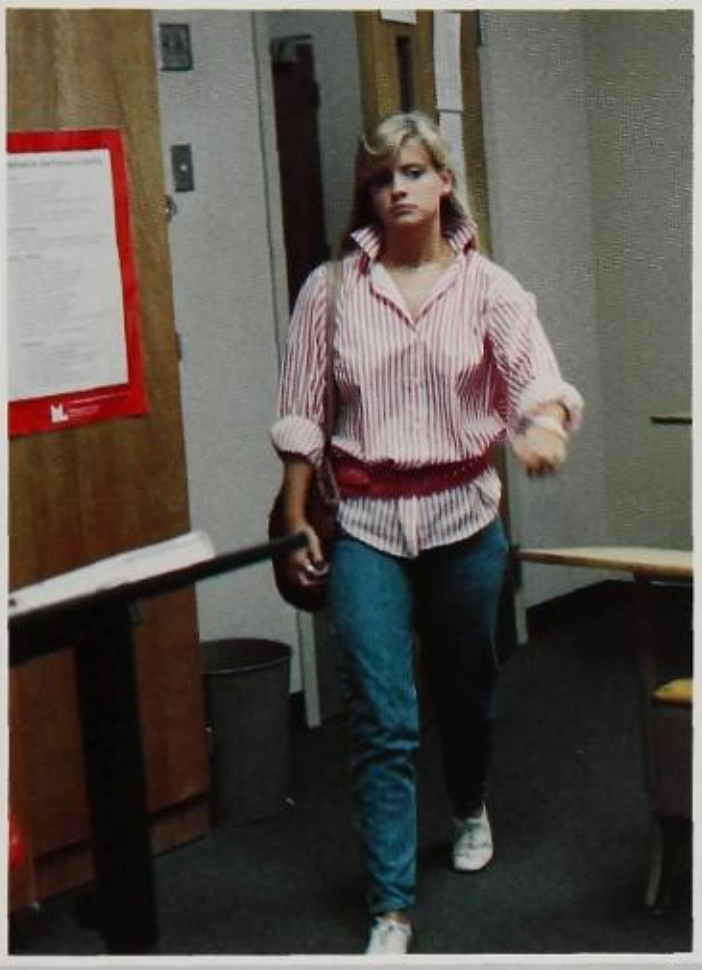
Junior Tammy Brooks knows that keeping up with your books is harder than it looks!

These teammates think over the game plan against the Hawks.

Junior Christine Barnes has a mixed reaction to her homework assignment.

Juniors Amy Bowers and Brooke Bone don't miss a chance to chat.

The awesome drumline practiced hard in order to be the best.



Junior Martha Martin roars with the best of them.

Juniors Derek Carlisle and Ben Sorrell get a real kick out of washing cars at the Jr. Civitan car wash.

Senior Terrie Thomas has really got the Blue Devil spirit.

Seniors Stacy Ferguson, Melanie Osment, Sherry Altig, and Gretchen McCosh look ready for a night out.

In class cat-naps are sometimes a necessity, as Sophomore April Parker can attest.

STUDENT LIFE AND FEATURES

Freshman Vanessa Ray's expression reflects a mix of amusement, weariness, and boredom — all common emotions for students.

Students gather on the front stairs of CHS to socialize.

FOREIGN STUDENTS New Faces At CHS

This year we have welcomed five foreign students. They came from far away countries to learn about America and to bring us knowledge about their ways of life.

Daniel Vollmer, senior, is from Cologne, Germany. He enjoys music, swimming, and table tennis. Daniel likes CHS and finds everyone to be very friendly.

Fouzia Sayedzadah, senior, is from Kubal, Afghanistan. She enjoys gymnastics and volleyball. Fouzia would like to go to an American college.

Jorge Bartos, junior, is from LaPaz, Bolivia. He likes to watch Miami Vice, MTV, and thinks American food is "great". Jorge is on the Math Team and in Spanish Club.

Monica Duran is also from LaPaz. She enjoys shopping, being with friends, and having fun. Monica is in Civitan, French Club, and Spanish Club.

Jorge Martinez, sophomore, is from Madrid, Spain. He has been at CHS for two years. Jorge likes to read and play many different sports. He is a member of the Spanish Club.

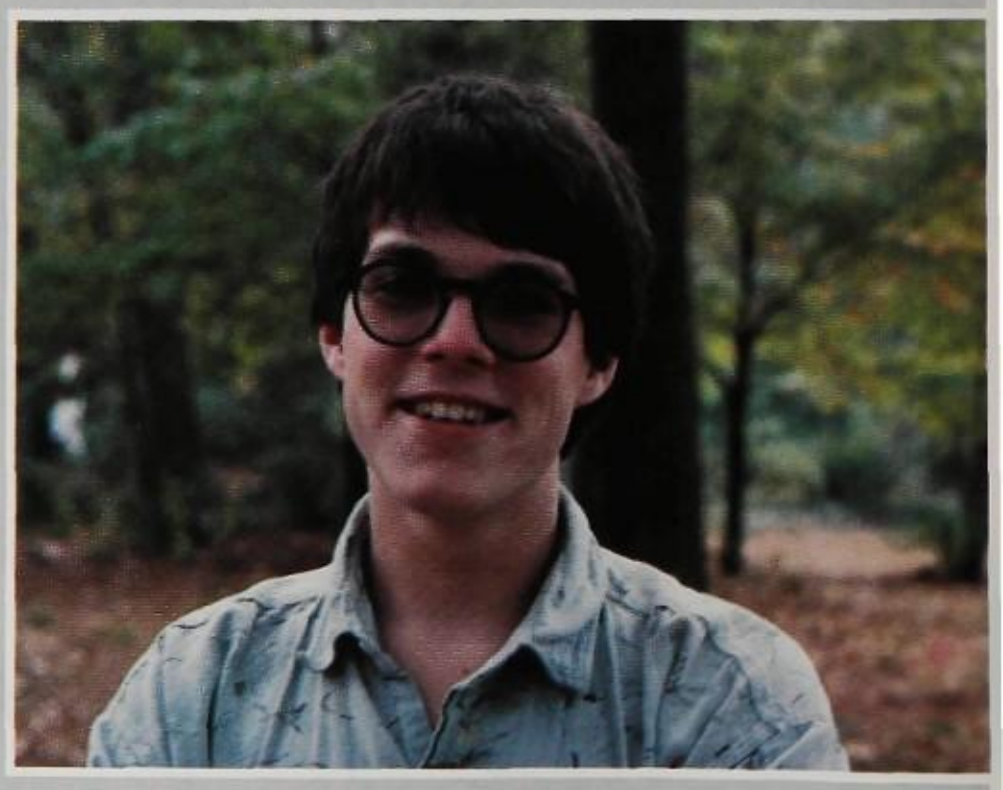
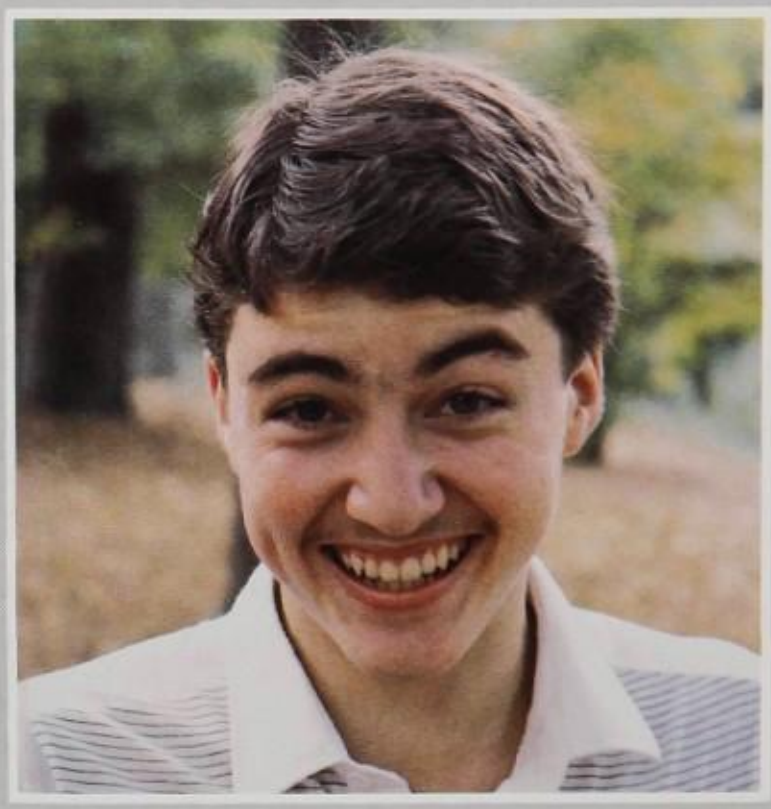
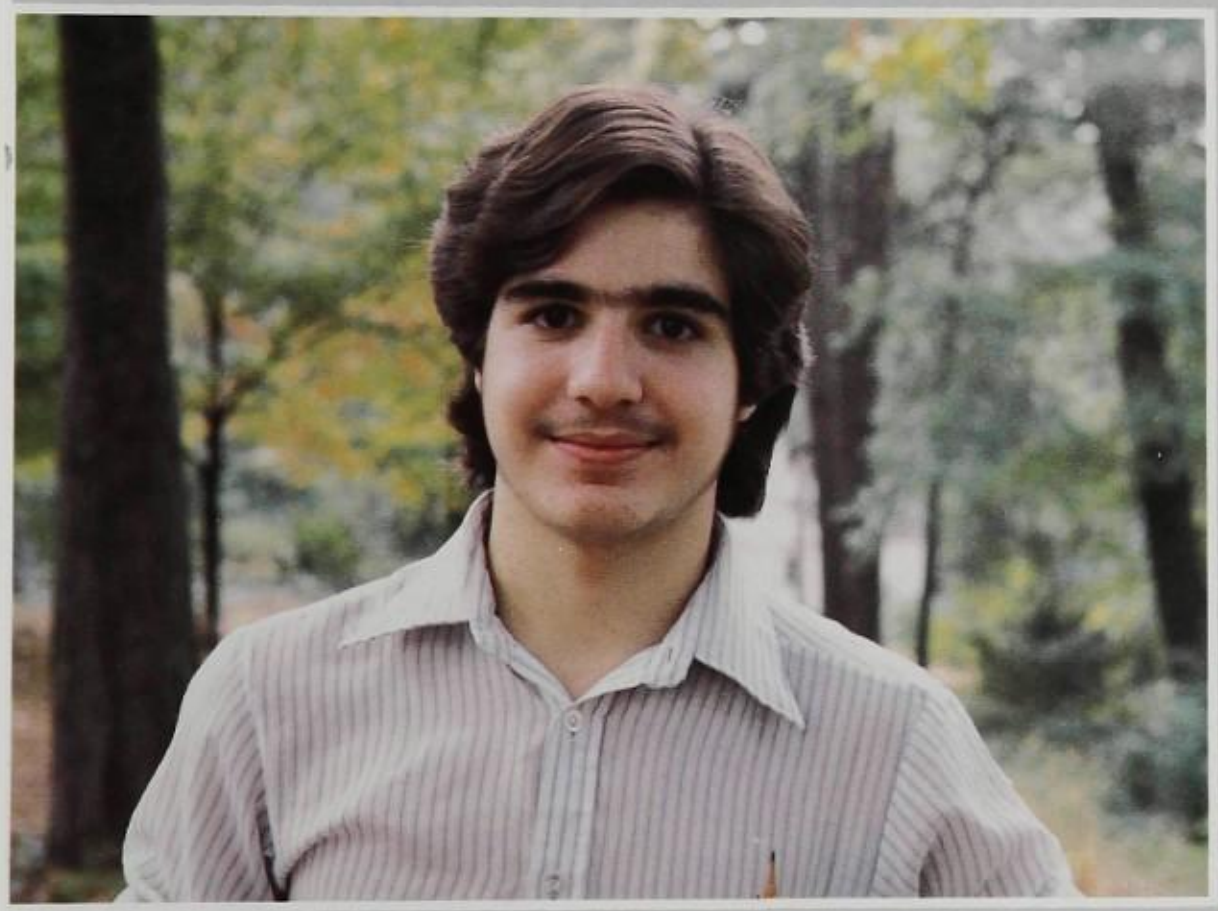
Jorge works at the terminal.

Monica smiles for the camera.



"How do you say 'cheese' in German?"





"Do people speak English in Bolivia?"

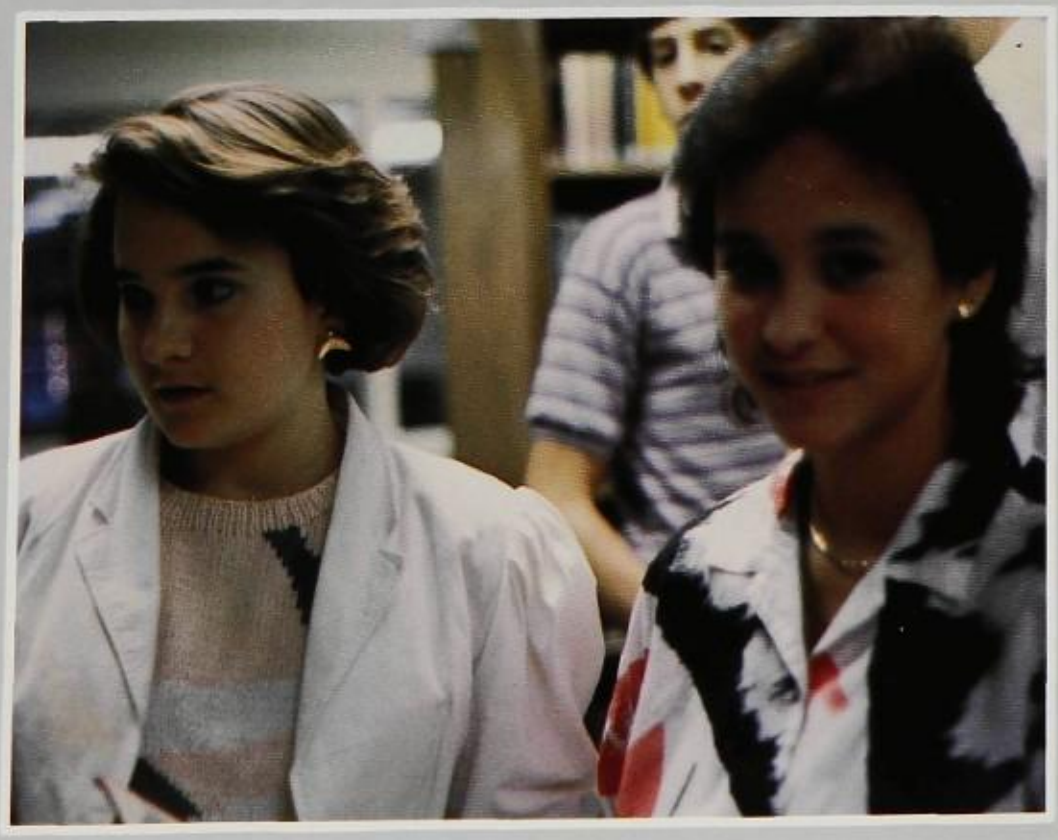
Jorge seems to be enjoying America.

Jorge looks back on his two years at CHS.

Still learning English, Fouzia is working hard to cross the language barrier.

Fouzia has made many friends; among them is fellow senior Patrick Ferguson.

Sophomore Kim Crocker and Senior Chris Body enjoy a summer afternoon in her backyard.
Freshman Patrice Luttrell sharpens her writing skills.
Computer students master the keyboard.
Senior Kimberly Marcus and Sophomore Leah Dennis wait for the bell to ring.
Sophomores Kim Rose and Angie Timms explore the library.
Students congregate outside during a fire alarm.



Seniors Ralph Leary and David Harris hose down a bug at the Jr. Civitan car wash.
During summer, many students board Captain Andersen's Treasure ship in Panama City.
Students support their school at the Columbus-Baker game.
Sophomores Traci McKnight, Sheree Hawkins, Stephanie Green, Storey Henry, Patti Wiggins, and Tara Simmons: The Bleacher Bunch.
Shawn Turpin hams it up with fellow sophomores Lindzee Jones, Heather Tibbit, and Deanna Ivey.

QBE QUALITY BASIC EDUCATION

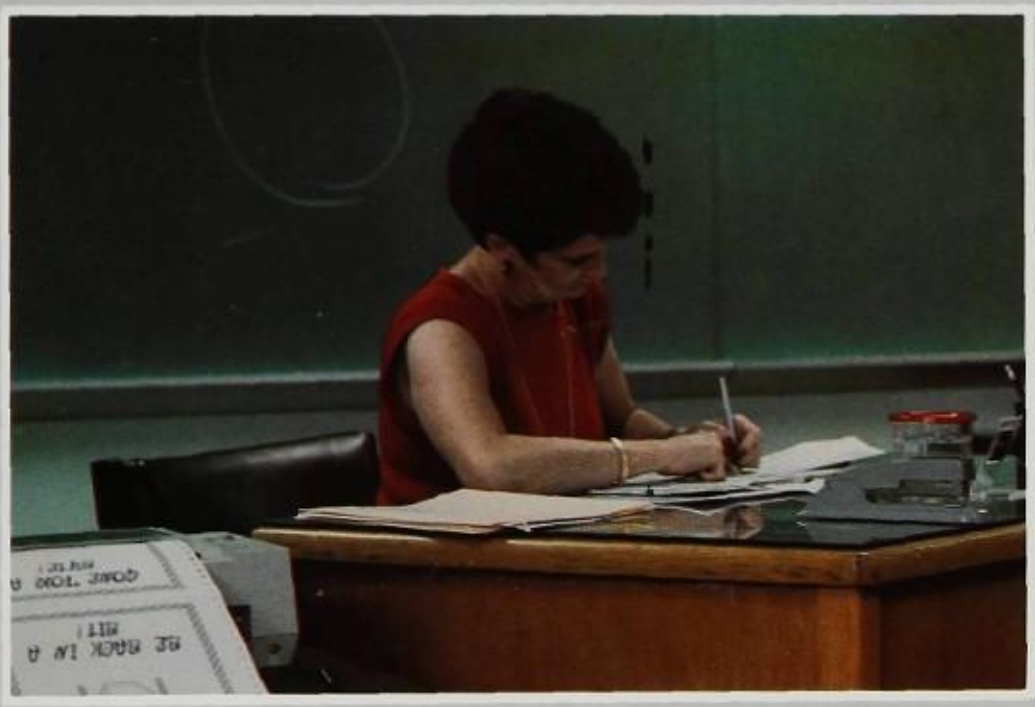
Quality Basic Education, a state plan for school funding, was effected during the 1985-86 school year.

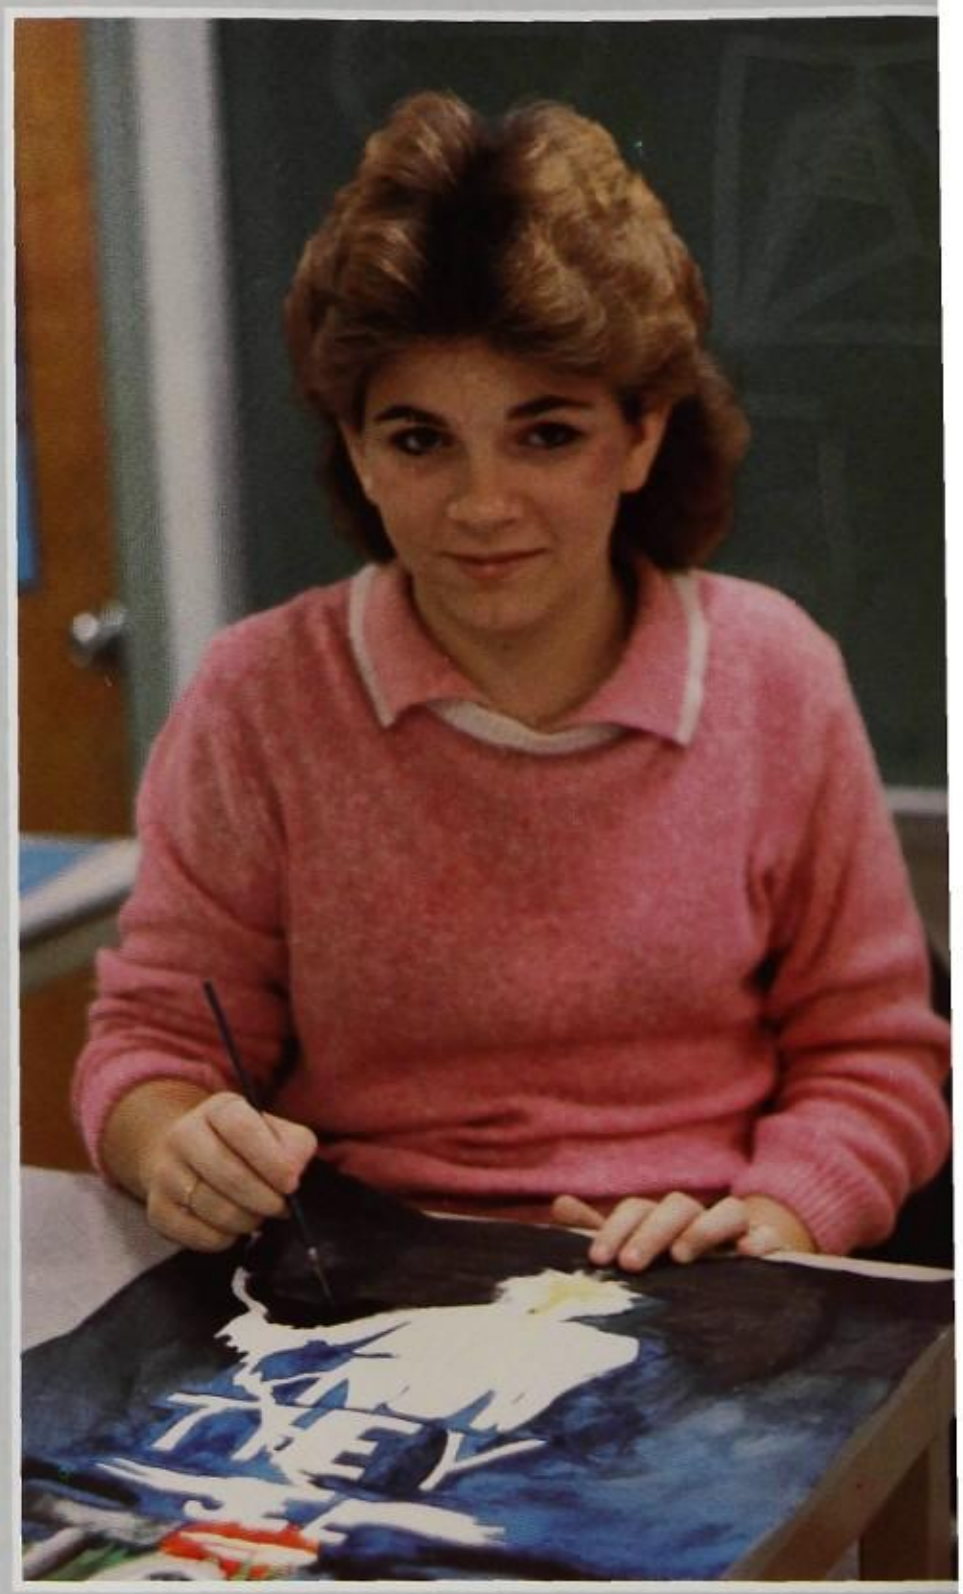
The basis of QBE's funding plans is having the student in six classes a day and in as many academic subjects as possible. The state has certain subjects which it will sponsor, and the Muscogee County School District will allow schools to offer only those selected state sponsored classes. The school receives a certain amount of money for each student that attends a state approved class each period. The extra money provided by QBE will be used for teachers' salaries and teaching materials.

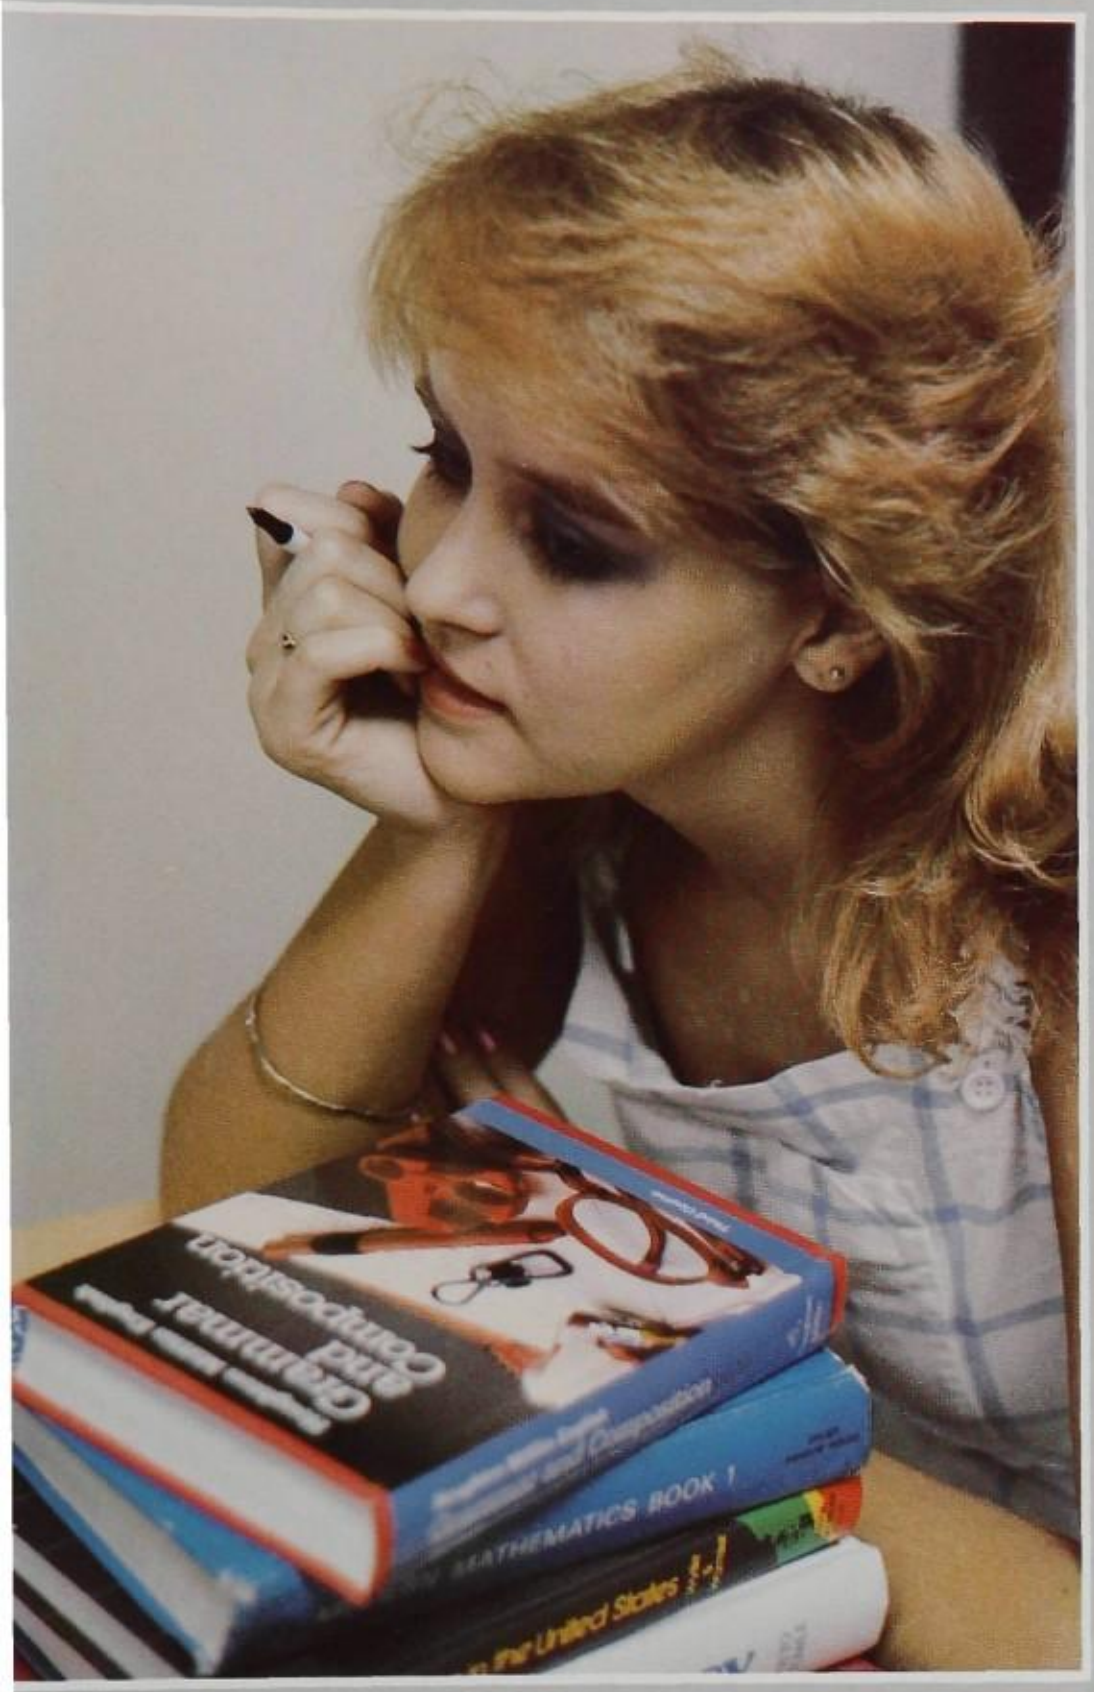
Quality Basic Education places special emphasis on the four major academic areas, which should be a high school student's number one priority — math, English, science, and social studies. The object is to get every student in six classes per day. The system encourages students to select academic courses when registering.

QBE states that the only classes to be offered during school are those which are state approved and funded. Because of this, the yearbook and newspaper staffs of area schools must meet after school hours. Driver's Education classes were terminated because of QBE. One full room of typewriters was removed from the campus.

QBE limits in-school activities, such as assemblies and pep rallies. Class time is valuable, so assemblies and pep rallies must be made worthwhile. Pep rallies must be organized and any assemblies must be for important matters.







"I feel that Georgia is making definite advances in the education of its youth because not only is QBE making requirements for graduation and certification more difficult, but the School District will feel that impact of more State funds for needed equipment like language labs for foreign language classes."

"QBE has caused me somewhat more paperwork. It has also placed students in pre-college courses who do not have the appropriate background or ability to do college prep work and therefore has slowed the overall progress of some classes. I think that the students are feeling the most pressure from QBE and choice of diplomas. Many who are trying for a college-prep diploma should realize their limitations and take courses that are not so far above their heads. They should realize that the knowledge they get is more important than a seal on a diploma."

Carrie Bryan, sophomore, is hard at work on an art assignment.

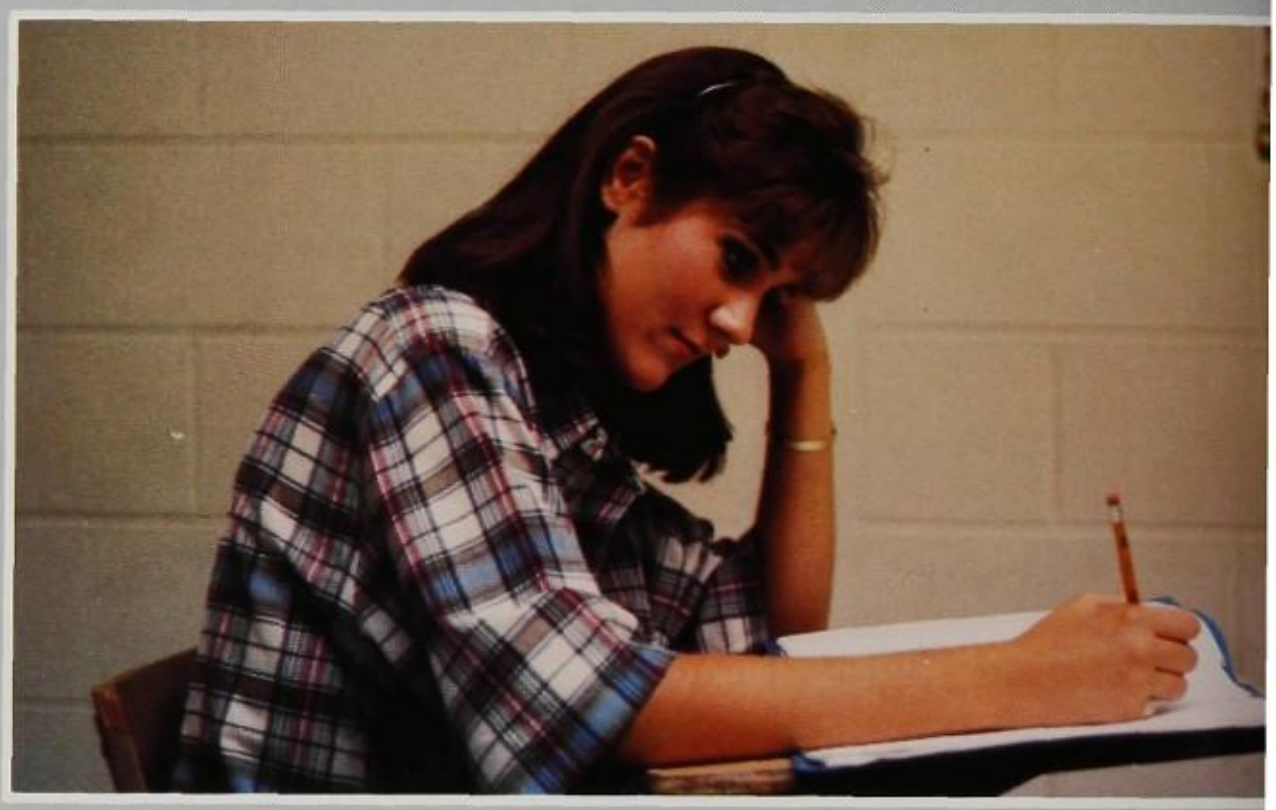
Miss Henry diligently completes her QBE paperwork.

Driver's Education and a few vocational courses are no longer available, because of QBE.

Freshman Missy Chaplin takes care of her academic courses.

Sophomore Veronica Lewis examines a slide under the microscope.

Mrs. Carter shows her enthusiasm for QBE.



Senior Jeff Corley escapes to the quiet of his truck as he waits on his riders.
Junior Leslie Steele's attention is momentarily diverted from the excitement of the pep rally.
Junior Laura Wilbanks shows the quality of the output of the QBE!
Freshman Kermelle Hensley projects a helpful attitude before the lights go out.
Sophomore Mary Moore shows how she spends her time after school.
Sophomores Kathy Wagner and Tanya Williams find the steps a perfect resting place after a hectic school day.
Seniors Stacy Ferguson, Sherry Altig, and Wendy Gardner give us a warm smile at the MDA telethon.
Senior Kohlen Moore, Junior Denise Watson, and Senior Jean Jones wait patiently at the MDA telethon for their charity calls.
Senior Bridgette Jones isn't shy about showing her CHS spirit.

FOREIGN AFFAIRS

CHS "Diplomats" Travel To Europe And Mexico

During Spring break '85 some Columbus High students traveled to Europe and Mexico. After signing permission slips, packing, and exchanging currency, the excited groups each set off for their excursions to foreign countries. Tired from being in the air for hours and crossing the time zones, each landed safely. The long flight was an experience for those who had never flown before.

Dropping off their bags, they set off to see the sights. The agenda for the Mexico trip included Mexico City and Acapulco. The Europe trip included Paris and London. The trips were so popular that they decided to go again this year.

Senior Holly Bramblett makes a new friend in London.

The group awaits the next English speaking tour.

Seniors Holly Bramblett and Ray Davis take time out to talk to the "punks" on Kings Road in London.

Elizabeth Crawford and Senior Ray Davis find the Spring weather colder in London than in Columbus.

Senior Ram Taylor looks over the vast city of Paris.

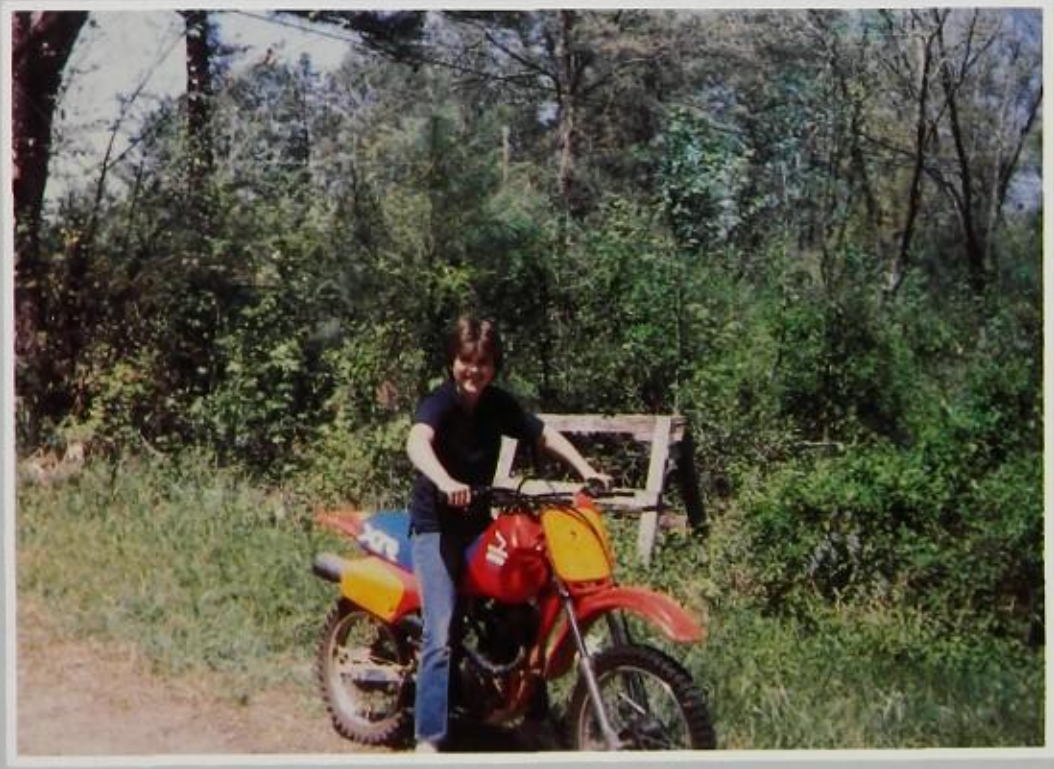
Seniors Heather Hitchcock, Kym Shuttleworth, Lisa Smith, and Sophomore Jennifer Shuttleworth escape the heat in a park in Acapulco.

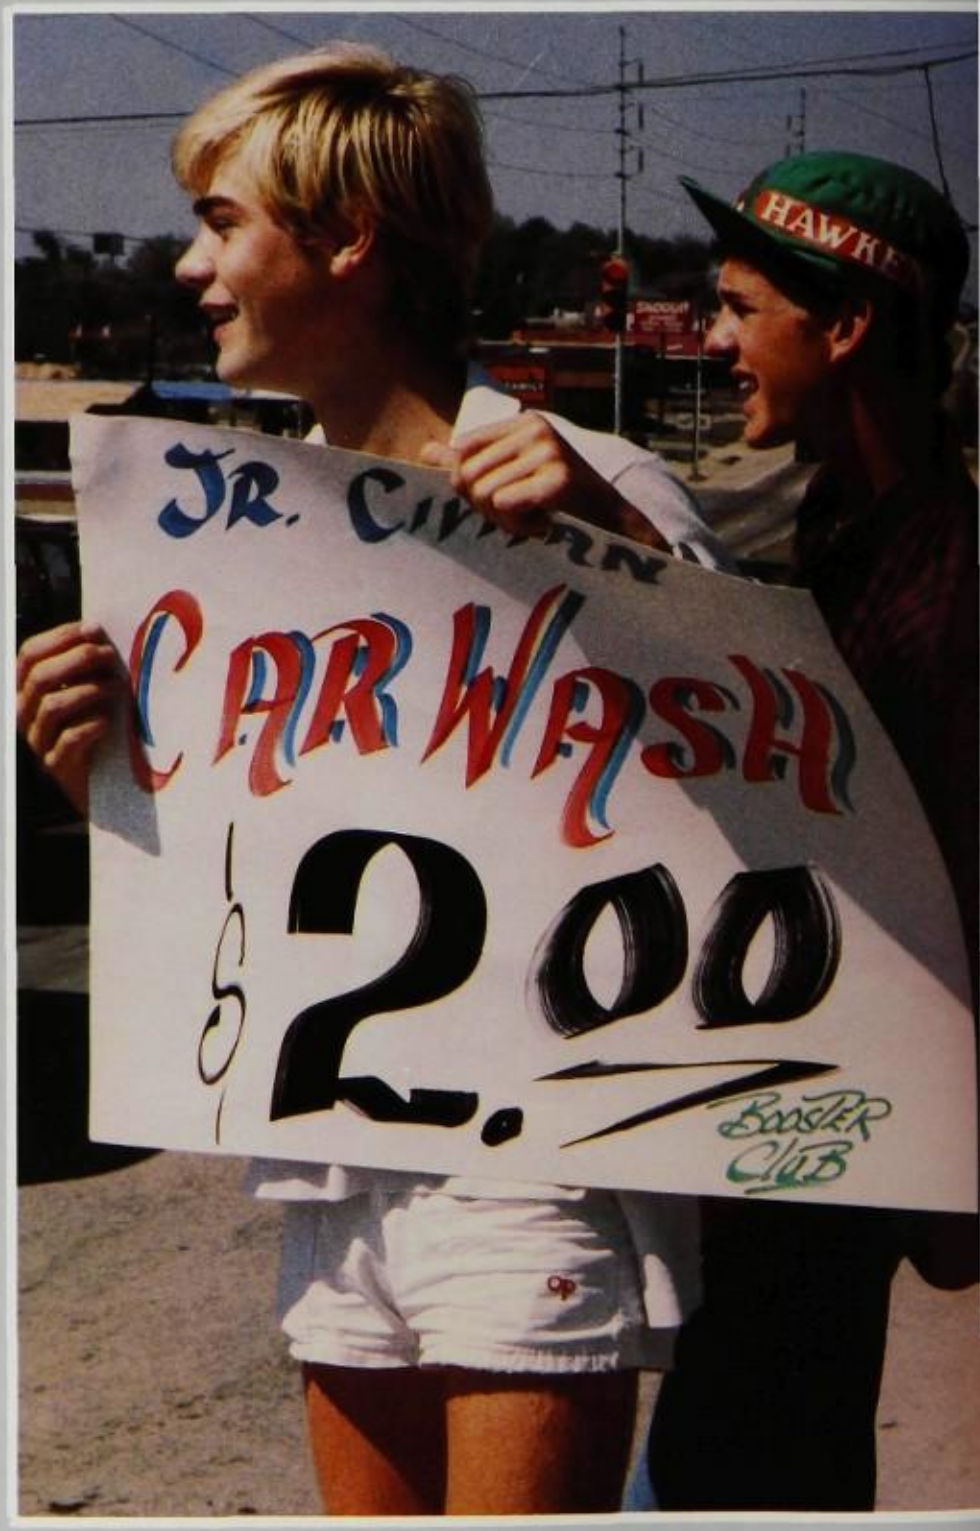
Their busy schedules still left them time to relax.

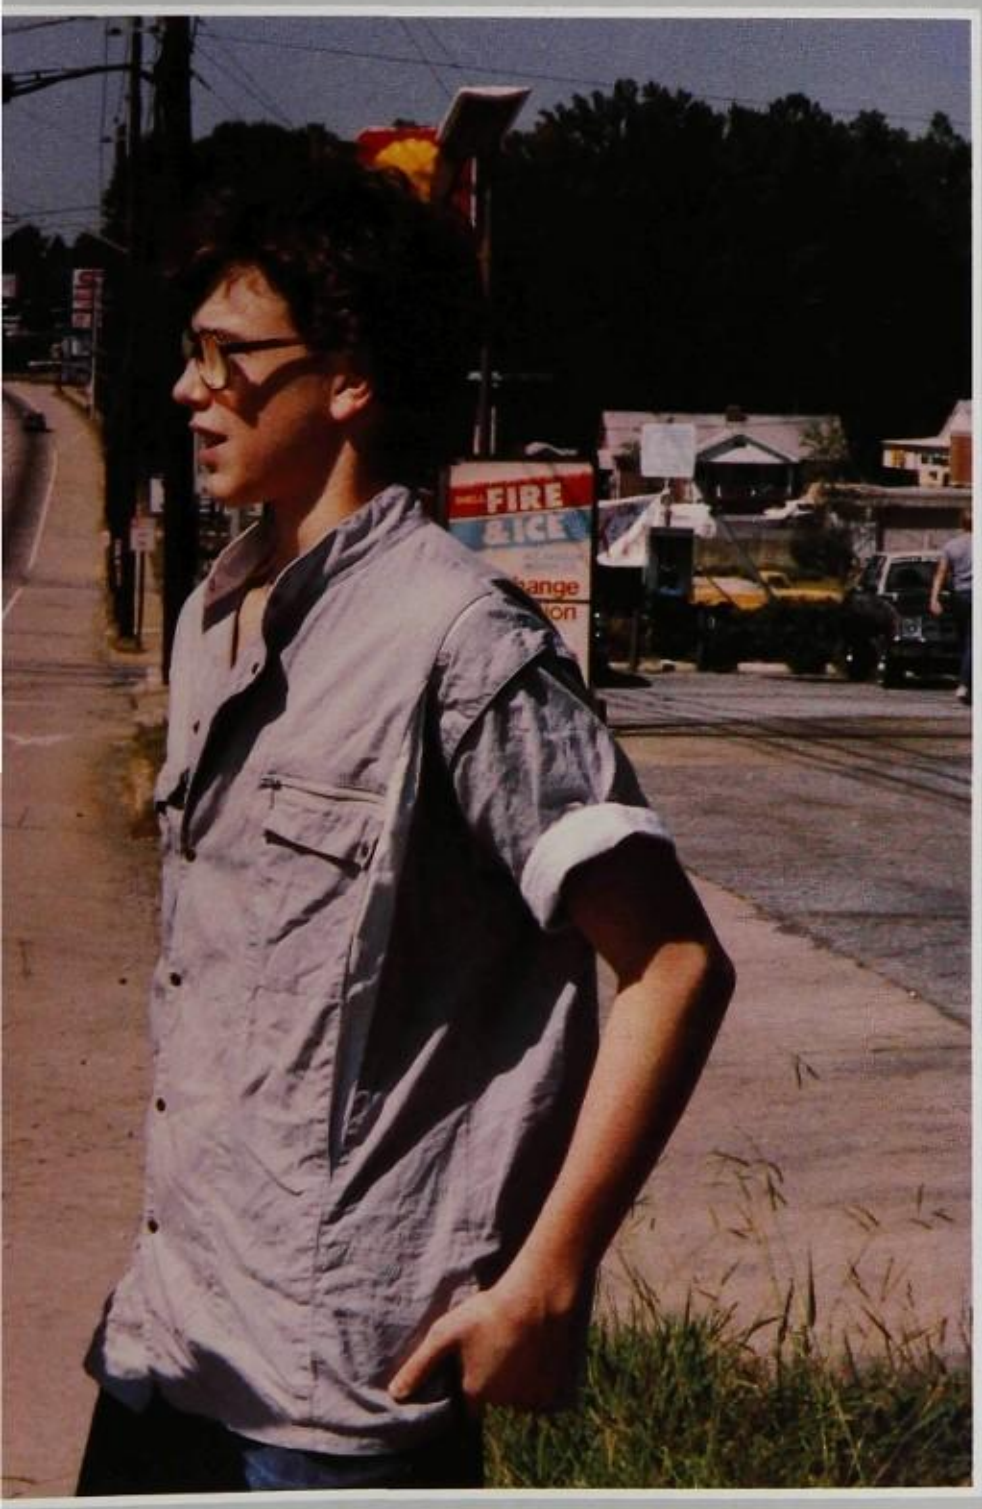
The group gathers in the hotel lobby before leaving for a musical presentation.

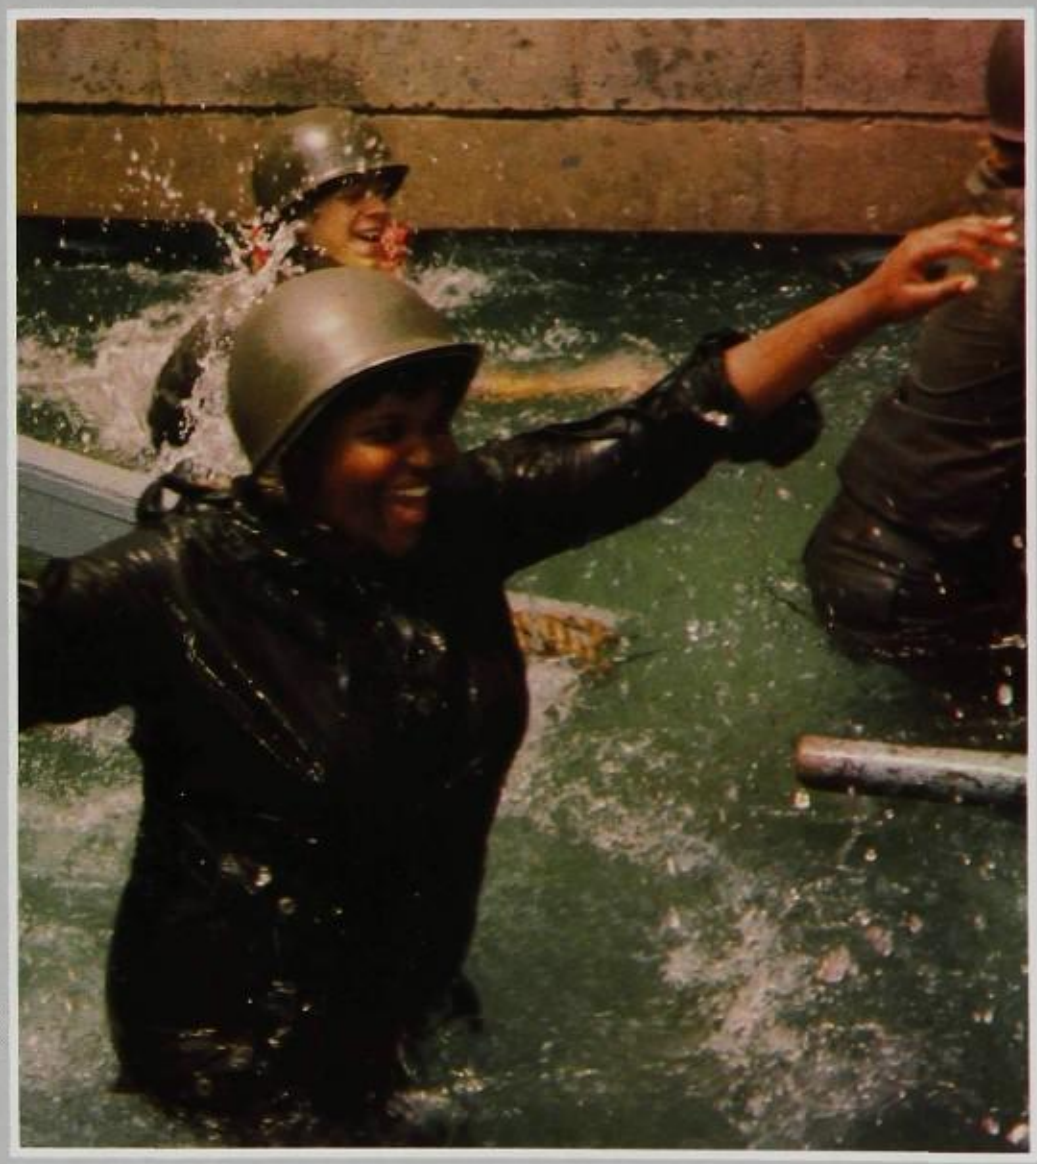
Kim Clayton and seniors Heather Hitchcock, Lisa Smith, Kym Shuttleworth, and Sophomore Jennifer Shuttleworth wait for the group outside of the museum.

Will Roberts, Freshman, enjoys riding motorcycles during his spare time.
Looks of bewilderment come from Senior Benjamin Watson on how to start a tractor.
Senior class president, Kohlen Moore, takes time out for a slide.
Juniors Patrick Poole, Nelson Tomlinson, and Sophomore Tyler Talbot are on the lookout for dirty cars.
Senior Stan Sanders is lucky to have an after school job.









Freshman Brad Neel is this year's winner of the "Hubba Bubba" bubble blowing contest.

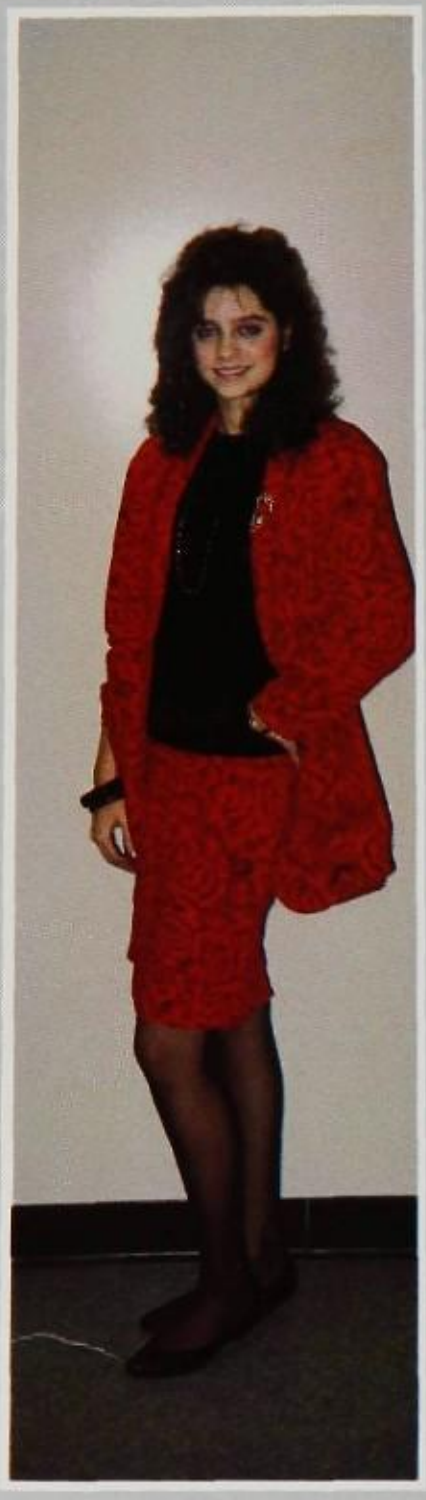
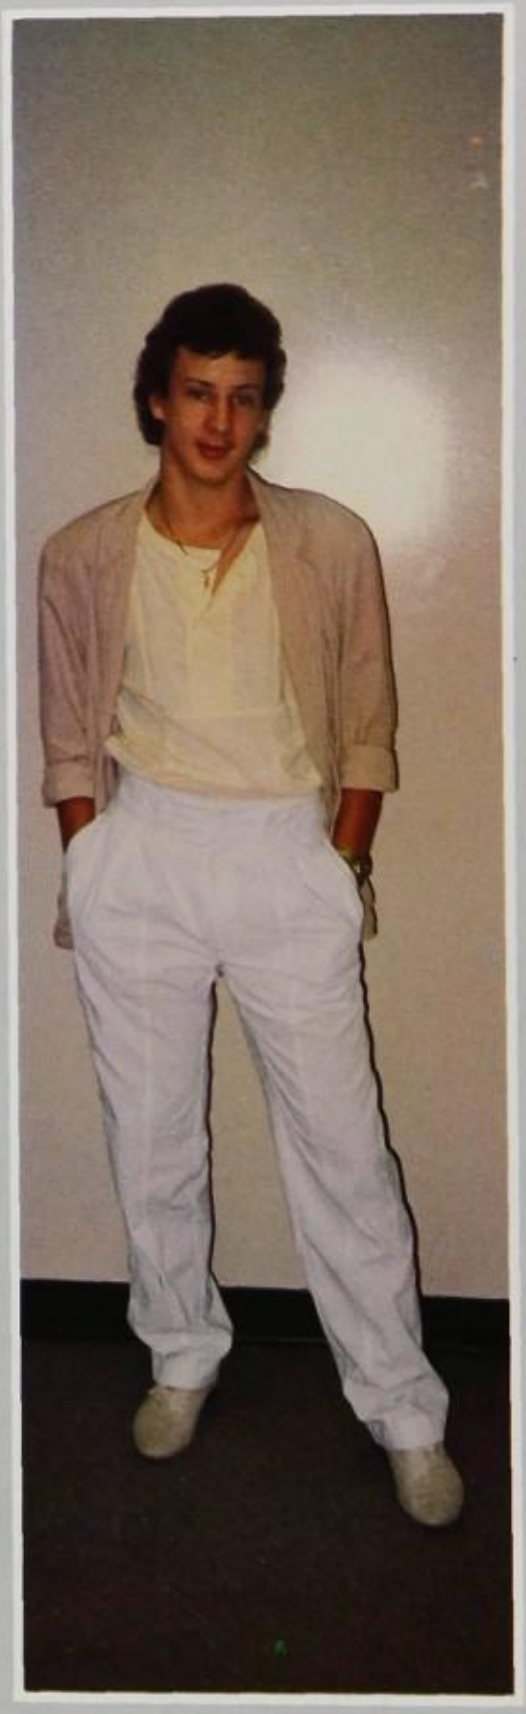
PUTTIN' ON THE RITZ

This year fashion broke all rules. You could do now what you had never thought of before. You could go crazy for paisley or mix bright, bold plaids. You could break the monotony of solids by adding a tapestry tie or a polka dot scarf, and textured hose were a must. You could either go sleek with spike heels or funky with a pair of bright high-top sneakers.

Layers were a hit again for fall. It was considered stylish to wear shirttails out, under bright shaker knit sweaters worn with snug-fitting jeans, two pairs of brightly colored socks, and coordinating Reebok high-tops.

The hot new show Miami Vice set the fashion standards for guys. The blazer, once only worn on formal occasions, took on a new casual look. In any season, white pants were a necessity. Around the school, the most common sights were distressed jeans with Polo shirts.





The look of antique jewelry. These rings and bracelets courtesy of Gayfer's Jewelry department.

Red jackets, jats, and plaid scarves are a big hit for winter. This display courtesy of Parisian.

Black and yellow are good colors to mix this year. Sophomore Kim Porter's favorite place to shop is Rich's in Atlanta. Sophomore Sandra Barton says, "No more commuting since Mansour's is in town."

Pastels are always good for winter. This display the pink hat and coordinated scarf courtesy of Parisian.

Senior Tonya Williamson dons the tapestry look and combines it with the popular pencil slim skirt. Her favorite places to shop are Rain, in Atlanta, Brooks, and Ups & Downs.

Coca-Cola now has their own line of clothes! These good-looking pastels can be mixed and matched to suit your needs. This display courtesy of Parisian.

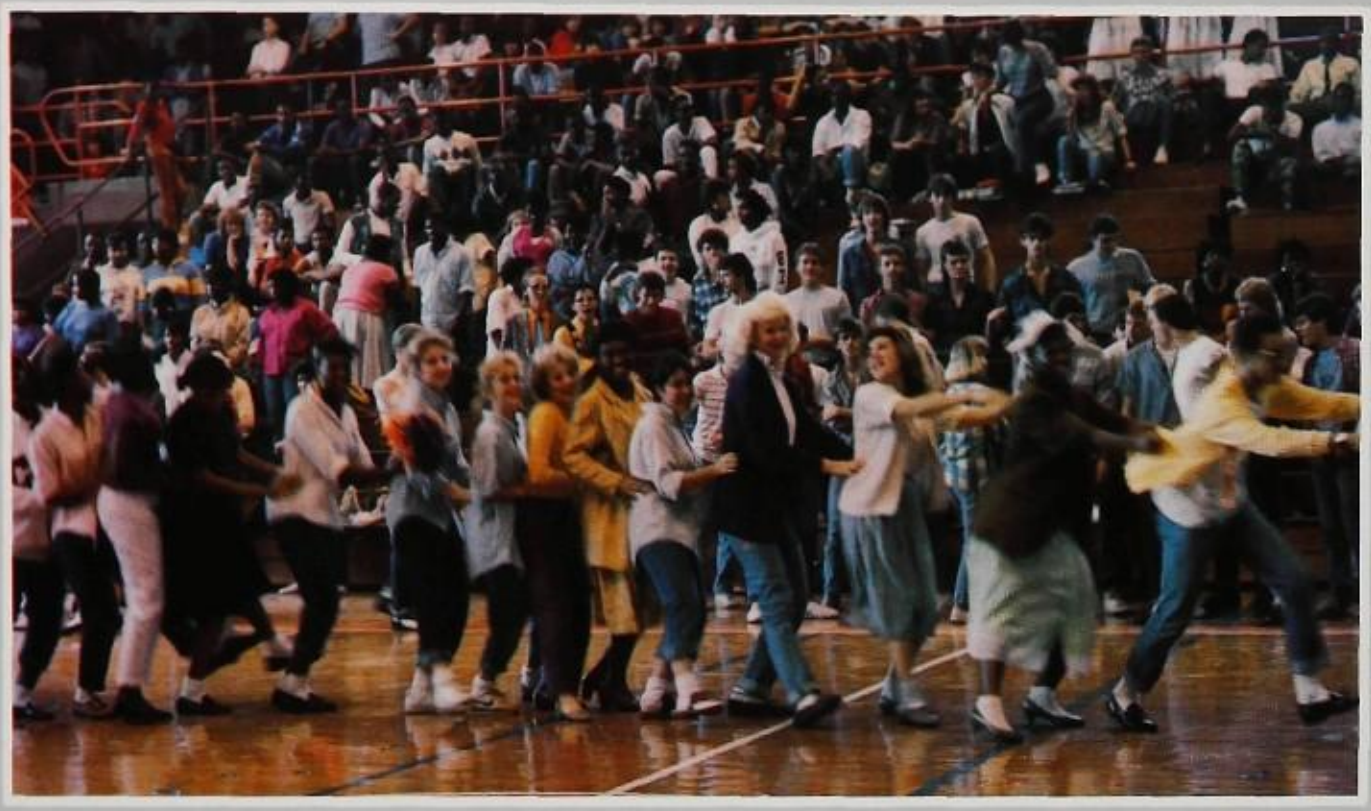
The look of Gucci without the price. This display courtesy of Gayfers.

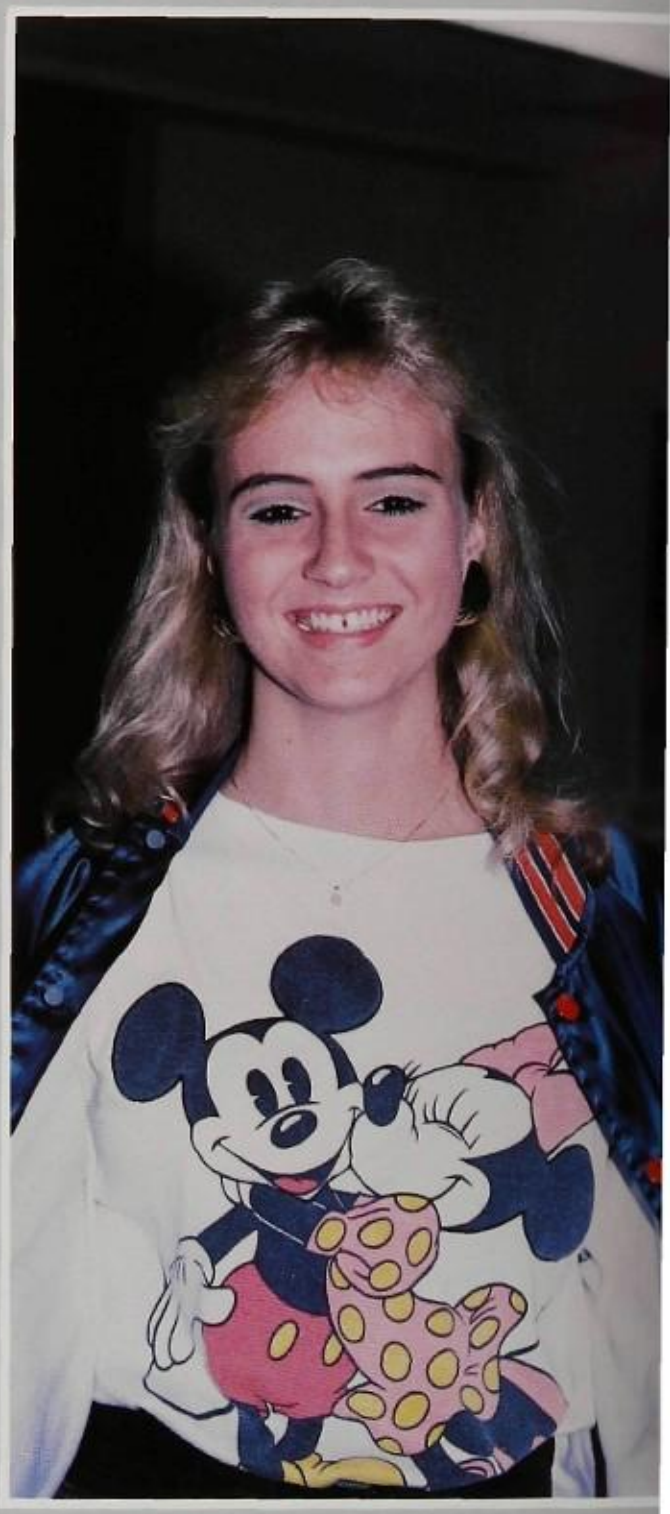
Senior Bobby Knox, "Miami Bobby", shows us the look in guys' fashion.

These shoes are comfortable, flat, smart-looking, and go with anything, from a skirt to an old pair of blue jeans. This display courtesy of The Naturalizer.

Reebok's popularity has spread from the athletic world to the fashion world. This display courtesy of The Athlete's Foot.

Junior Shannon Hagan shows the striking effect of coordinating the total outfit. Shannon exclaims, "Now that Parisian is open, I have a favorite place to shop."





These students really have the spirit for the Jordan game!

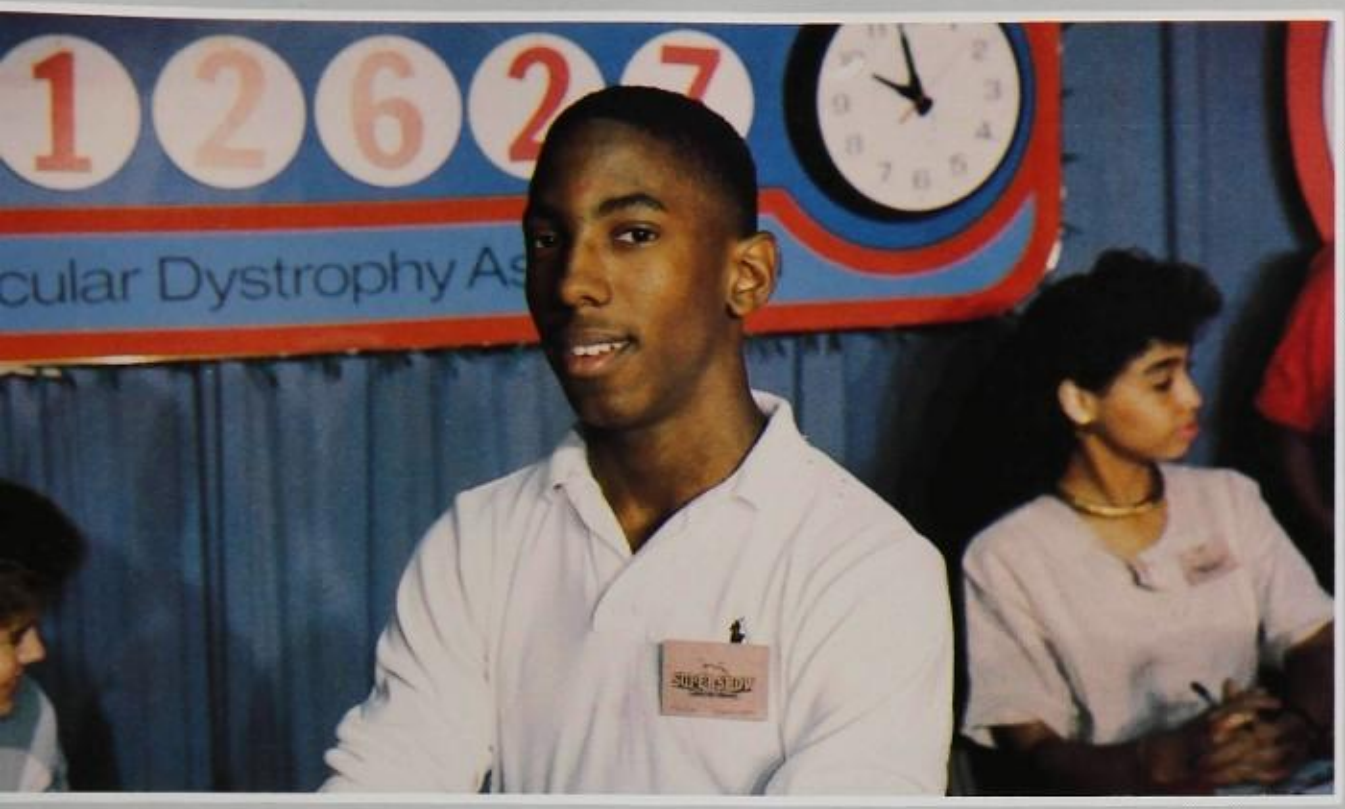
Juniors Vickie Grimes and Angela Justice will look happier after the game when they celebrate Angela's birthday.



Junior Carlos Alexander is pleased with the climbing figures on the MDA money board.

Sophomore Storey Henry masters the FOR NEXT routine in Intro to Computers.

Junior Tex Stover seriously begins his traditional pre-game shave.

Wes Bain, sophomore, looks through the computer manual to learn how to use the GO SUB routine.

Senior Kebo Allen and junior Kim Herring don't take car washing too seriously.

NEWS AROUND THE WORLD — AROUND THE CORNER

South Africa's policy of Apartheid sparked controversy nationwide.

73 years after the Titanic sunk, scientists located the perfectly preserved luxury liner.

Mikhail Gorbachev was the first Soviet leader to create a positive image in the western world.

President Reagan showed his optimistic attitude with his "thumbs up" gesture.

The restoration of the Statue of Liberty showed the pride we have in America.

With Reagan's star wars initiative an issue this year, space technology became more important.

The problem with AIDS in schools concerned many worried parents.

The earthquake in Mexico left many homeless and without families.

The latest model of the Jarvik-7 artificial heart gave hope to many.

This year, there were more reported plane crashes than ever before.

Mayor Feighner greeted Vice President George Bush and his wife as they arrived for the $500-a-dish Republican fund-raising luncheon at the Hilton.

Tim Simpson and his wife sported winning smiles while displaying the trophy and check awarded to the Southern Open victor.

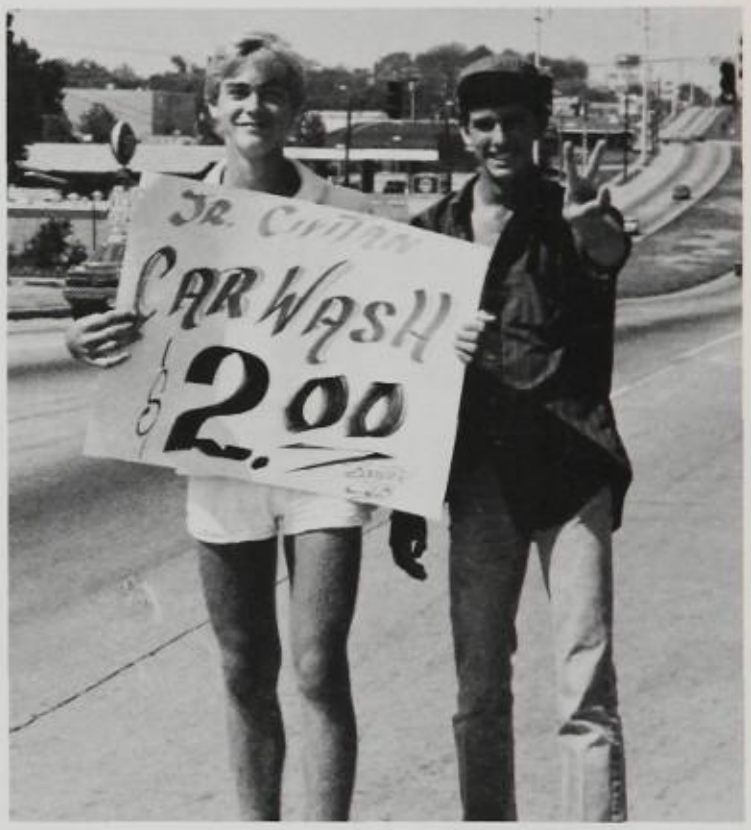
Cameras rolled in the downtown area during filming of the made for TV movie A Time to Triumph starring Patty Duke.

Shoppers enjoyed an updated mall with its food mart, variety of boutiques, and of course, Parisian.

Callaway Gardens hosted Columbus' First Annual Steeplechase last November. At $90,000, it had the second largest purse in the state and drew top jockeys and horses from all over the world.

We Outshine Them All In...

Yo,
Hey dude! Sup? Not a whole lot here. I've really enjoyed tripping out with you in C.P.C. I'm really sorry about what happened. We were such good friends ~~and~~ the beginning of the year and we totally screwed everything up. I wish we could still be friends. I think you are a really sweet person and I really like you a lot. I want us to be friends. What happened, was in the past and I want to be friends again. At least we could try. Call me sometime and we could go get rooted (as friends).



Juniors Patrick Poole and Nelson Tomlinson show the spirit that made Jr. Civitan fundraisers so successful.

During biannual inspection JROTC received the ranking of Honor Unit with Distinction, the highest honor possible, for the first time since 1971.

MR. AND MISS CHS

RALPH

THOMAS

Ralph Leary and Terrie Thomas were elected Mr. and Miss CHS because of their dedication to our school. Both are active in and around Columbus High.

A TOUCH OF THE CLASS

CHRIS BOYD FRANK THOMAS RALPH LEARY MARC HINSON

WENDY GARDNER TERRIE THOMAS JODONNA GLENN KIM PIERCE GRETCHEN McCOSH

Chris' future plans include attending Columbus College and getting his degree in Business Administration. Frank has committed to play football with Auburn University. Ralph plans to split his college years by attending both Columbus College and then moving on in his search of a Business degree. Hoping for a job in social work, Wendy also plans on attending Columbus College. Terrie is interested in being a buyer of a clothing store and plans to get her background for this by attending Columbus College for a year or two. Jodonna is faced with a decision between engineering or medicine and plans on working for a co-op program at the college she attends. Kim wants to stay in Columbus around her family and will major in physical therapy in college. Gretchen will be at the University of Georgia next year.

GRETCHEN McCOSH AND MARC HINSON

"When told she had been chosen as a Senior Attractive Gretchen replied, 'I was very happy and flattered. I couldn't believe that I had been chosen. It was one of the happiest moments in my life."

TERRIE THOMAS AND DAVID HARRIS

Terrie exclaimed, "I was very excited about getting Senior Attractive!", while David commented "being a Senior Attractive had not crossed my mind, and I was surprised when I was told that I had been chosen."

VICKIE LOCKETT AND TOBIN KING

Vickie's reaction was "I feel that it is a great honor to be a part of CHS, and that it's a great honor to know my peers think enough of me to vote me as one of the Senior Attractives."

RALPH LEARY AND KIM PIERCE

Ralph stated, "It really made me feel good to be honored as a Senior Attractive," and Kim remarked, "It is an award that I can look back on in later years . . . and be proud to have been a part of the best high school ever, Columbus High."

CHRIS BOYD AND WENDY GARDNER

Chris said, "I feel it is a great honor and a privilege to be elected Senior Attractive," and Wendy expressed her feelings by saying, "Friends are very special, and I feel I have some very special friends."

JODONNA GLENN AND FRANK THOMAS

Jodonna feels that "being chosen, nominated, or elected for any title at Columbus High School is an honor which makes me want to strive even harder for other titles."

MIX 'N MATCH

Pair the Senior Attractive with their favorite things.

HOMECOMING The Crowning Event

To be selected for Homecoming Court is a great honor. Many requirements must be met to be chosen as Homecoming queen. Besides being attractive, she must be intelligent, responsible, friendly, and involved in extracurricular activities. This year's queen was Victoria Lockett, an eighteen year old senior. The runnerup was Terrie Thomas, a seventeen year old senior.

The Homecoming Court went through a lot of preparation before the actual crowning. They chose their suits and their escorts. Then they practiced the procession several times. Finally, after the excitement had built to a maximum, the big night arrived. Congratulations!

Victoria feels not only excited and happy, but also satisfied as she is being crowned by last year's winner, Kathy Pierce.

Kim, Kathy, and Jodonna wish the excitement would go on forever.

Terrie and Victoria agree that the most fun part of winning is sharing the news with friends and family.

Mrs. Alford's house provided the perfect background for the Homecoming Court.

Victoria catches a glimpse of her own Homecoming tiara.

Kathy Armstrong escorted by her father, Holly Bramblett escorted by her father, Tami Brown escorted by Danny Teal, Amy Gannaway escorted by her father, Wendy Gardner escorted by her father, Jodonna Glenn escorted by her father, Vicki Lockett escorted by Derrick Heard, Gretchen McCosh escorted by her father, Melanie Osment escorted by her father, Kim Pierce escorted by her father, Terrie Thomas, escorted by her father, Kyra Wynn escorted by Kohlen Moore.

3 HEADS ARE BETTER THAN 1

Head to Head is a club for a select group of students. A panel of three students competes in a meet against other schools. The questions are called out and any member from the team may try and answer them. Also, each panel member has a special area of knowledge they are best in. Students participating in Head to Head had to be able to work well under pressure and be willing to practice for the meets. Columbus High School was very proud to have this group of students representing us not only in front of other schools but also on televison.

Ethelyn Coleman, one of the sponsors of Head to Head, enjoys helping students prepare for upcoming competitions.

Freshman Consuela Crowell, Sophomore Patti Wiggins, and Juniors Melvin Anderson and Christian Ford take time out to compare answers at a Head to Head meeting.

Sophomore Susan Summerall and Freshman John Lloyd understand that being a member of Head to Head takes a lot of work.

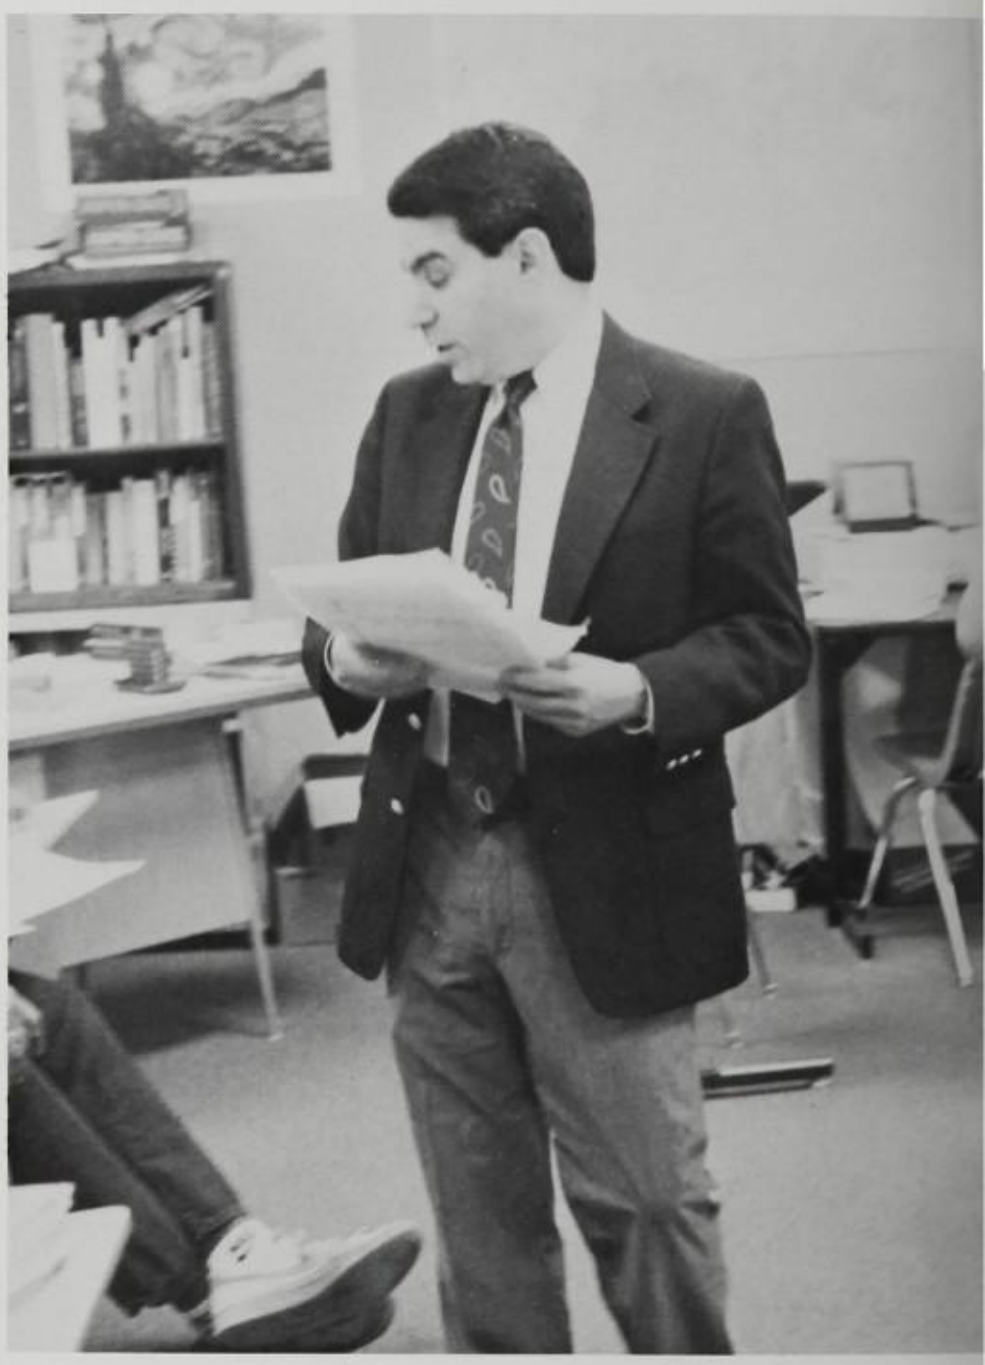
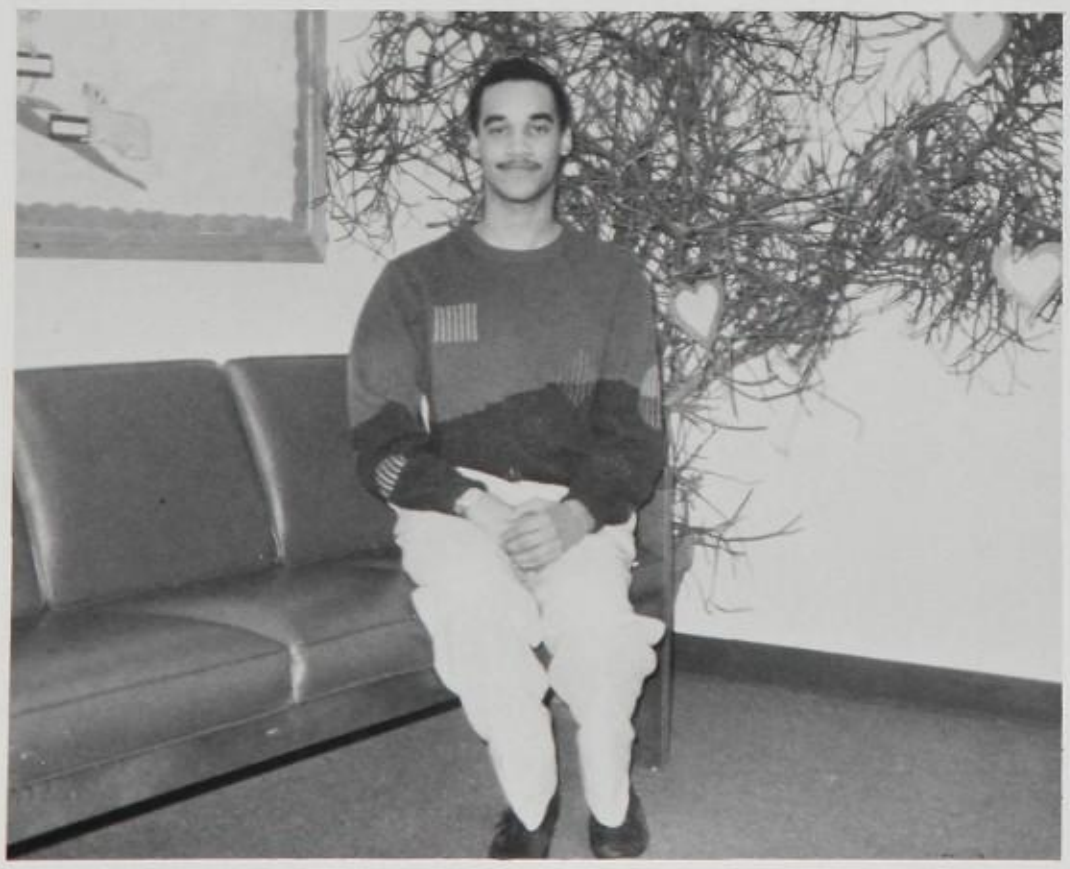
WHAT IT MEANS . . .

The STAR Student Award started twenty-eight years ago. This award is given to the senior with the highest SAT score. Ben Burdette was this year's STAR student winner. He, in turn, was asked to choose the teacher he felt had made the most contribution to his education. Mr. Jack Schiffman, English and Humanities teacher, was Ben's STAR teacher. These two were honored in an assembly in February at which two members of the Chamber of Commerce presented them with their awards.

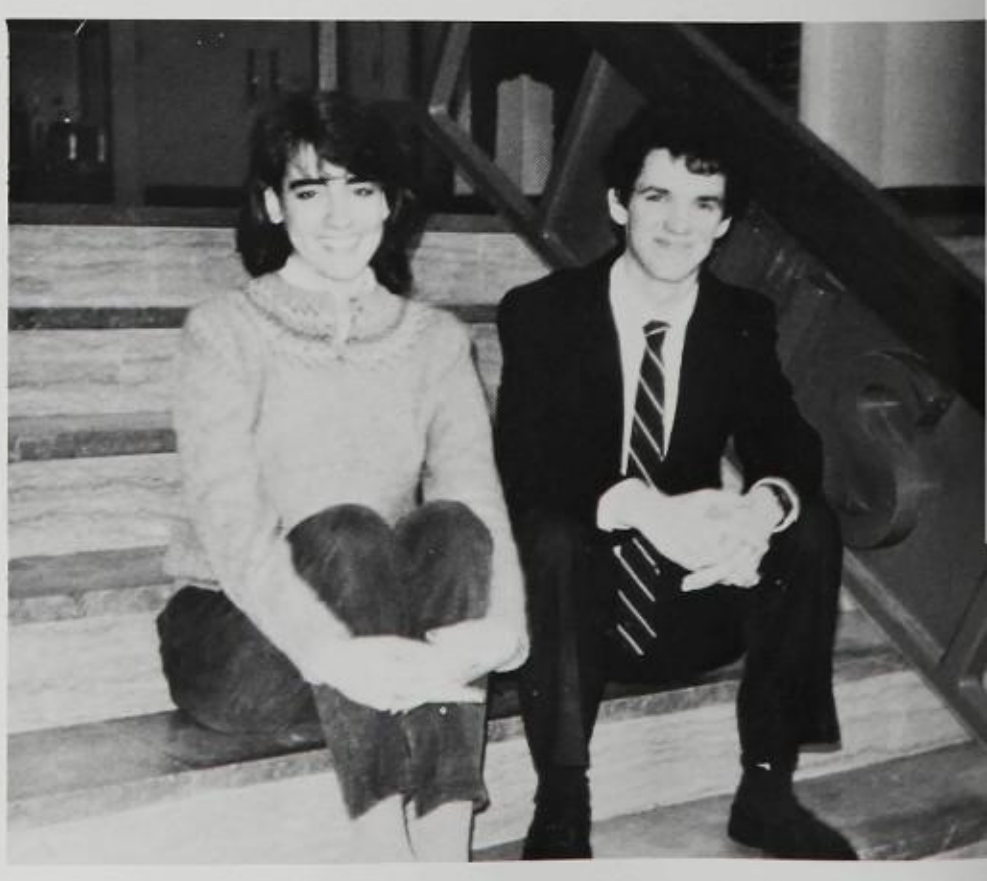
"Ben is not a traditional learner. He doesn't always agree with what I say in class ... he does not really expect any public recognition." — Jack Shiffman

"I chose Mr. Schiffman because he has a genuine interest in what he teaches, and because he is enthusiastic about helping his students." — Ben Burdette





Senior Kohlen Moore was this year's recipient of the National Achievement Award, which was based on his PSAT and SAT scores.



Seniors Ben Burdette and Laurie Atkins were recognized by the Rotary Club for having the highest SAT scores in the school.

TO BE A WINNER

The Nominees for Page One competed with students from other schools in Columbus for the award. They are: Art — Karen Smith, Music — Heather Hitchcock, Foreign Language — Glenda Shehane, English and Literature — Laurie Atkins, General Scholarship — Kohlen Moore, Drama — Bobby Hyscher. Not pictured: Athletics — Karen Hill, Citizenship — Jodonna Glenn, Mathematics — David Harris, and Science — Shannon Greyer. The Page One teacher nominee was Mrs. Barrow.

The Hugh O-Brian Award, presented to a tenth grader each year, and judged by leadership ability, sensitivity to others, and a desire to learn, was awarded to Amy Asbell.

Seniors Jon Craft and Laurie Atkins were selected as National Merit finalists based on their PSAT and SAT scores.

The DAR Citizenship Award, which is based on a student's history background and school activities, was given to senior Jodonna Glenn.

Members of Quill and Scroll were students who have excelled in the area of journalism sometime in high school. They were nominated by the advisor of one of the school publications. They were: Tracy Kennedy, Laura Moss, Kyra Wynn, Stacy McKemie, and Laurie Atkins.

KEEPING HIGH STANDARDS

These seniors were selected for the National Honor Society for their leadership, service, and academic abilities. They must have maintained an overall 3.8 average their junior and senior years. Congratulations to these outstanding seniors!

LA CRÈME DE LA CRÈME

The French Club has built a reputation on its efforts to keep the freshman courtyard looking sharp. Loaded with shovels, rakes, brooms, mops, and several other clean-up tools, the French Club stayed after school to work on improving the atmosphere of CHS. They planted daffodils and crocuses, pulled weeds, and cleaned out the fountain. Working on the freshman courtyard wasn't the only activity of the French Club. They joined together with the members of the Spanish Club for what is called an Interlingual Mingle. Each club brought different Spanish and French foods for tasting. This event was one that showed that the French Club not only worked hard, but it took time out for play also.

On food day, French Club President, Amy Asbell, is tempted by the large variety of French foods.

Sophomore Janie Brinkley looks really tired after working hard on the courtyard.

Although gardening is not sophomore Kim Crocker's favorite pasttime, she will be pleased with the results.

ESPAÑOL ES ESPECIAL

The Spanish Club is available for students taking Spanish who desire to be further involved in the Spanish culture. They participated in many activities throughout the school year such as the Thanksgiving dinner they supplied a needy family. At Christmas, some of the members brought toys and canned goods which were given to families that needed help with Christmas. Several times during the year the club got together for parties or went out to eat at El Matadors, a Mexican restaurant.

EASIER SAID THAN DONE

This was a crucial year for the COHISCAN staff, since it was the first year we met after school. The one thing a staff needs most is time, and faced with a curtailed working schedule, a new approach had to be taken. Communication was vital, and we found ourselves planning weeks ahead, writing a lot of memos, and giving much of our own time. However, the basics of putting together the yearbook remained the same. Staffers were asked to sell ads, write copy, draw layouts, and set up pictures.

A number of unexpected mishaps occurred; some small and easy to fix, others catastrophic! Forgetting to put film in the camera, trying to cover spring sports in the middle of winter, and rescheduling the photo sessions four times because it rained all week, were minor problems compared to what can happen when you lose track of time working late after school. But we're sure the two staff members who found themselves explaining to the ecurity guard, the principal, and the police what they were doing in the school at midnight can now look back and laugh.

The primary responsibilities of photography, layouts, and finances were given each to Carlos Alexander, Kym Shuttleworth, and Lisa Thompson Advisor Mrs. Vicki Urquhart never loses her positive attitude even while faced with stacks of paperwork.

IN THE EXECUTIVE CHAIR

Future Business Leaders of America will soon be sitting in the executive chair. In FBLA, students learned about what makes a successful business. They also were encouraged to go into business for themselves. FBLA gave teens a chance to have a sneak preview of what they will have to face in their own lives. Above all else, the purpose of FBLA was to promote leadership and increase communications between students and the business community.

IN CHARGE

The Columbus High Student Council served as the governing body for all four classes. Each class was well represented in the Student Council. They met for homeroom every morning and decided and planned activities for the entire student body.

Along with Dr. Shehane and advisor, Miss Patricia Lewis, the Student Council helped formulate a dress code, planned activities for spirit week, sponsored dances, and worked to improve school spirit and better student/advisor relations.

Miss Lewis always greets her classes with a smile.

Senators: Claire Dennis, Jocelyn DeRamus, Kim Pierce, Jeff Wolford, Ken Broda, Carol Burditt, Christian Ford, Mimi Merriman, Laura Wilbanks, Christy Atkins, Michelle Hill, Robert Ito, Boris Jordan, Katrina Morten, Henry Cook, Aimee Homer, Natalie Hopper, Billy Blanchard, Kshunda Williams.

POINT OF ORDER!

FAUN is an acronymn for Future Ambassadors to the United Nations. Members of FAUN concentrated this year on learning all they could about the countries each represented. These students spent months preparing and researching materials to ultimately meet at the annual Model United Nations. Held at Columbus College, this event was the culmination of all their efforts.

PROGRAMMING

The Choice Of A New Generation

The Data Processing Club provided the opportunity for students to have exposure to and communications with computer centers in the community. Much of the time in meetings was spent in preparing for local, state, and national competitive events. Students also tutored for computer courses those students who were having difficulty.

Kelli Walton helps Sharon Williams debug her filing program.

AN ANSWER FOR EVERYTHING

The Math team, sponsored by Mrs. Stinson and Miss Culpepper took on the challenge of competing in a statewide tournament. The preparation consisted of participating in national math tests, entering minor tournaments, and working on devising and solving difficult problems.

Doing six weeks and semester averages comes easily for Miss Culpepper, the head of the Math Department.

Freshman Nick Johnson and Junior Jay Wilson don't mind staying after school every Thursday when there are problems to be solved.

CREDIT FOR THE EXPERIENCE

FACE was a class for students who were interested in careers related to the arts (visual art, music, writing, theater and media). There are literally hundreds of art-related careers. Students in FACE studied career education in the arts, art critcism and art appreciation. The class meets everyday, and two days out of the week students left campus to go to community learning sites. At the learning sites students acquired skills related to the art career they had selected. They studied with the professionals and gained first hand experience. Mrs. Mordic acted as advisor, critic, and supporter.

FACE: Jill Craig, Cynthia Daughtry, Lesa Duke, David Ferguson, Patrick Ferguson, Lisa Ferraioli, Ramona Harvey, Bobby Hyscher, Elizabeth Keithley, Tracy Kennedy, Kristi Mendoza, Angelia Willis.

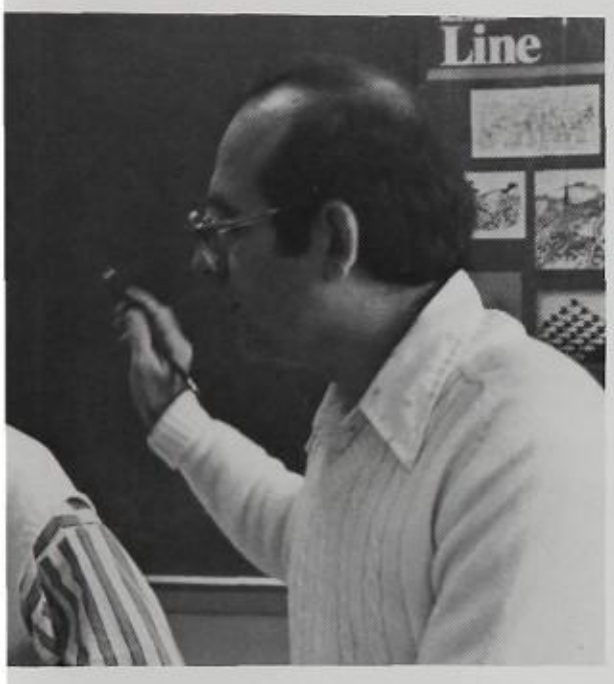
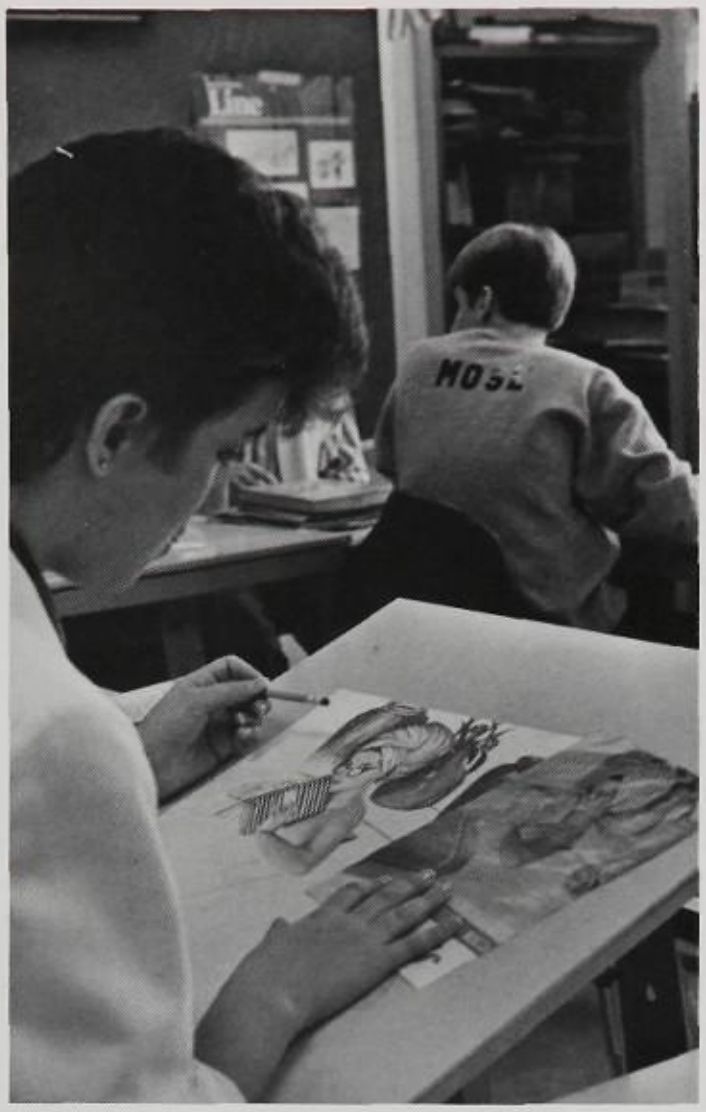
Mrs. Lewis and Kim Burton proudly show the fruitbasket arranged by FHA.

Etiquette and manners are an important part of anyone's life. It determines what others think of you. This and other valuable social skills were taught in FHA.

Future Homemakers of America learned how to plan a budget, how to take care of a family, how to sew, cook, take care of a child, and even how to pick out appropriate clothes for an occasion. They also learned crafts that could help in achieving career goals. For example, flower arranging skills are desirable for a job at the florist, and home decorating experience can lead to a job in interior decorating.

IF MONET COULD SEE US NOW





The purpose of the Art Club was to expand students' artistic abilities. It introduced them to new styles and types of art. Mr. Akbari was the advisor.

A CHALLENGE TO. . .

Our excellent JROTC program was an elective course which was both challenging and educational. The curriculum included instruction in various military subjects, leadership, and managerial skills. However, it was much more than a pre-military program. Members developed personal values as well as military skills. Integrity, responsibility, good citizenship, and team work were stressed in all areas.

Three days out of the week theory classes on subjects such as military history, firearms safety and use, and first aid took place. Two days out of the week classes performed drills in preparation for public appearances and competitions in the community. They participated in summer camp at Fort Benning, the Veteran's Day Parade, the WFXE Children's Christmas Party, and sold poppies for the American Legion.

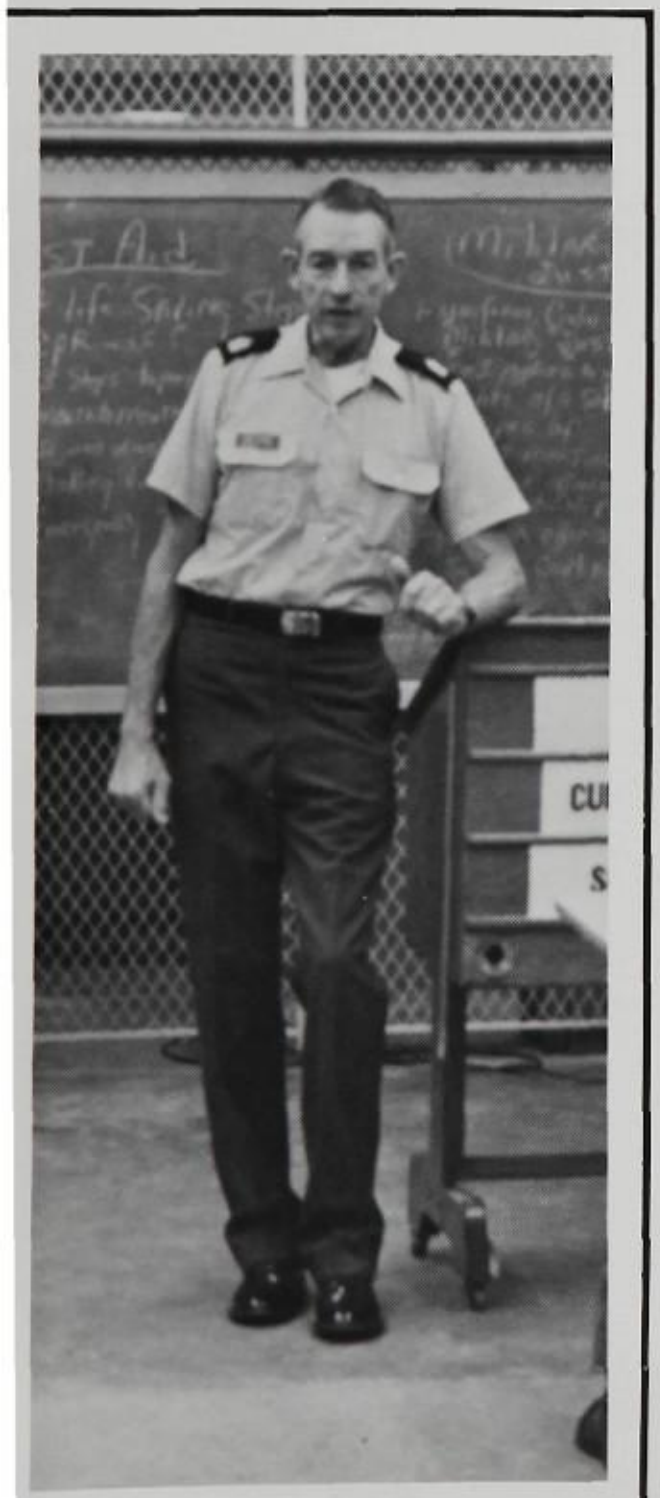
. . . REACH THE TOP



Sergeant Major Glover leads a current events discussion with Company A.

JROTC offers many extracurricular activities. The Color Guard posted colors every morning in front of the school and at all home football games. They once again formed the saber arch for the Homecoming procession. The rifle team and drill team practiced after school and entered matches at Fort Benning. The program was not all hard work and no play. In the spring a formal ball was held at the Iron Works. JROTC members chose Audrey Poe as the 1986 Ball Queen.

The practices, classes, and drills all paid off for the batallion this year. For the first time since 1971 they received the ranking of Honor unit with Distinction after biannual inspection. Representatives from regional headquarters awarded them the highest honor possible after visiting in the fall. The battalion outshined them all this year.

PLAYING FOR THE FUN OF IT

The 1985-86 CHS Marching Band was rated excellent at the Fountain City Marching Band Festival. It took a great amount of time and practice for this rating to be accomplished. The band members had to begin meeting in the summer, way before other students started back. These long hours were required so that all the band members would be in time with one another when marching.

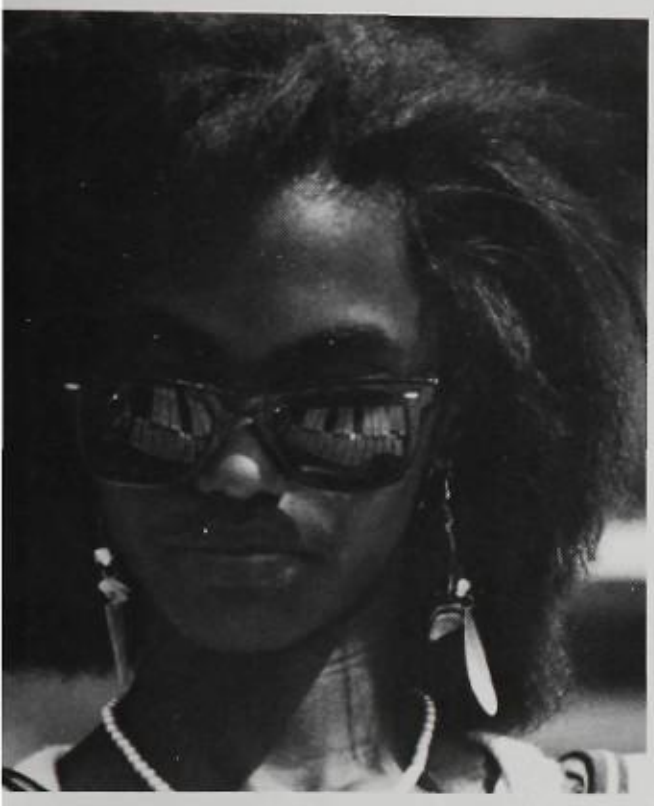
This year the band played in the Veteran's Day parade and in the Christmas Parade. They showed true school spirit when playing at our pep rallies and when playing at all the Friday night games. Attending all the games shows a special kind of dedication, and when Devil fans heard the roll of the drums as the band began to play, they sensed a special enthusiasm for what they hoped would be a victory on the playing field.

The band not only played for games and pep rallies. They also put on concerts during the school day. The Christmas concert was a new event this year. Just as they added to the Christmas spirit, the band added to the spirit of CHS all year long!

MARCHING BAND: Kim Arrowood, Dallas Austin, Lisa Austin, Doug Bigbee, James Branch, Yolanda Buchanan, Cynthia Collins, Henry Cook, Bobby Copenny, Rebecca Couch, Michelle Cox, Kay Edmonds, Eric Ezekiel, Rodney Forts, Tim Fussell, Julie Gilbert, Robert Greathouse, Troy Hall, Nairobi Handy, Marty Hendrix, Kermelle Hensley, Brian Hicks, Heather Hitchcock, Andrea Hodges, Traci Huff, Djuana Hubbard, Robert Ito, Avia Jackson, Marquita Jackson, Michelle Johnson, Phineas Johnson, Carolyn Lee, Tiffany Lewis, Veronica Lewis, Pam Lorentz, Steve Lorentz, Matrice McGuire, Joe McKiever, Mary Jane McRay, Tangy Person, Kim Porter, Kristina Reeve, Marcus Sanders, Chris Shavers, Lisa Smith, Tracey Smith, Jay Stroud, Reginald Snellings, Eric Thomas, Nelson Tomlinson, Harold Tunes, Victoria Venters, Tina Watson, Carolyn Weitzel, Darrell Wiggins, Jackie Williams, Brent Wright.

Senior Lisa Smith and Mr. Currier have their attention diverted from the night's game.

Director: Mr. Gary Currier



DRUM MAJORS: Lisa Smith, Drum Major; Nelson Tomlinson, Assistant Drum Major.

Because of the popularity of the drum section, they sometimes play while the rest of the band takes a break.

Sophomore Kim Porter puts in the high notes when playing her xylophone.

Whether it's the football team or the band, there is always action on the field!

Senior Lisa Smith concentrates on her next routine.

The band watches intently during the Homecoming game.

The marching band perfected their crossover formation for Homecoming's half time show.

Sunglasses, shorts, and comfortable clothes made hot summer practices bearable.

Senior Lisa Smith has been involved with band for 10 years and plans to continue throughout her college years.

HITTING THE HIGH NOTES

It is said that music is an expression of the soul. One can never get enough musical ability. However, the chorus hoped that they could share their knowledge and experience of music in satisfying and fulfilling ways to all who listened.

From Christmas carols to PTA programs the CHS chorus has been "hitting the high notes" with Blue Devil Spirit.

IT'S NICE TO BE NEEDED

The Y-Club is a group dedicated to improving the lives of the less fortunate. The members raise money for various charities and collect canned goods for the Battered Wives Home.

The club has an emphasis on Christian character. Its officers are: Sean Cleveland, Jeff Brown, Michelle McLaurin, Joanne Andrews, and Tim Fussell.

Y-CLUB: Sean Cleveland, Jeff Brown, John VanDinter, Tim Fussell, Julie Gilbert, Heather Hitchcock, Lisa Smith, Michelle McLaurin, Laura Anderson, Victoria Venters, Joanne Andrews.

Y-Club sponsor Mrs. VanDinter reviews club plans during a meeting held at her house.

Sophomore Julie Gilbert and Senior Heather Hitchcock listen to the Y-Club minutes.

Victoria Venters makes a suggestion for a new club activity, and Laura Anderson seems to agree.

CIVITAN IS READY & WILLING

Columbus High's Girl's Civitan is a club which provides various services to their school and community. They work with the Special Olympics, the South Columbus Girl's Club, the Columbus Recreation Department for Special Populations (mentally and physically handicapped), and the American Cancer Society.

Civitan members give golfing tips to a young player at the canival.

Debbie Weaver and Blaire Woods snag hooks with candy and treats for kids at the carnival.

The girls raise club money by scrubbing cars all day long at the Crown station.

Monica Duran, Carol Simon, and Candi Hubbard spend the afternoon wrapping goody bags.

Jean Jones, Liz Schmitt, and Cathy Clark take the forefront on stage for the kids.

The officers are Patrick Cosgrove, John Fisher, and Carlos Alexander.

The officers are Jocelyn DeRamus, Jean Jones, Shannon Greyer, Kyra Wynn, Candi Hubbard, and Beth Tomlinson.

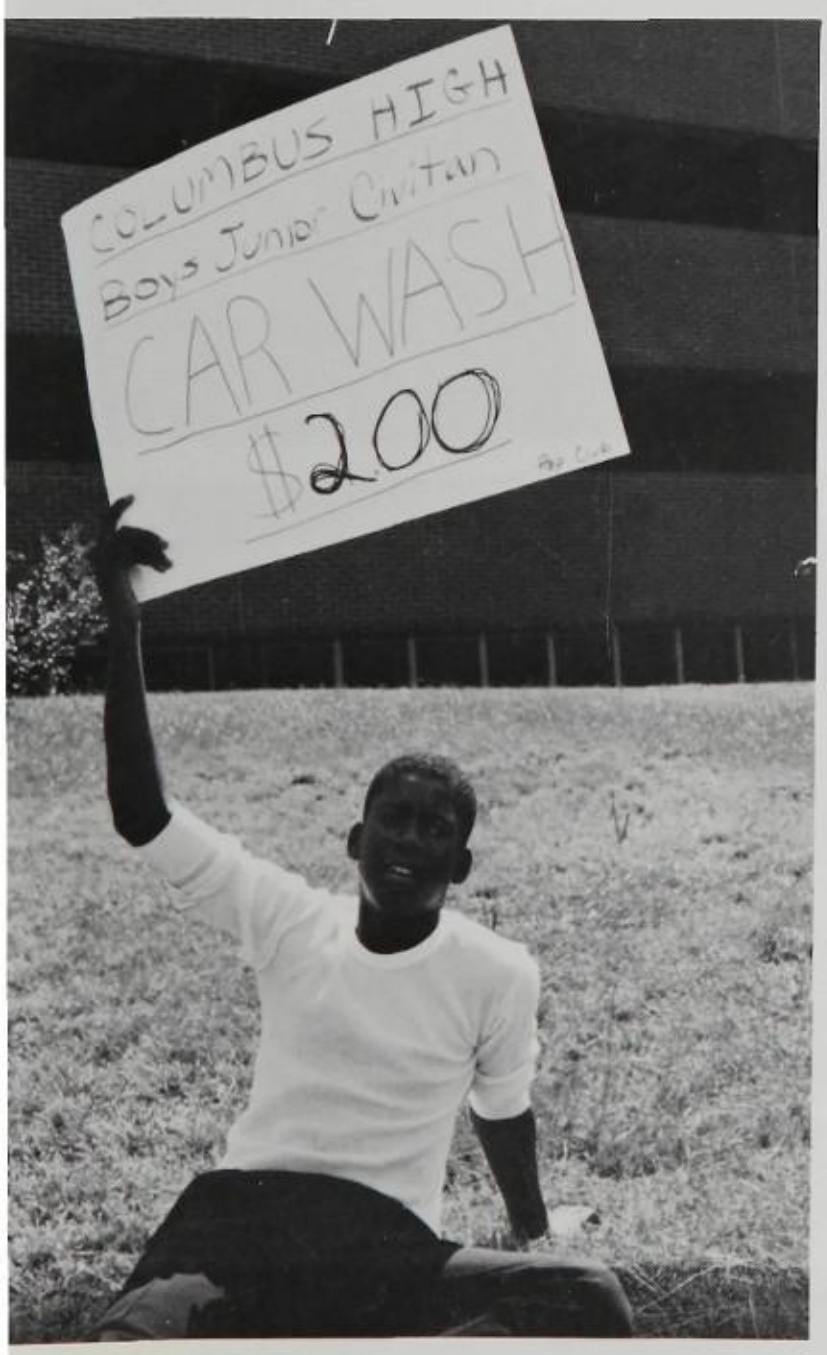
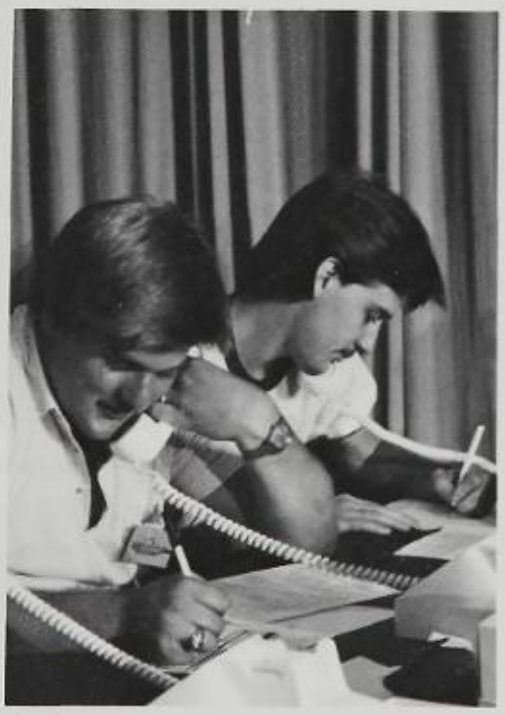
COMMITTED TO CARING





Columbus High's Boys' Civitan is a club whose purpose is to give support to its school and community. It gave its time and efforts to several charities this year, and many of its members could be seen manning the phones during the Jerry Lewis Telethon.

Kohlen Moore, Rob Cavis, John Fischer, and Carlos Alexander join Boys' Civitan sponsor, Mr. Whitt, in a question and answer session.

Junior Melvin Anderson lends a hand to advertise the carwash, held at the Crown station across from St. Francis Shopping Center.

Seniors John Fischer and Chris Boyd spend Labor Day taking donations for Jerry's kids.

Juniors Patrick Poole and Talvin Warren bring in customers at the Civitan carwash.

INTERACTING WITH OTHERS

The Interact Club is a service-oriented junior branch of the Rotary Club. Newly formed, the ranks of the club were quickly filled because of the high interest among our student body in serving the community.

Students found Mr. Price's room comfortable and convenient for club meetings.

The officers are Jon Craft, President; Jamie Waters, Vice-President; and Karen Killette, Secretary.

Club members brainstorm on the best way to carry out their next project.

Senior Jon Craft reflects the kind of involvement a successful Interact Club will demand.

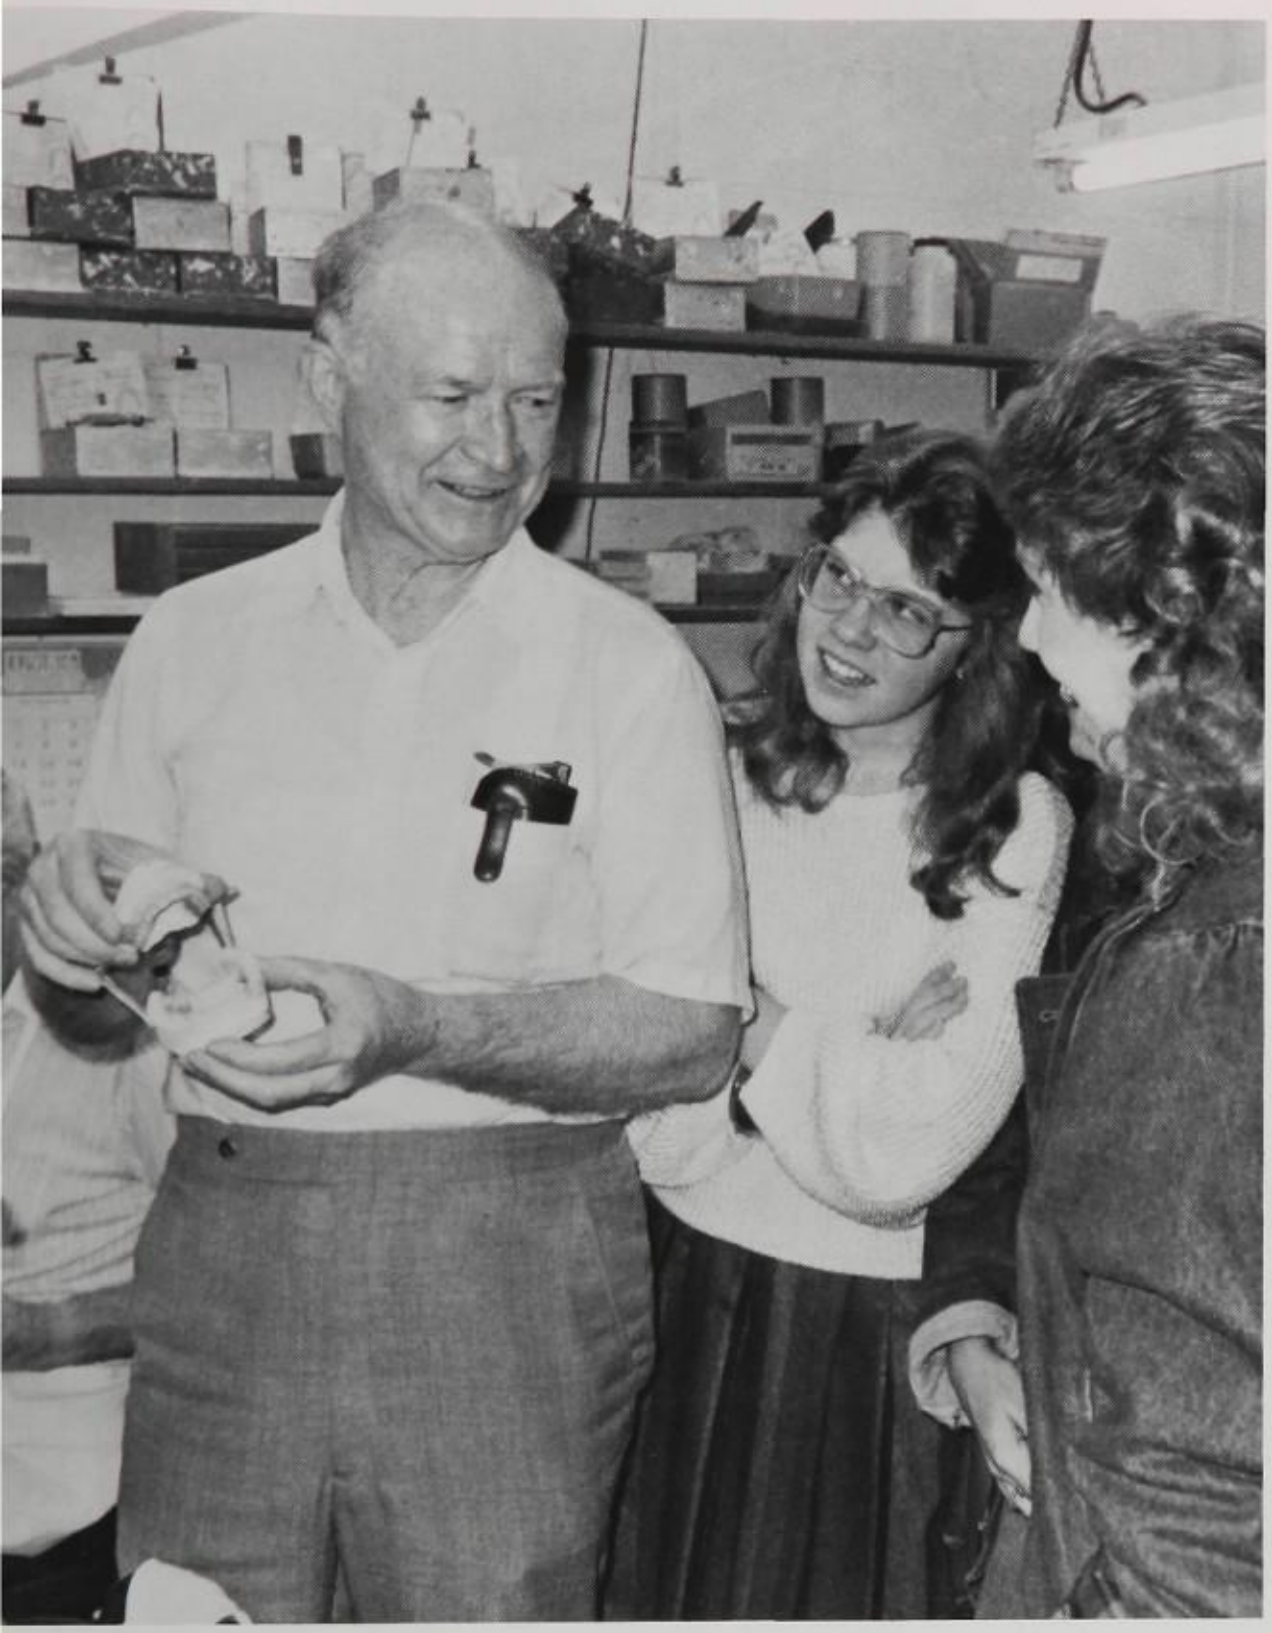
DISCOVERING THE ELEMENTS



The Explorer Science Club was a new club for freshmen only. Members were a select group, recommended by their eighth grade science teachers. They participated in various projects this year including tracking Comet Halley and a visit to Thorne Dental Lab.

WORKING FOR THE MONEY

DCT/VICA students not only earned money for the future, they also promoted the school in the community through their work experience. Members earned money on the job, but also displayed generosity to others. Every month the students of DCT/VICA sponsored coffee and donuts for the faculty. They also provided a thanksgiving dinner for a needy family and gave Christmas gifts to children at both St. Francis Hospital and a day care center. On Valentine's they gave a dance for disadvantaged kids. They held an employer/employee banquet at the Trade Center in honor of the employers. These students are already well on their way to becoming valued members of the work force in our community.

OPPORTUNITY KNOCKS

The first purpose of the JETS Club is to help make students aware of opportunities for careers in engineering, the sciences, and related technical fields.

Another is to help students get a better foundation and meet the increasing demands of colleges and technical institutes.

The last is to aid students in discovering and appraising their own abilities, aptitudes, and interests.

President Sheron McDuffie; advisor, Mrs. Farris; and Treasurer, Tammy Harris discuss field trips to industries and colleges.

Mrs. Farris and JETS club officers work on a program for Engineering Week.

COMMAND PERFORMANCES

Orchestra was a close-knit group of special young people that excelled in performing under any situation. They played in a variety of activities ranging from a Christmas concert for our student body to stiff competition in front of experienced judges at Festival in the spring. In order to gain from the class, each student had to have a positive attitude towards life, themselves, and music.

Claire Crawford, Susan Wade, Millicent Cooper and Alice Miller tune their instruments before practice.

Sophomore Angelia Davis keeps her eye on the director while playing her bass.

As she conducts, Ms. Cynthia Wilson is quick to point out a discordant note.

Sophomore Jemma Pingul doesn't mind the time spent rehearsing because she knows others will be counting on her.

We Outshine Them All In...

SPORTS

A rigorous pre-game warm-up prepares the varsity football team for the game against Hardaway.

Our sports program expanded this year to include a swim team and a soccer team, offering students more opportunities to excel. On the opposite page, four students practice after school in the new YMCA Olympic sized swimming pool.

DOWNS AND UPS

The Varsity Football Team had an interesting season in the past school year. They started off with an almost hopeless 5 losses. The spirit of the team was down, but the players came back strongly with a victory. In fact, 5 consecutive wins at the end of the season led the team to an even 5 wins, 5 losses record. One of these wins was over archrival Hardaway High School. It was the first time in a decade that CHS had triumphed over the Hawks. In all, this was a fairly good season for the varsity players.

DEVIL SPIRIT

The 1985-86 varsity cheerleaders played an important role at the football games. They not only supported the team, but also got the fans involved in the game. They also baked snacks for the team on game days. The cheerleaders always cheered with enthusiasm and a smile, no matter how good or bad the game was going. They brought spirit to the pep rallies and did several new cheers. The varsity cheerleaders encouraged the student body to attend the games by displaying a lot of CHS spirit.

AHEAD OF THE GAME

The Columbus High School football organization had a good group of rookie players this year. These first year players were CHS's Freshman Football Team. The members of this freshman team were from many different backgrounds. Many of the team members played football at their respective junior high schools. This year, though, they all pulled together for the benefit of Columbus High's Baby Blue Devil team.

Although the team won only one game out of seven, they exhibited stunning potential throughout the season. Coaches Wilie Dysick and Terry Gaines maneuvered the boys through their first season as CHS football players.

This season for the Freshman Football Team may have been a rough one, but it has surely prepared these young men for their athletic future at Columbus High School.

Coach Willie Dysick tries to decide on a strategy for Clark Cole, who is waiting for his reponse.

HEADED FOR SUCCESS

The 1985-86 Columbus High school softball team is a team to be proud of! The team had a season record of thirteen wins and only one loss. They placed second in the Spencer Invitational Tournament and made it to the Regional playoffs. Beth Skelton did a great job coaching the team. Miss Skelton was new to our school this year, and we were glad to have her. Two of this year's team members, Venessa Rowell and Lauren Owens, made the All Bi-City team. The softball team had to practice long and hard to achieve these goals.

Senior Vanessa Rowell heads for home.

After successfully catching the ball, junior Wanda Jones throws it back again.

Junior Martha Martin shows great style in her performance.

Senior Kristi Mendoza rounds home base and scores a run.

RUN THE EXTRA MILE

The 1985-86 Cross Country team devoted a lot of time and effort to this year's meets. Whether they were running in shorts because it was so hot, or covered from top to bottom in sweatsuits because it was so cold, you could look down at Lakebottom and see the cross country runners practicing after school. The team received one honorable mention and had two All Bi-City selections. Junior Carol Simon came in twenty-first place in the state meet. She was the highest individual finisher from our region. Our cross country team, girls and boys, did very well at all of the meets.

Coach Hart looks well prepared for a long day of teaching and practicing with the cross country tream.

Sophomore Sherry Jenkins slows down to take a break after a race.

Sophomore Kristie Doucet is getting stiff competition from the other runners.

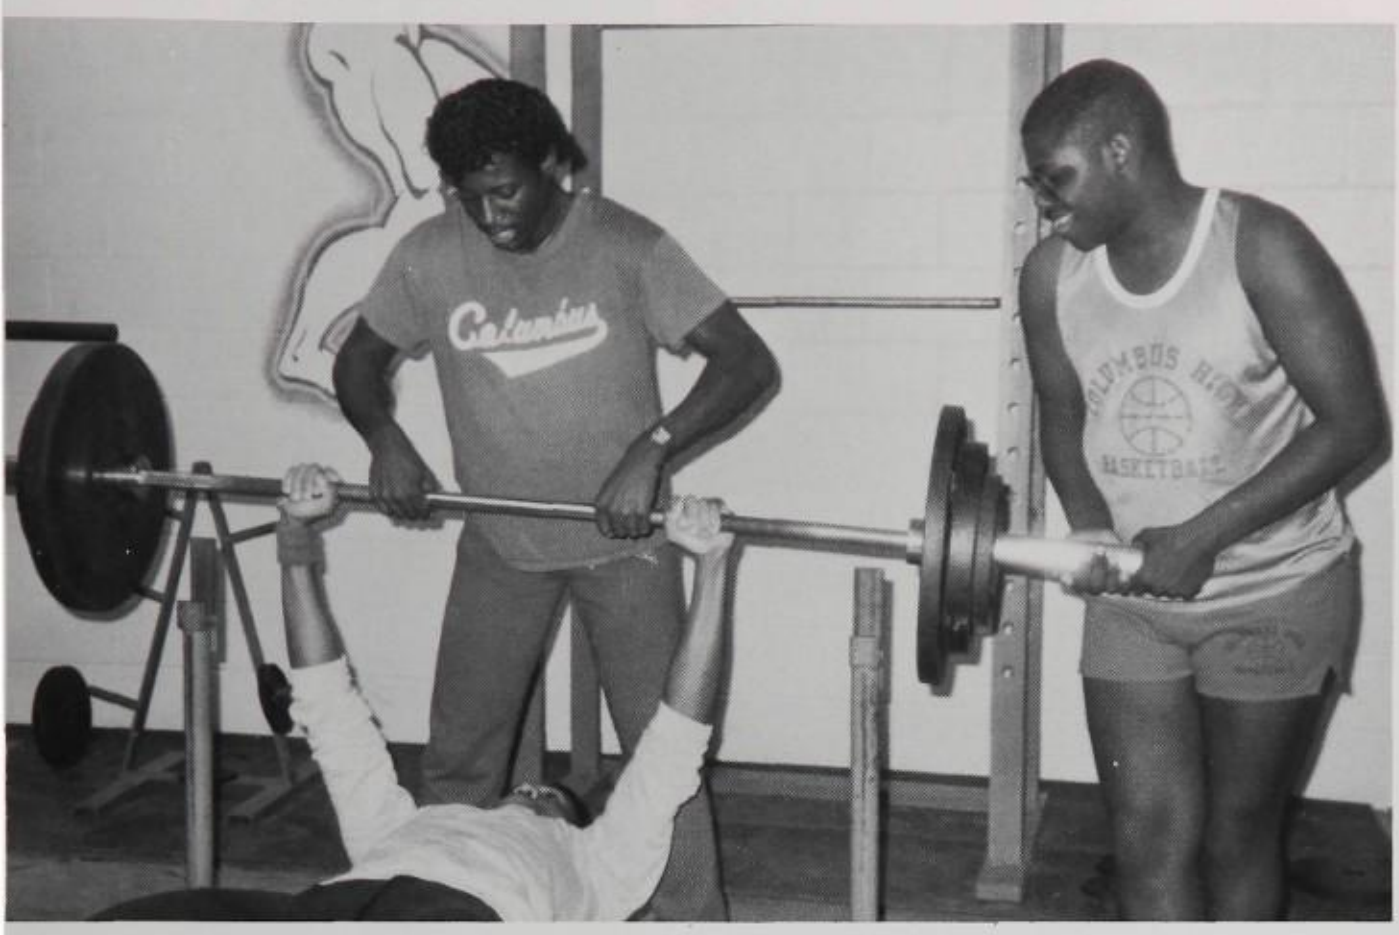
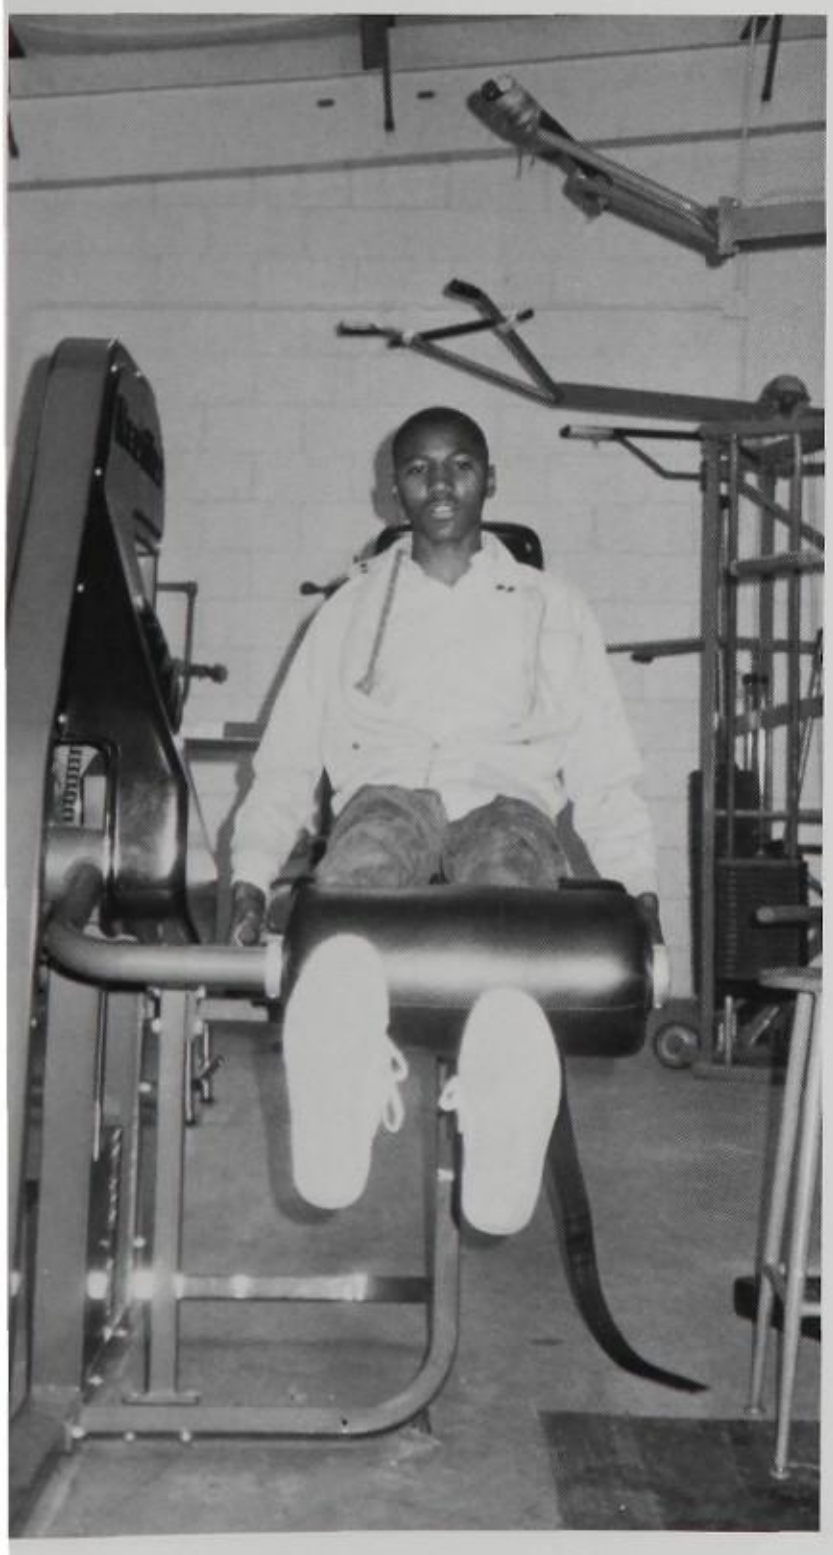
LET'S GET PHYSICAL

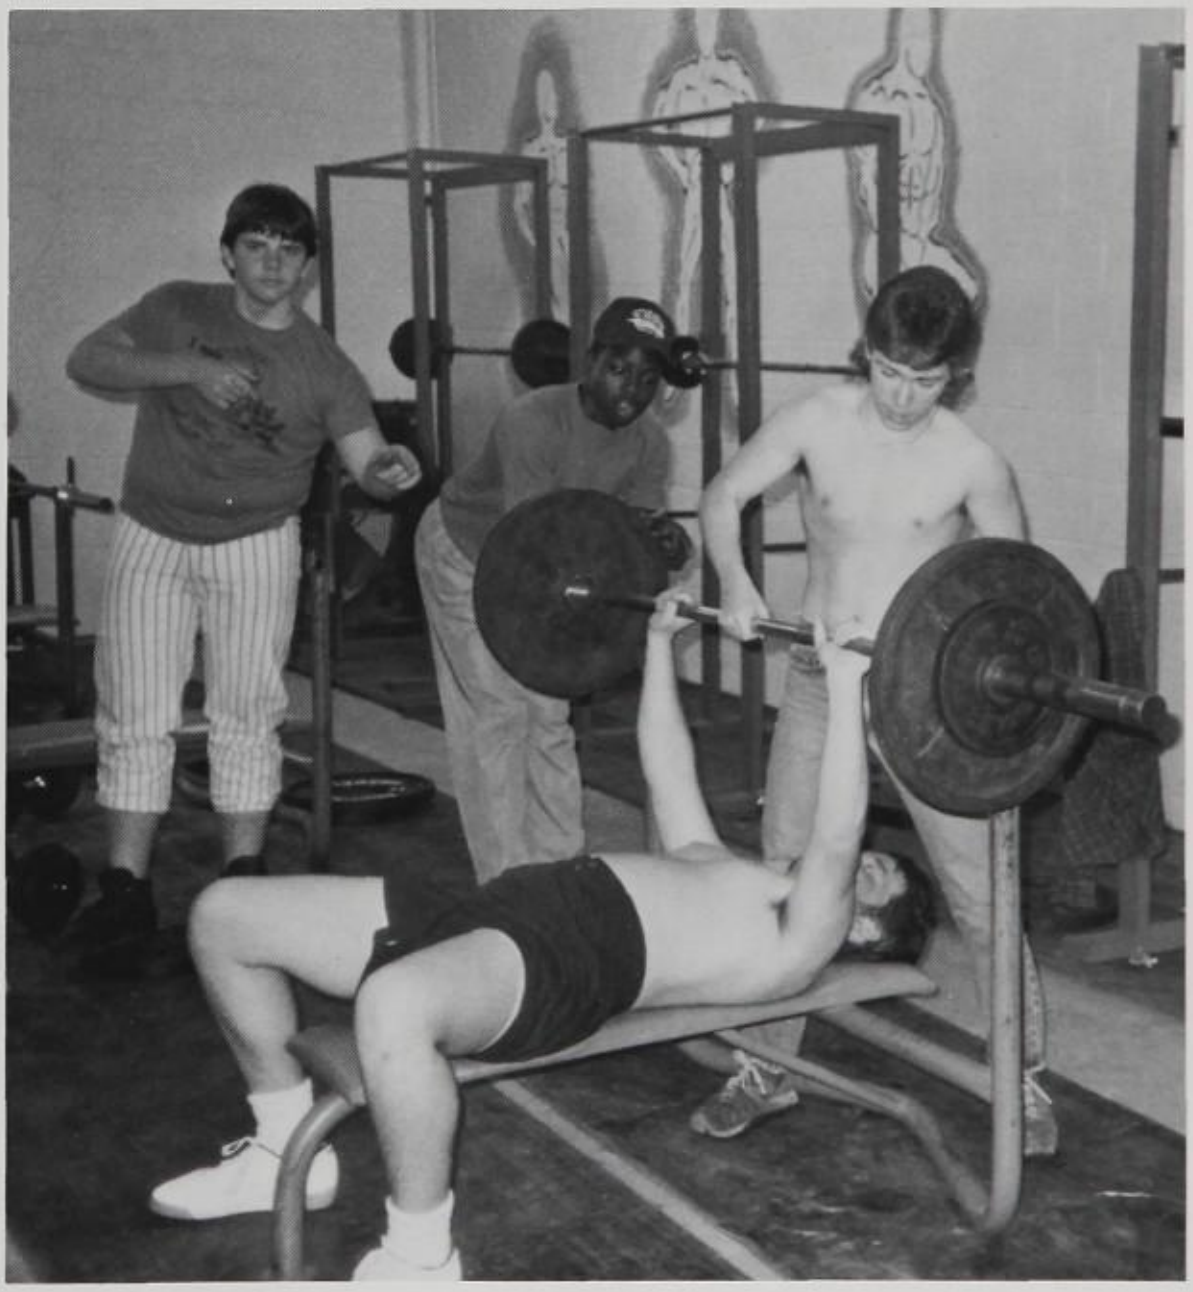


On May 29, 1985, a dedication ceremony was held marking the opening of our weight room. Active Booster Club members, alumni, friends and staff turned out to commemorate this addition. To build and stock the first class facility cost about $30,000. The money was raised by the Booster Club and building supplies and labor were provided by generous and concerned parents.

Located behind the gym and open during school hours and until 5 p.m., the weight room was stocked with all of the best machines and equipment; most users found they had no need to go elsewhere. Senior Jon Craft, a varsity football player and frequent user of the weight room said, "with the large variety of machines here you don't need to go elsewhere." It received regular use by school athletes and P.E. classes, and students who were simply interested in keeping in shape.

"Ours is one of the best high school weight rooms in the South." — Coach Bob Nellums





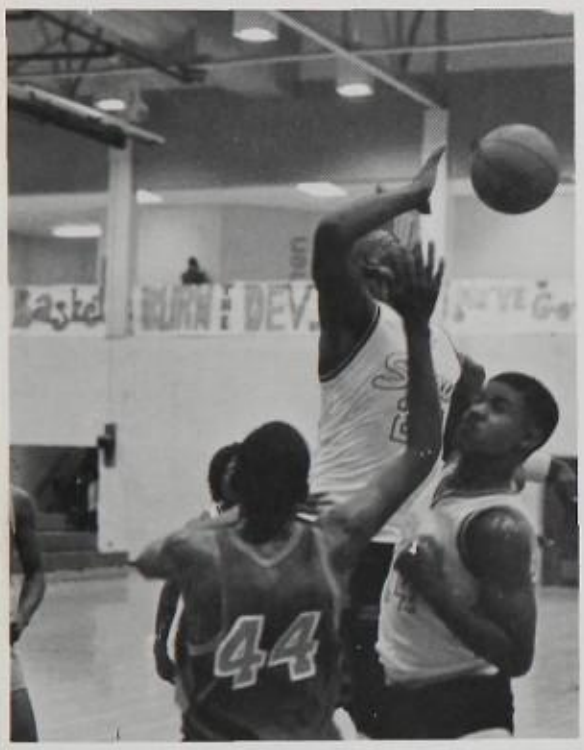
Junior Darren Miller and Freshman Chris Raiford encourage sophomore Fred Brown as they spot him during his work out on the bench press.

Freshman Antonio Ford tones his legs using the Nautilus front leg curl machine.

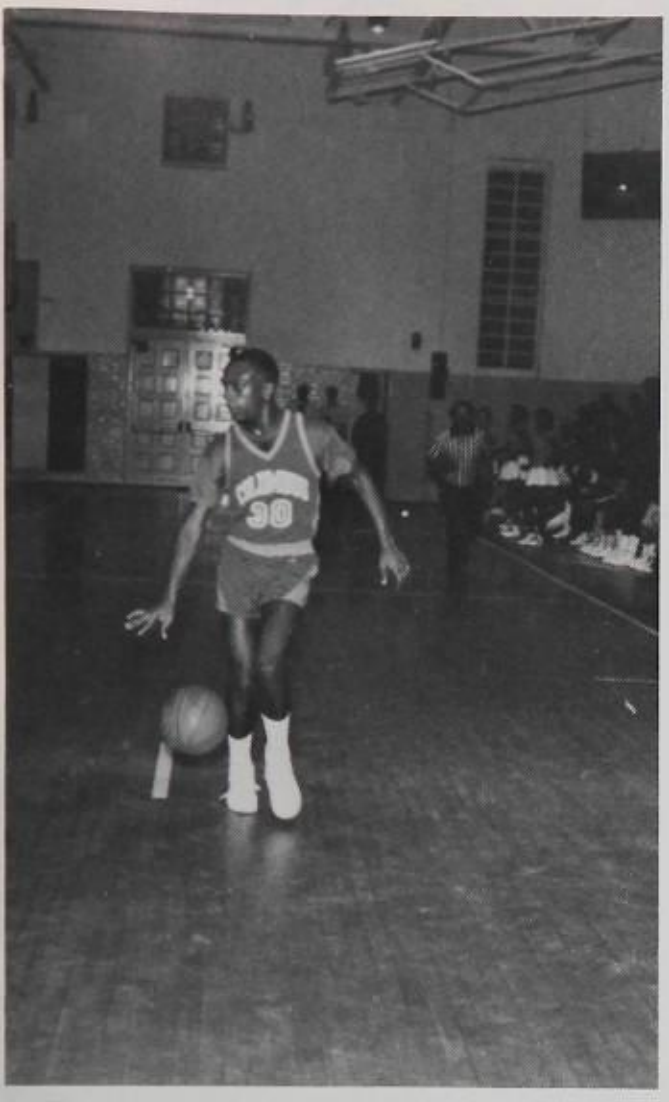
Benefits of weight lifting include better muscle tone, an improved physique, and an overall feeling of well-being.

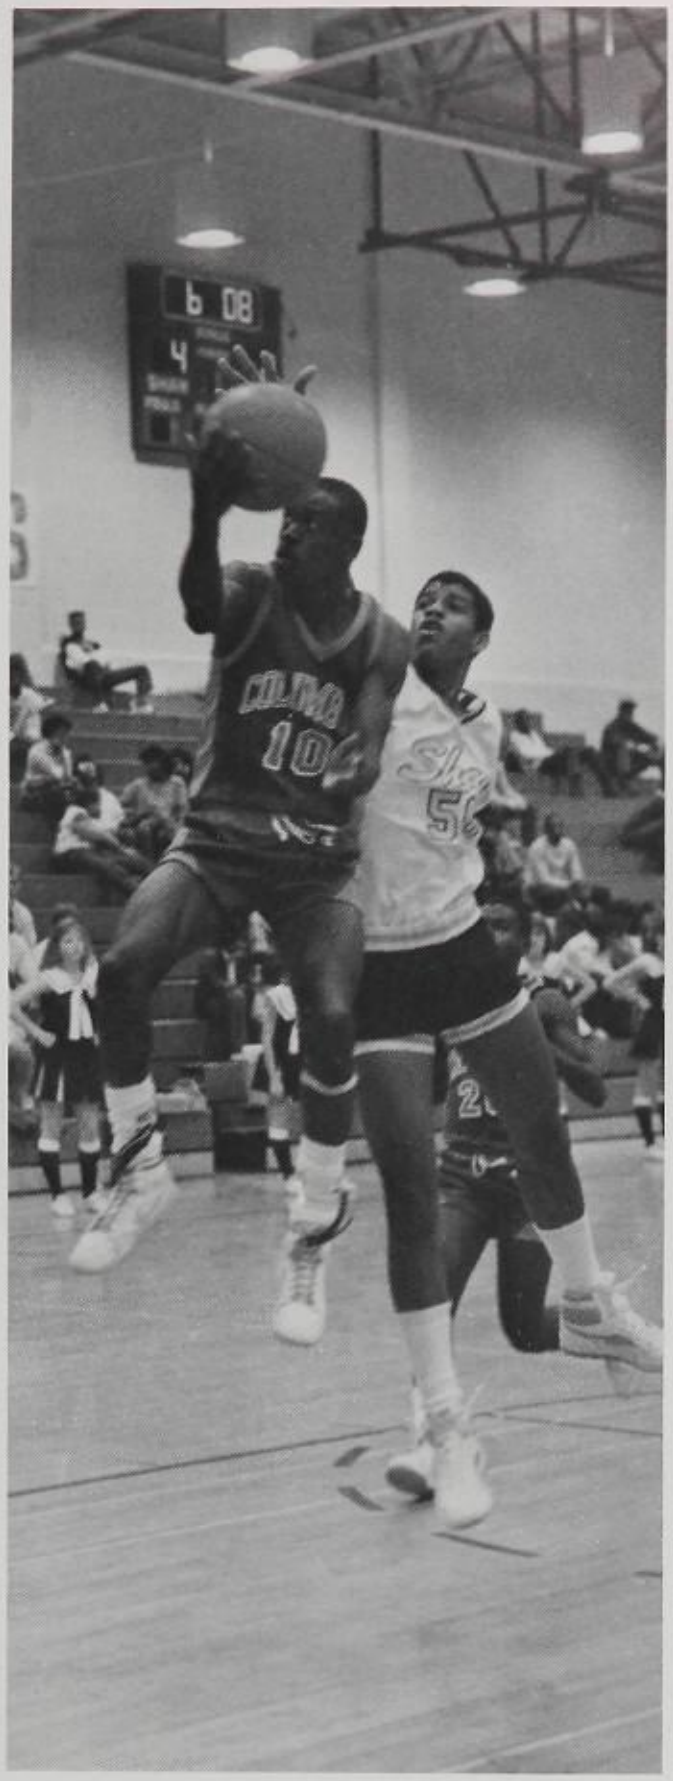
MAKE GOALS THAT COUNT

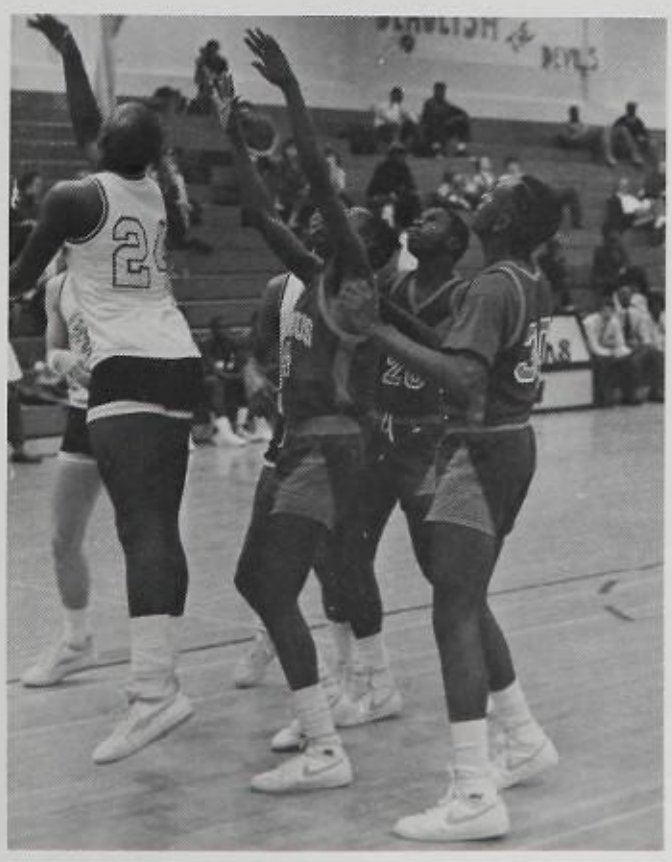
This was a frustrating year for coach Tim Mayse, captain Kelsey Ellison and the boys' varsity basketball team. They were pitted against some tough teams, and played their best. However, even long hours of practice didn't pay off, as they won only a few games during the season. Being a young team this year, the odds were stacked against them. After more hours on the court we will be expecting great things from them.



BOYS' VARSITY BASKETBALL TEAM: Alvin Brooks, Kelsey Ellison, Curtis Hall, Bo Oates, Darrell Owens, Grant Solomon, Talvin Warren, Zack Williams, and Mike Woods.







Alvin Brooks looks on, waiting for his teammate to knock the ball away from opposing players.

Kelsey Ellison goes for a sure two.

Bo Oates goes up for a slam dunk.

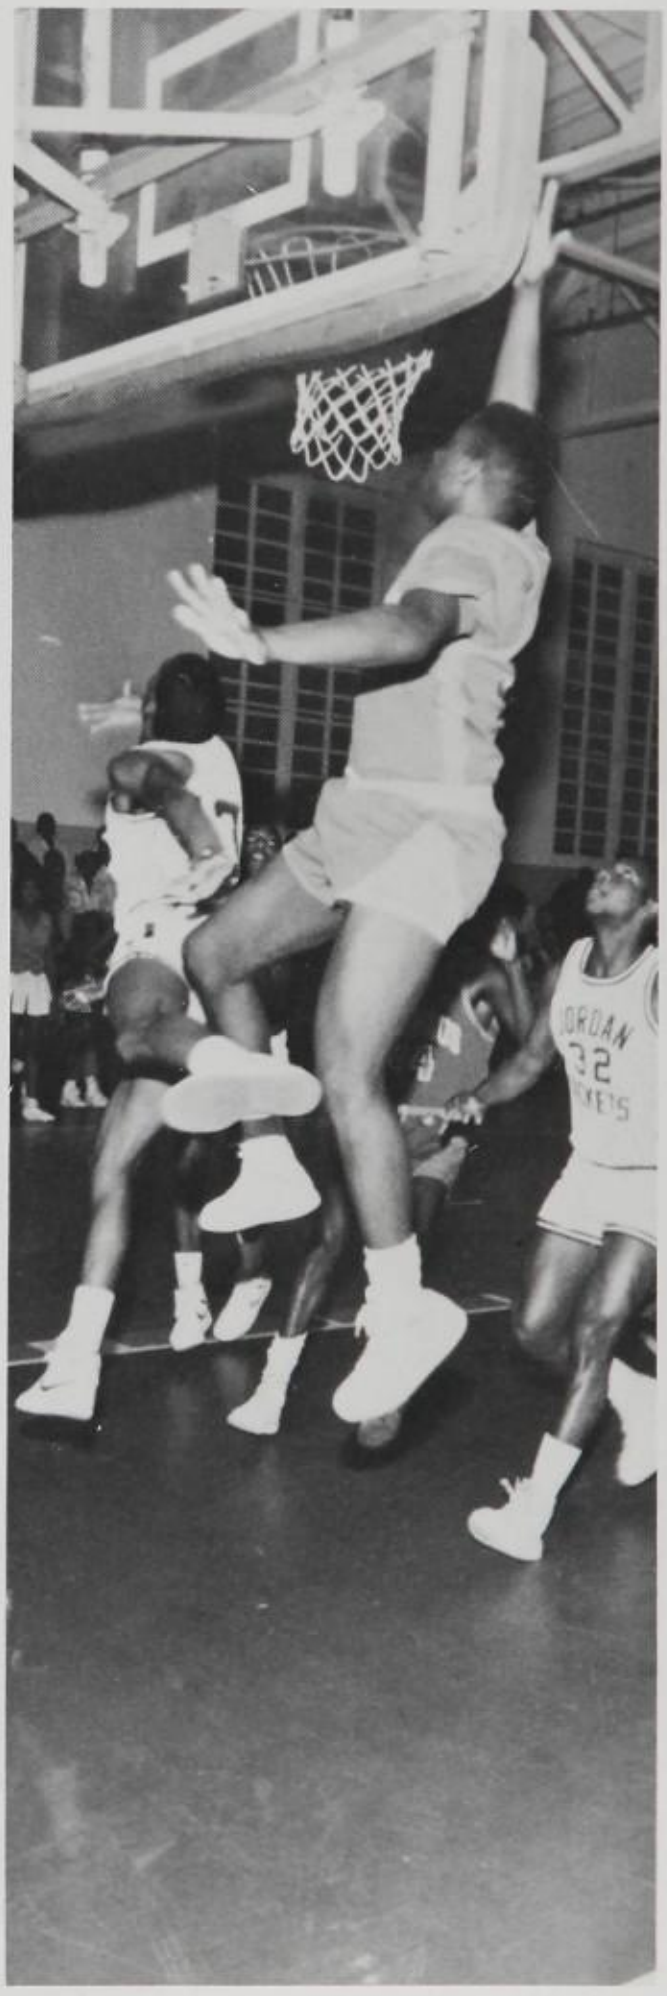
While making his way down the court, Curtis Hall does some fancy dribbling.

Avoiding the attack of a Shaw opponent, Kelsey Ellison jumps for the goal.

Surrounded by Jordan players, a daring devil goes to the board.

Bo Oates leaps in front of a Shaw opponent to catch the rebound.

We are sure to gain the ball for the next play with three of our players under the net.

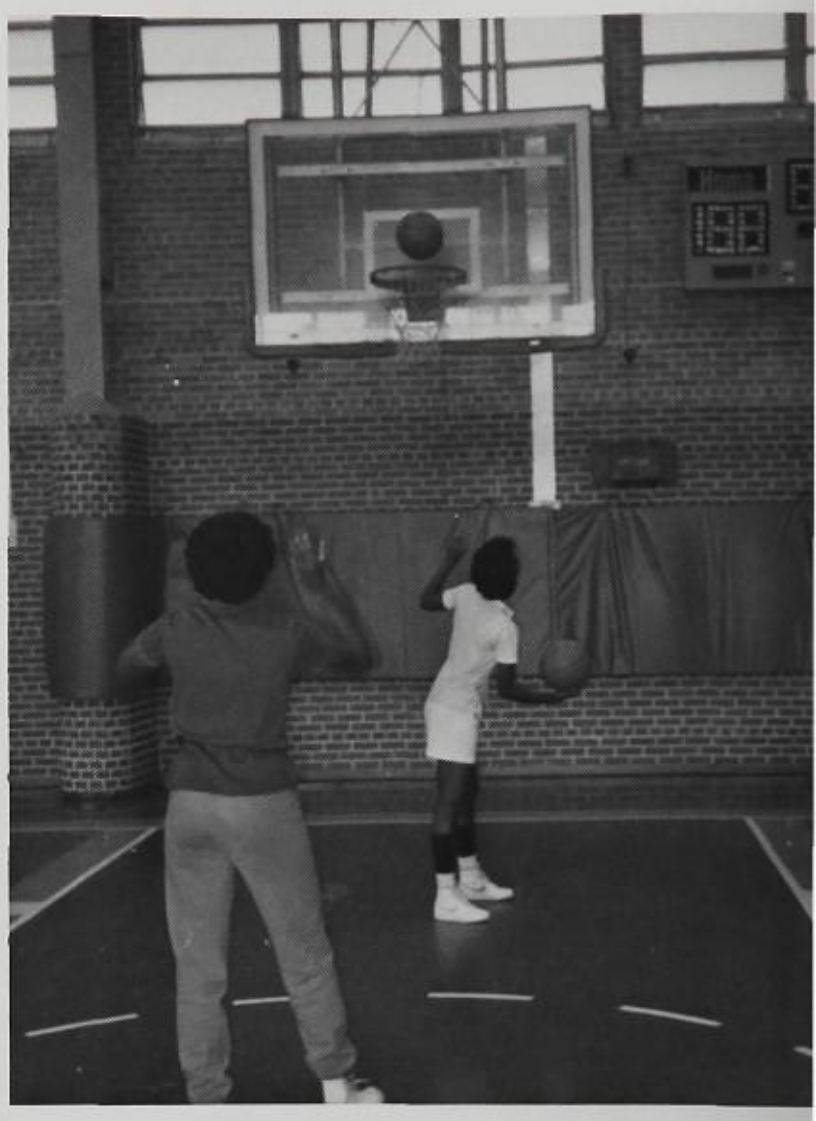


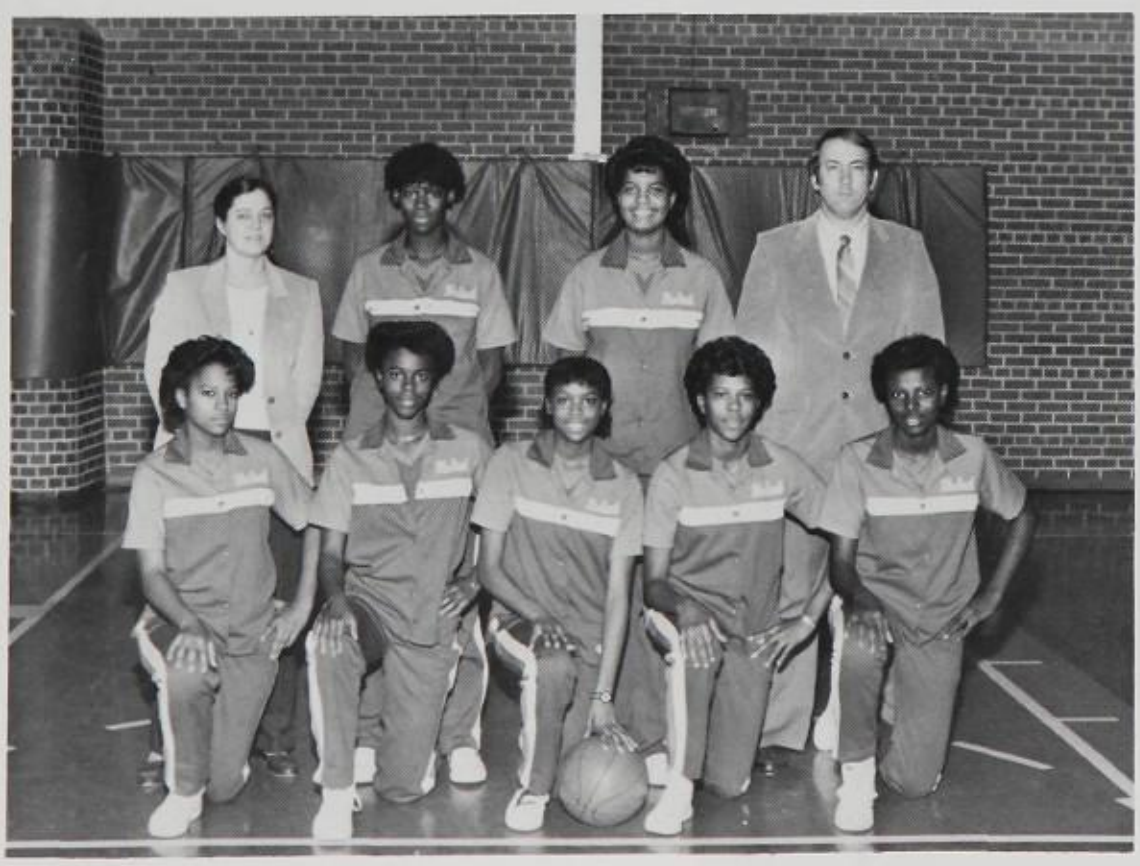
THE WINNING SEASON

This year, the girls' varsity basketball team put more time and effort into practice than ever, and it showed. The crowd's support, and the team's spirit combined with great coaching to make each game a real challenge to every team they played.

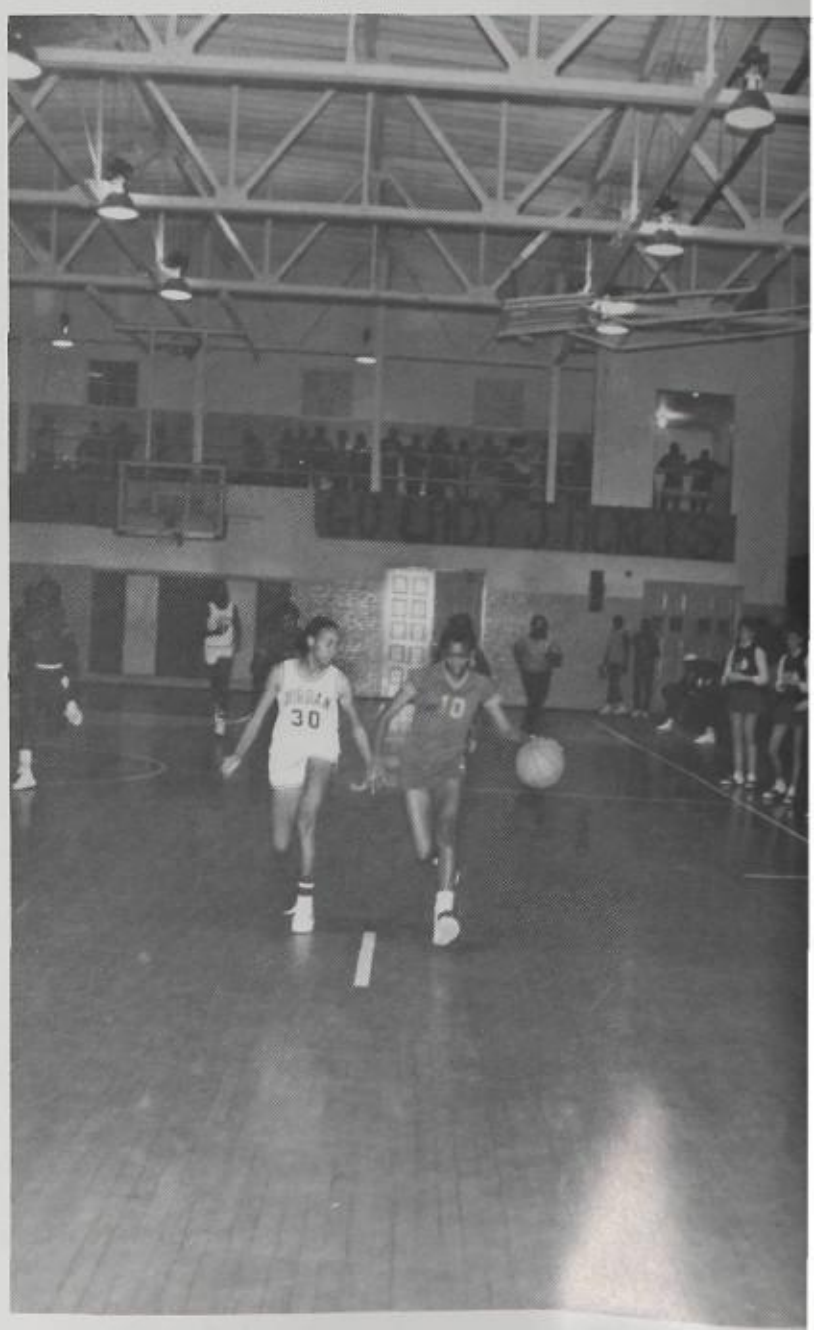
Team players put in practice time; lay-up drills and free throws shooting help improve foul line shots.

Senior Vanessa Rowell battles over possession of the ball with the Shaw Raiders.

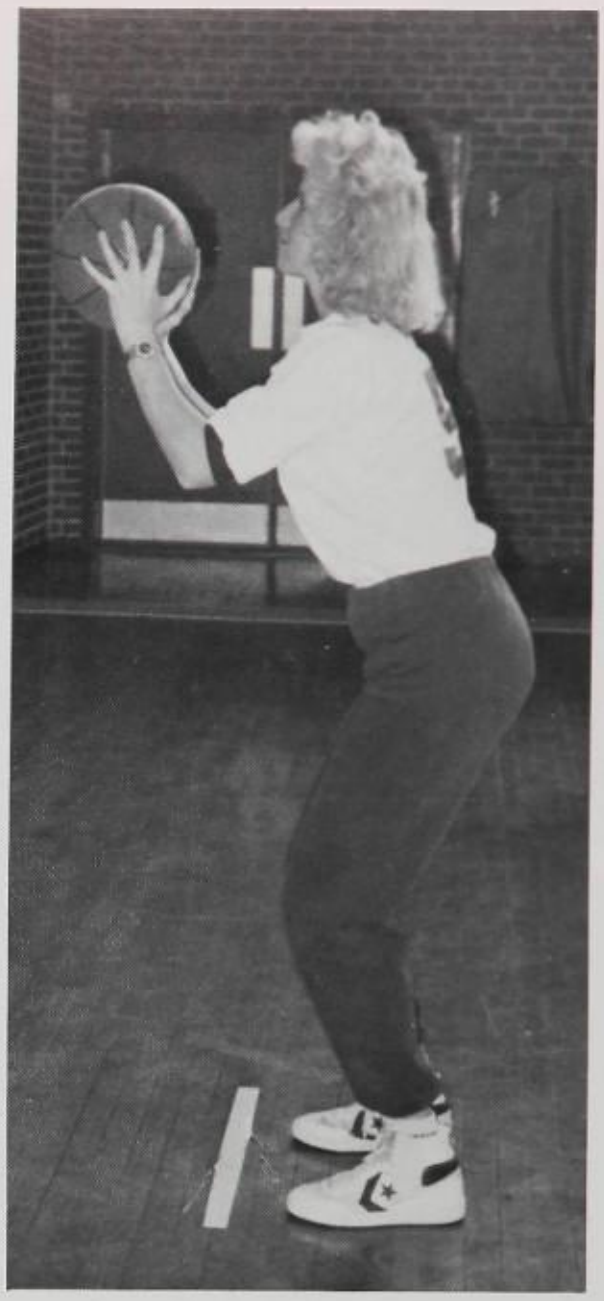


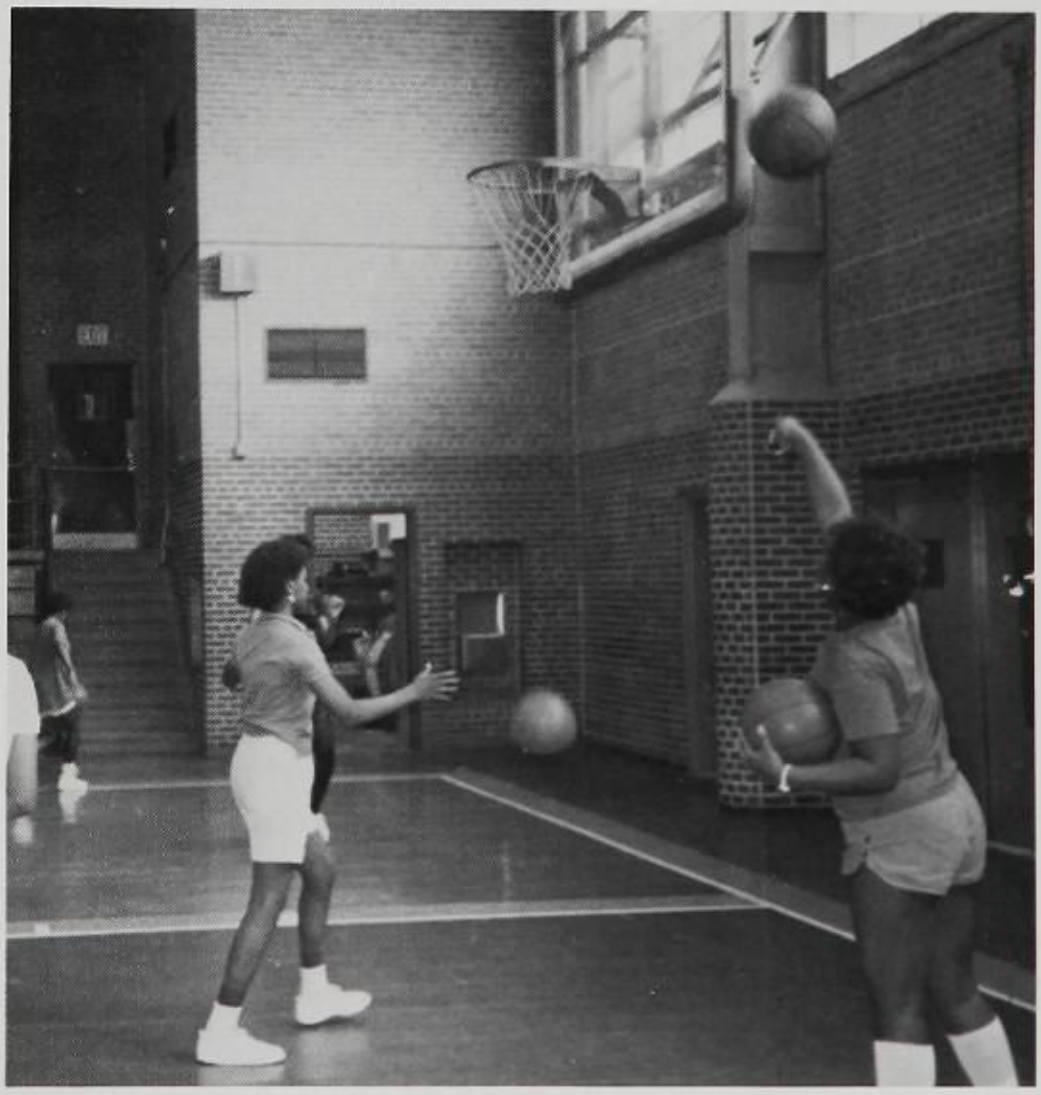


GIRLS' VARSITY BASKETBALL: Beth Bone, Jackie Parker, Vanessa Rowell, Cheryl McGhee, Angelica Nelson, Bonita Porch, Lynn Green, Carolyn Lee, Phyllis Sheperd. Mr. and Mrs. Ridenour, coaches.



A Devil controls the ball in a race down court for the goal.





With the score close, Shaw and Columbus wait in anticipation for the outcome of the throw.

Senior Beth Bone shows the same composure in practice as she does when under pressure.

A Blue Devil scorer shoots for the goal through her opponents.

The varsity team is adept at shooting "round-the-world" as they warm up.

POMPONS AND PRACTICE

The girls who represented our school at basketball games were "not just cheerleaders". Like the players, they were athletes who had practiced day after day so they could perform stunts and rally the crowds. Cheerleading was as opportunity, offering these girls a chance to learn more about themselves while having fun and supporting their school. Being involved as a basketball cheerleader meant backing their team unconditionally.

The Varsity Basketball Cheerleaders began their second year anxious to get to work. They organized and conducted pep rallies, thought up spirit competitions, and cheered at both the boys' and girls' varsity games. Overall, the cheerleaders were fiery representatives of Columbus High School.

Miss Cynthia Thomas is the cheerleading sponor.

TAKE IT TO THE HOOP

Skillful passing, good offensive plays, and faultless shooting were the goals of the Boy's Junior Varsity Basketball Team. Coach Willie Dysick worked with his team to develop new plays that took advantage of each player's strengths. Their high-energy performances and explosive action on the court attracted faithful fans.

Sophomore Zack Stoudemire tries to score two points while other players wait to grab the rebound if he misses.

Our Blue Devil reaches high in the air in his struggle to recapture the ball.

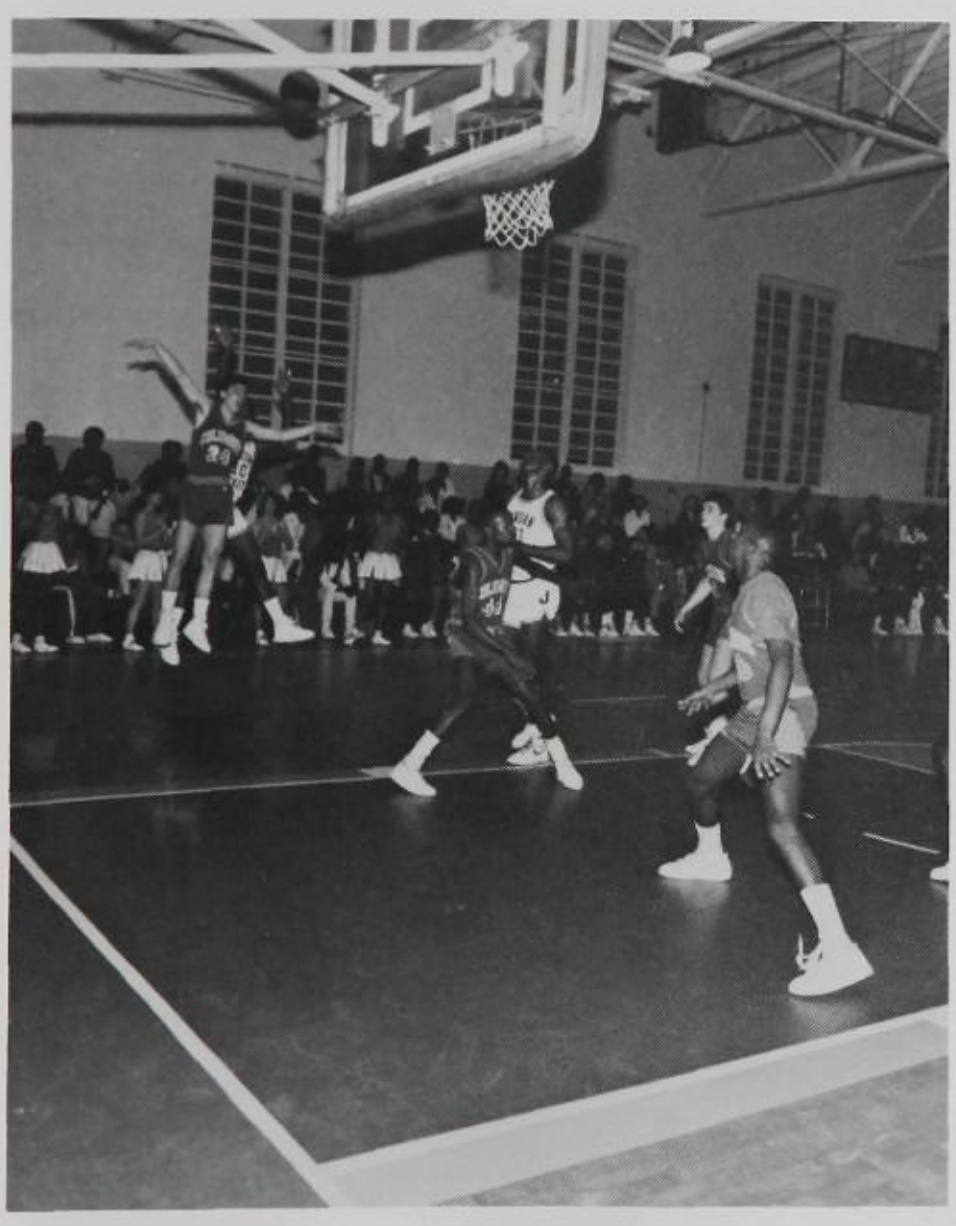
CHS SHOOTS FOR TWO

FRESHMAN BOYS BASKETBALL: Andre Stetson, Chris Raiford, Antonio Ford, Lance Edney, Royce Ceaser, Terrence Bransford, Chris Roberts, Walter Williams, Scott Stewart, Billy Blanchard, Jeff Boatner, Negron Senior.



Players' attention is divided between the long shot in the air and their opponents on the court.

Antonio Ford, protecting his area of the court, hopes the Jordan jump shot misses.

The ranks of the Freshman Basketball Team were filled with players new to CHS, but not new to basketball. Coach Jose Negron found that a young team could be an advantage. By the end of the season they had developed their skills and formed a bond for the future.

A KICK IN THE GRASS

Soccer is a tough, fast, exciting game that requires great physical endurance. It is one of the most popular sports in the world. Student interest sparked the formation of the team in this its premiere season. Mr. Akbari, who has long been involved with soccer, agreed to coach the team.

The soccer season began in February with 28 matches scheduled to last until April. Every high school in Columbus formed a team and competed, generating a new interest for sports enthusiasts in the community.

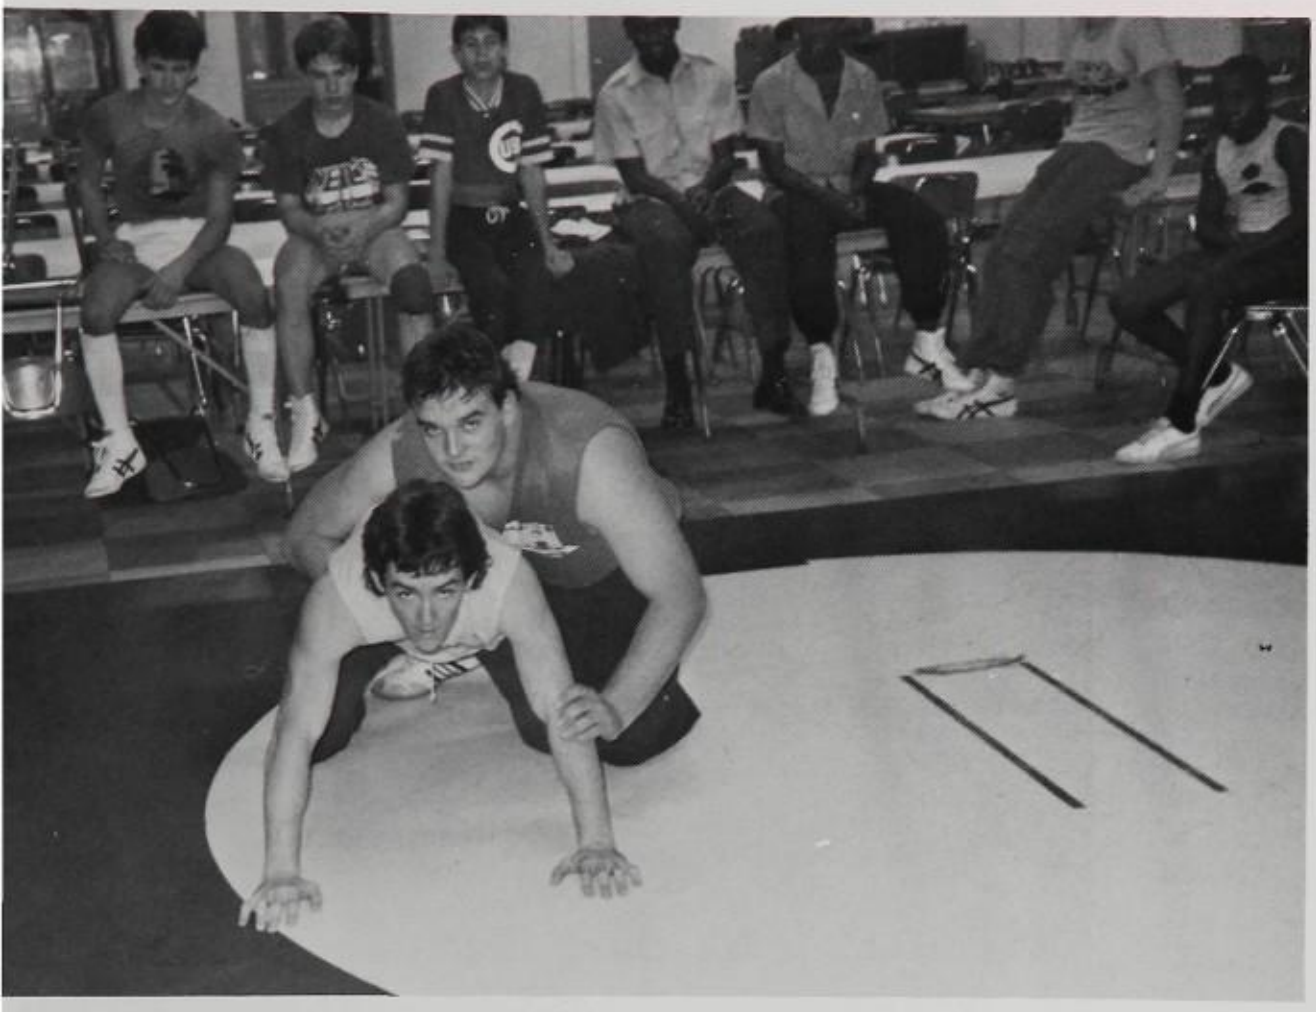
WHEN 1 SECOND COUNTS

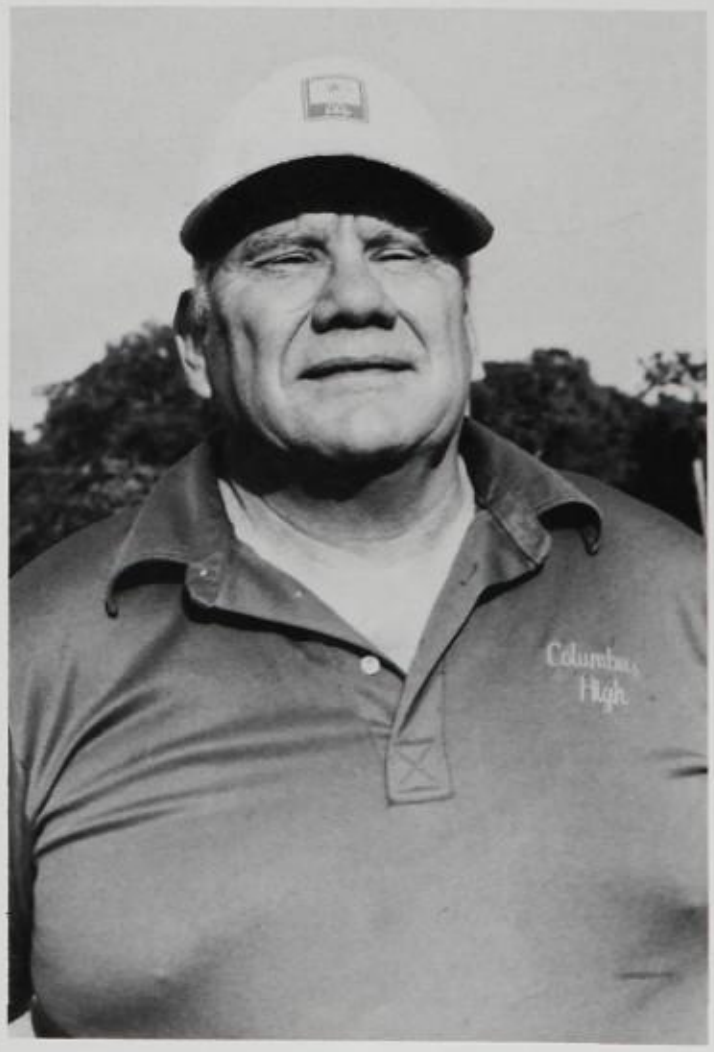
Wrestling demands strength, speed, and coordination. To win, a wrestler must pin his opponent's shoulders to the floor for one second. After high school it is possible for amateur wrestlers to compete in college. Five of our wrestlers have reached the state level. They are: Ralph Leary, Derek Carlisle, Scott Tinney, Ram Taylor, and Phil Mullinax. Serious wrestlers can go as far as the Olympic level.



This position tests Ralph Leary's abillity to use his advantage.

Defensive and offensive wrestlers reverse their positions.

Senior Ram Taylor performs a sit-out maneuver to escape the hold of his opponent.



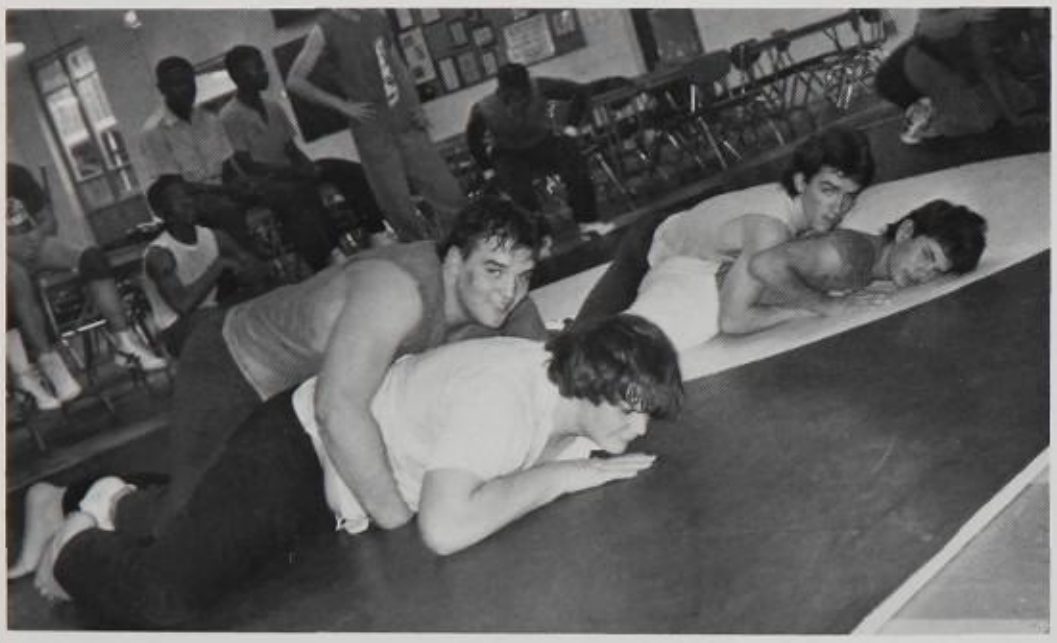
Coach Magoni's philosophy is, "It is better to have wrestled and lost than to have played basketball."

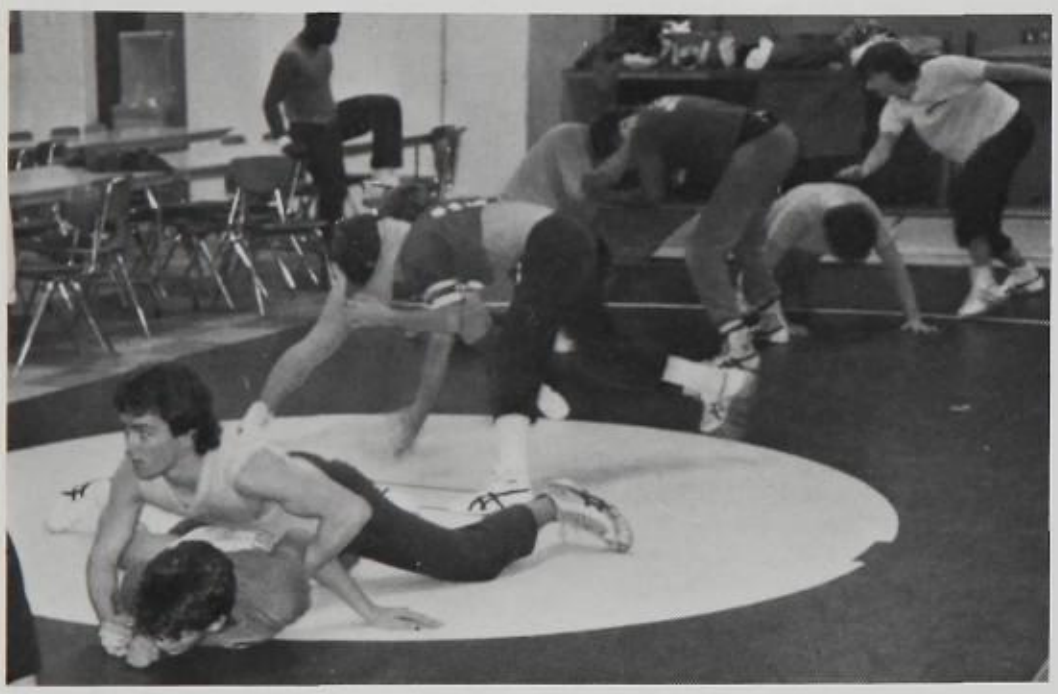
Coach Magoni warns Ram Taylor about getting penalties for using illegal holds or tactics.

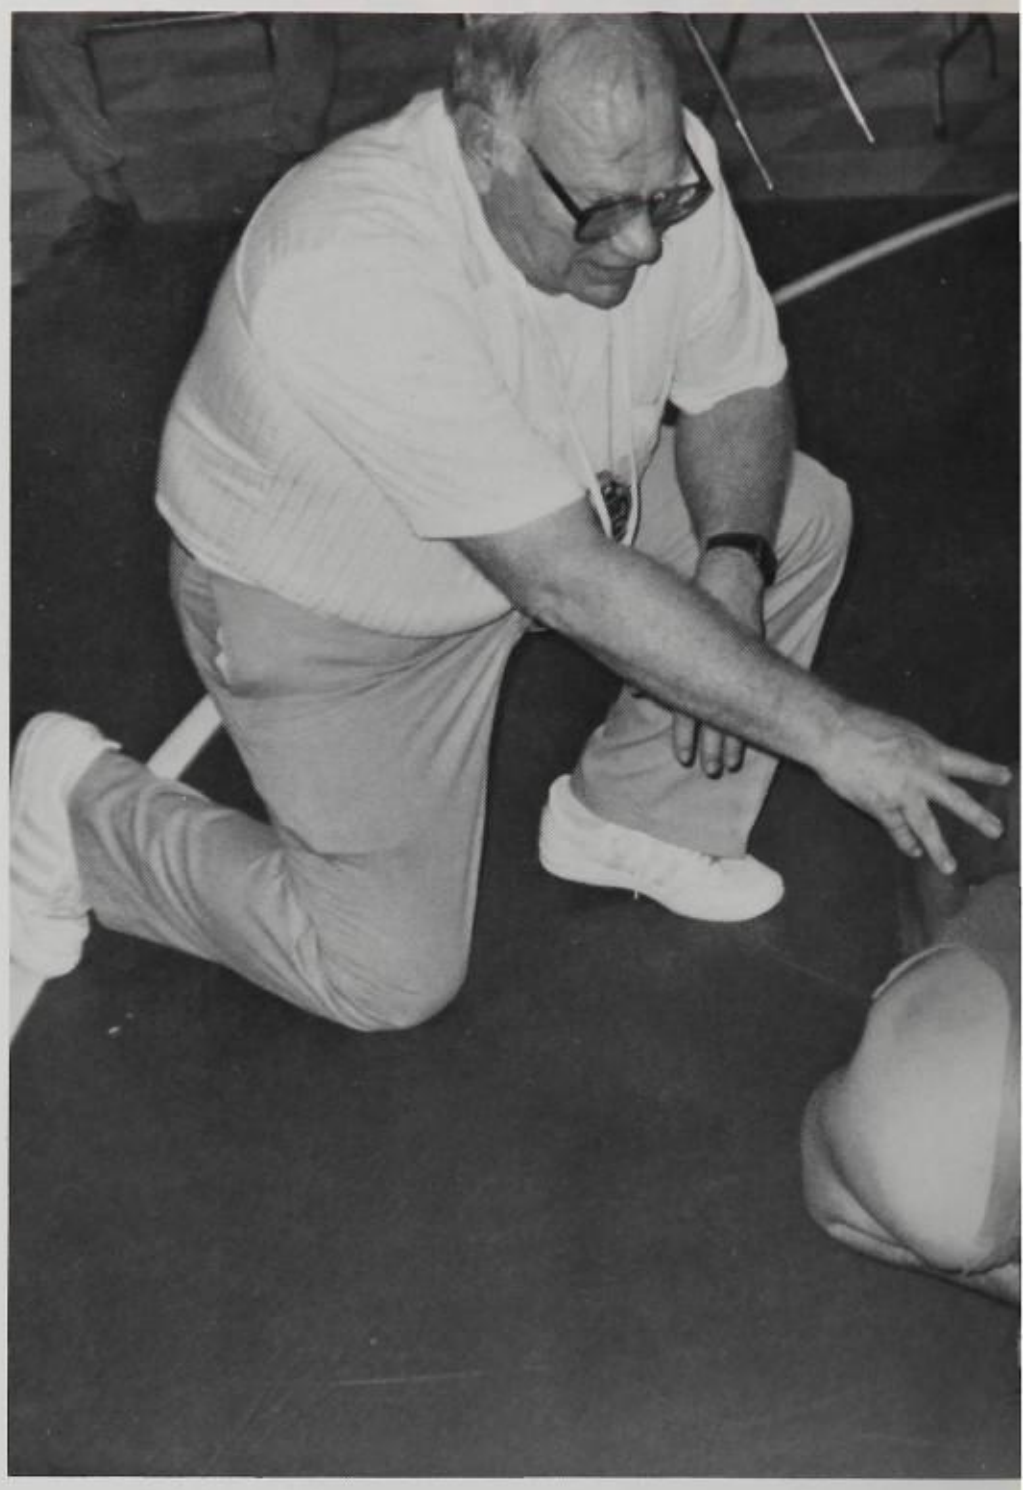
A clever wrestler can often defeat a stronger and heavier opponent through knowledge of body leverage.

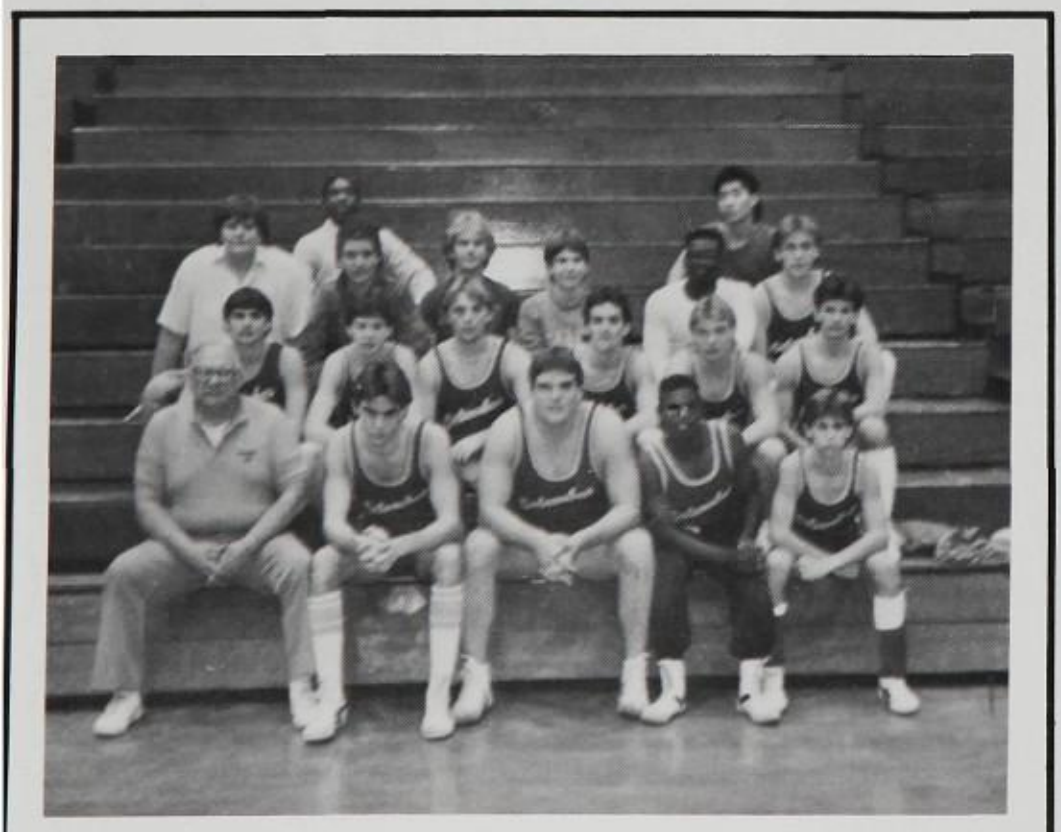
Paired in tie-ups, these wrestlers try to force their partners to the mat.

Ram Taylor practices a maneuver that he knows will earn points in a match.

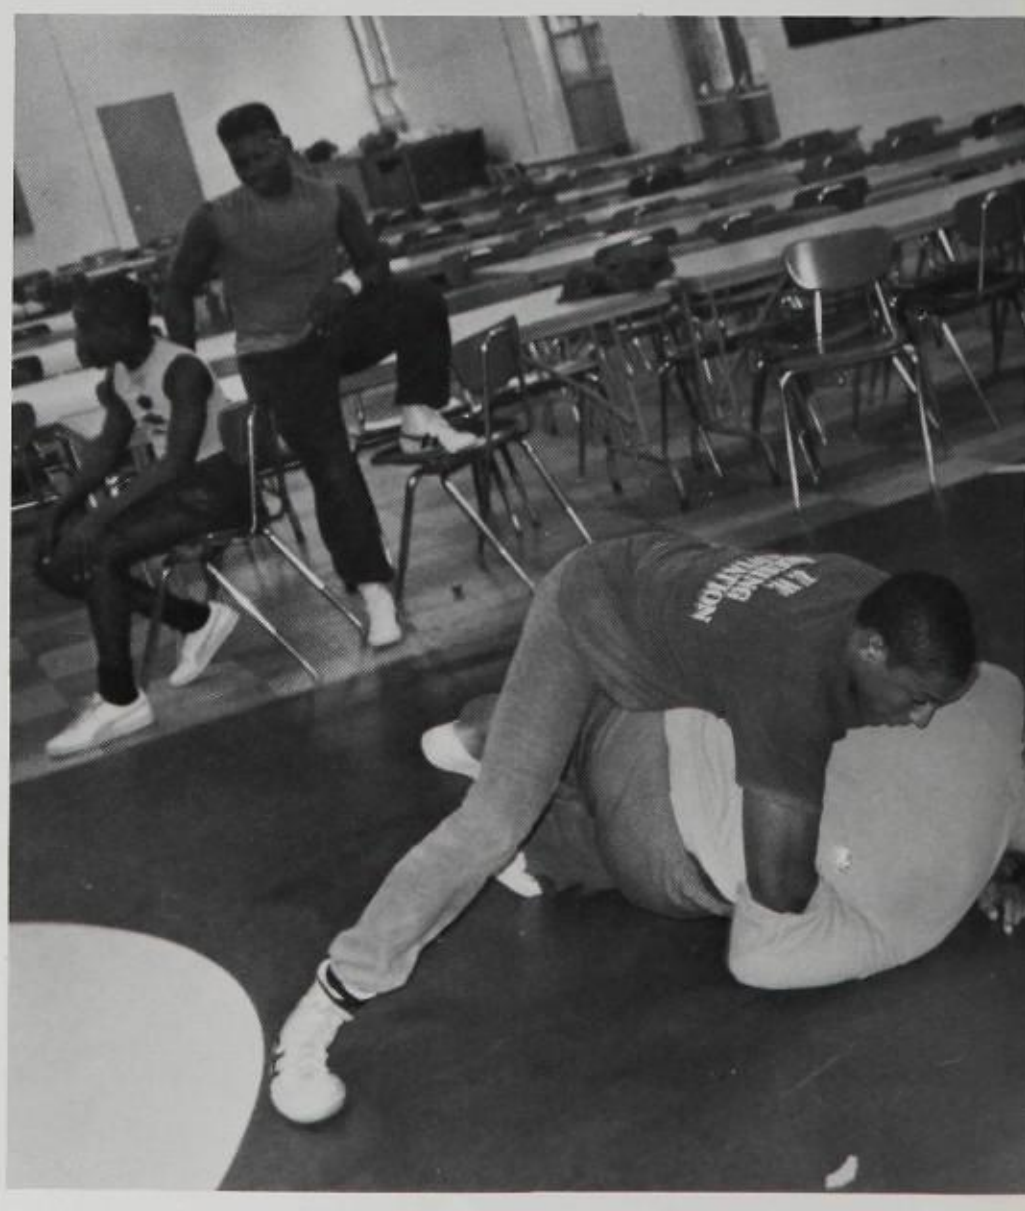


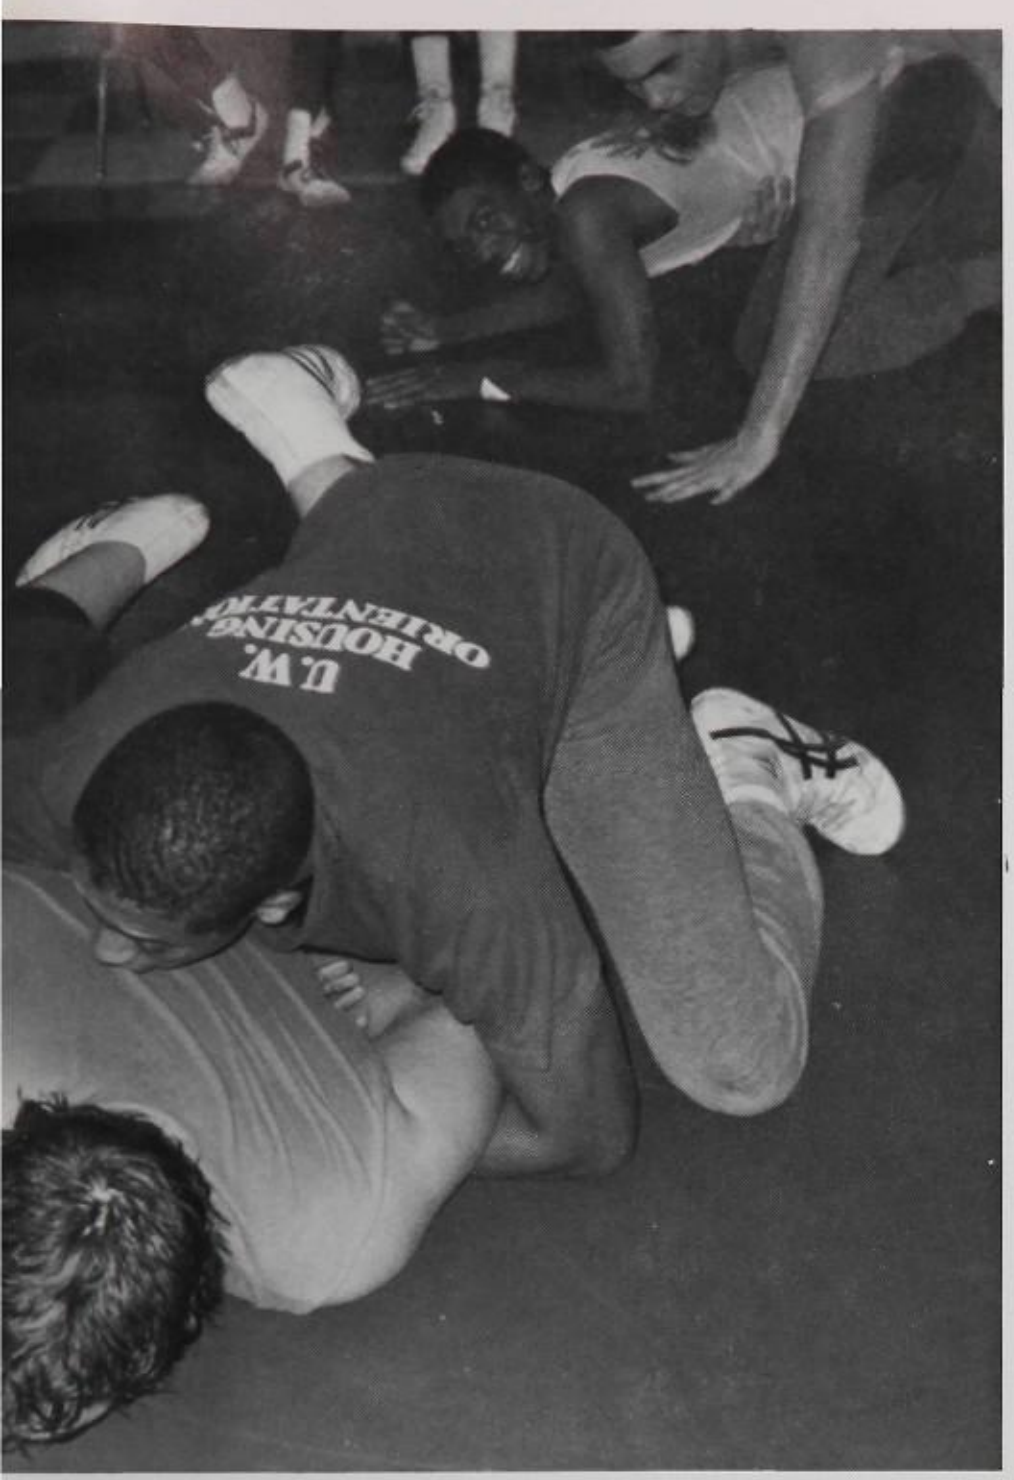






WRESTLING TEAM: Ralph Leary, Ram Taylor, Scott Tinney, Derek Carlisle, Phil Mullinax, Todd O'Quinn, Jay Banker, Cliff Lewis, Lafé Figgers, Brad Sanchez, Keith Goodwin, John Rowell, Jamie Griffis, Bob Shaw, Darrell Jones, Sam Mirsky.

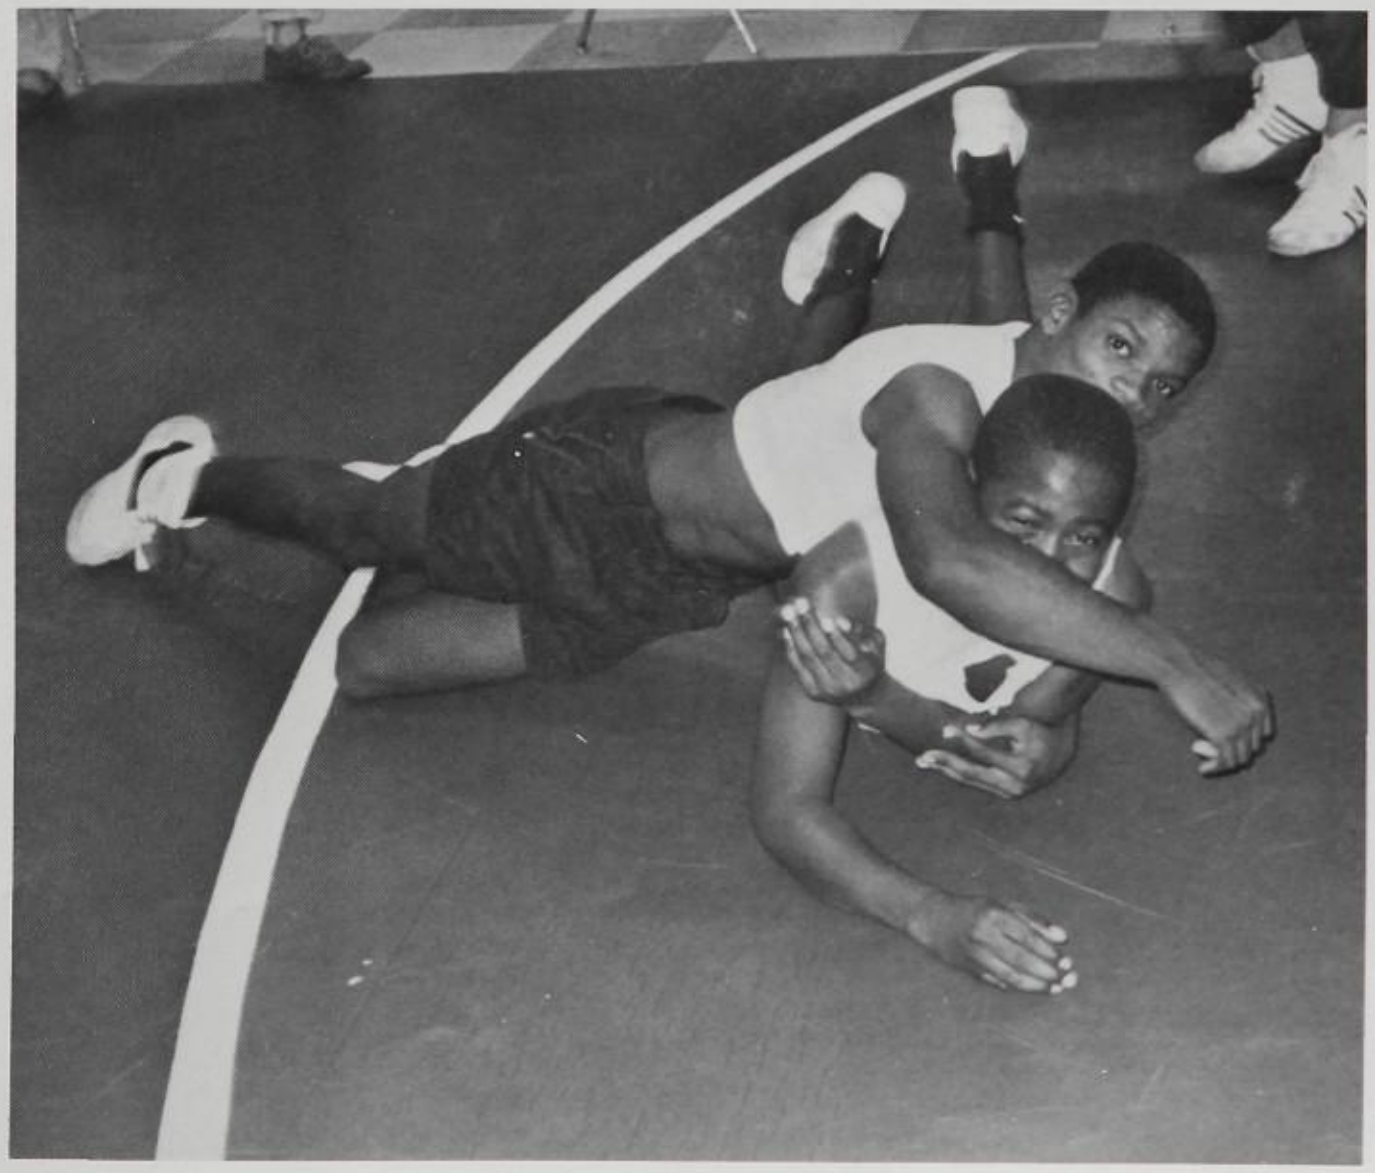




Our team demonstrates some basic holds and positions used to gain a fall.

During practice, teammates look on and give pointers to their fellow wrestlers.

Rules forbid holds that could injure an opponent or cause him great pain.



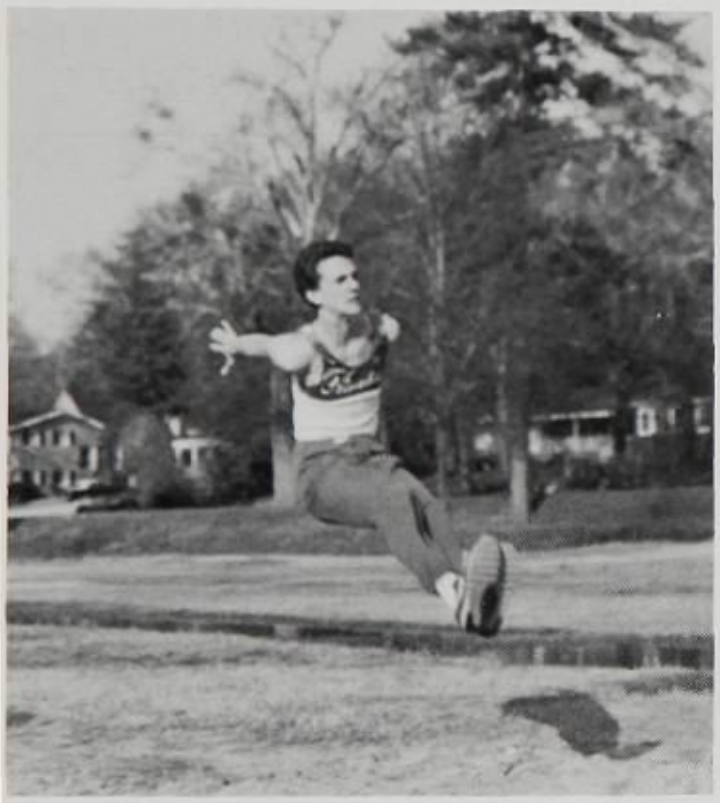
MEET THE COMPETITION

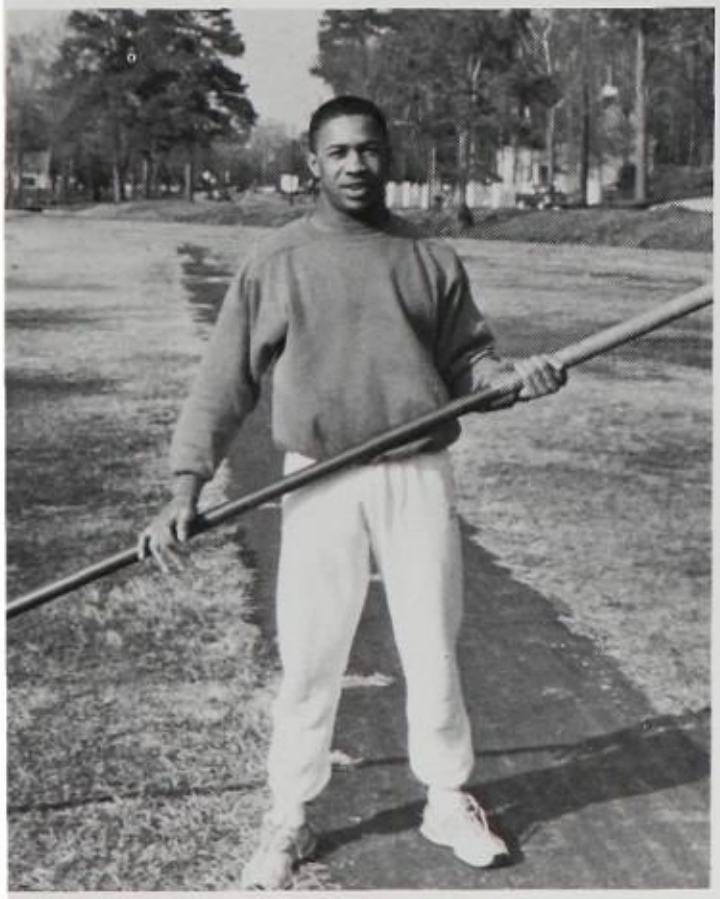
This has been an exciting year for the Track Team. Tobin King was chosen All Bi-City Track Athlete of the Year and was qualified for State Championship in five events. Sheri Jenkins, Serapis Irby, L'huanda Waits, and Carol Simon made All Bi-City, while Chris Lofton, Gary Scott, and Kristie Doucet received Honorable Mentions. Other outstanding runners were: Traci Tucker, Tometo Williams, Solomon Williams, and Jeff Jones.

Even for an experienced runner, the high hurdles are challenging.

Junior Nelson Tomlinson practices his long jump, hoping to increase his distance.

Pole vaulting emphasizes precision timing and accuracy.





TRACK TEAM: Tina Black, Ramona Calhoun, Erin Cox, Anissa Elzy, Tracy Gary, Christy Greindl, Tongi Hodo, Sheri Jenkins, Lindzee Jones, Jennifer Klepac, Carol Simon, Bonita Porch, Vanessa Stoakley, Angelia Willis, Danyelle Woods, Barbara Glines, Traci Tucker, Shane Allen, Brian Gardner, Scotty Harris, Jonathan Henry, Brian Hicks, Stondus Hodo, Serapis Irby, Jeff Jones, Tobin King, Terry Leonard, Cortnie Mack, Andino Patrick, Gary Scott, Paul Shelton, Darren Smith, Marcus Stewart, Ram Taylor, Nelson Tomlinson, Darrell Wiggins, Solomon Williams, Tometo Williams, Henri Mobley, Kelsey Ellison, Walter Williams, Grent Solomon, Vance Averra, Chris Raiford, Chris Akers, Kevin Swingler, Ben Matthews, Ray Davis, Chris Lofton, Arthur Crawford, Royce Ceaser, Eric Harris, Eric Jones.

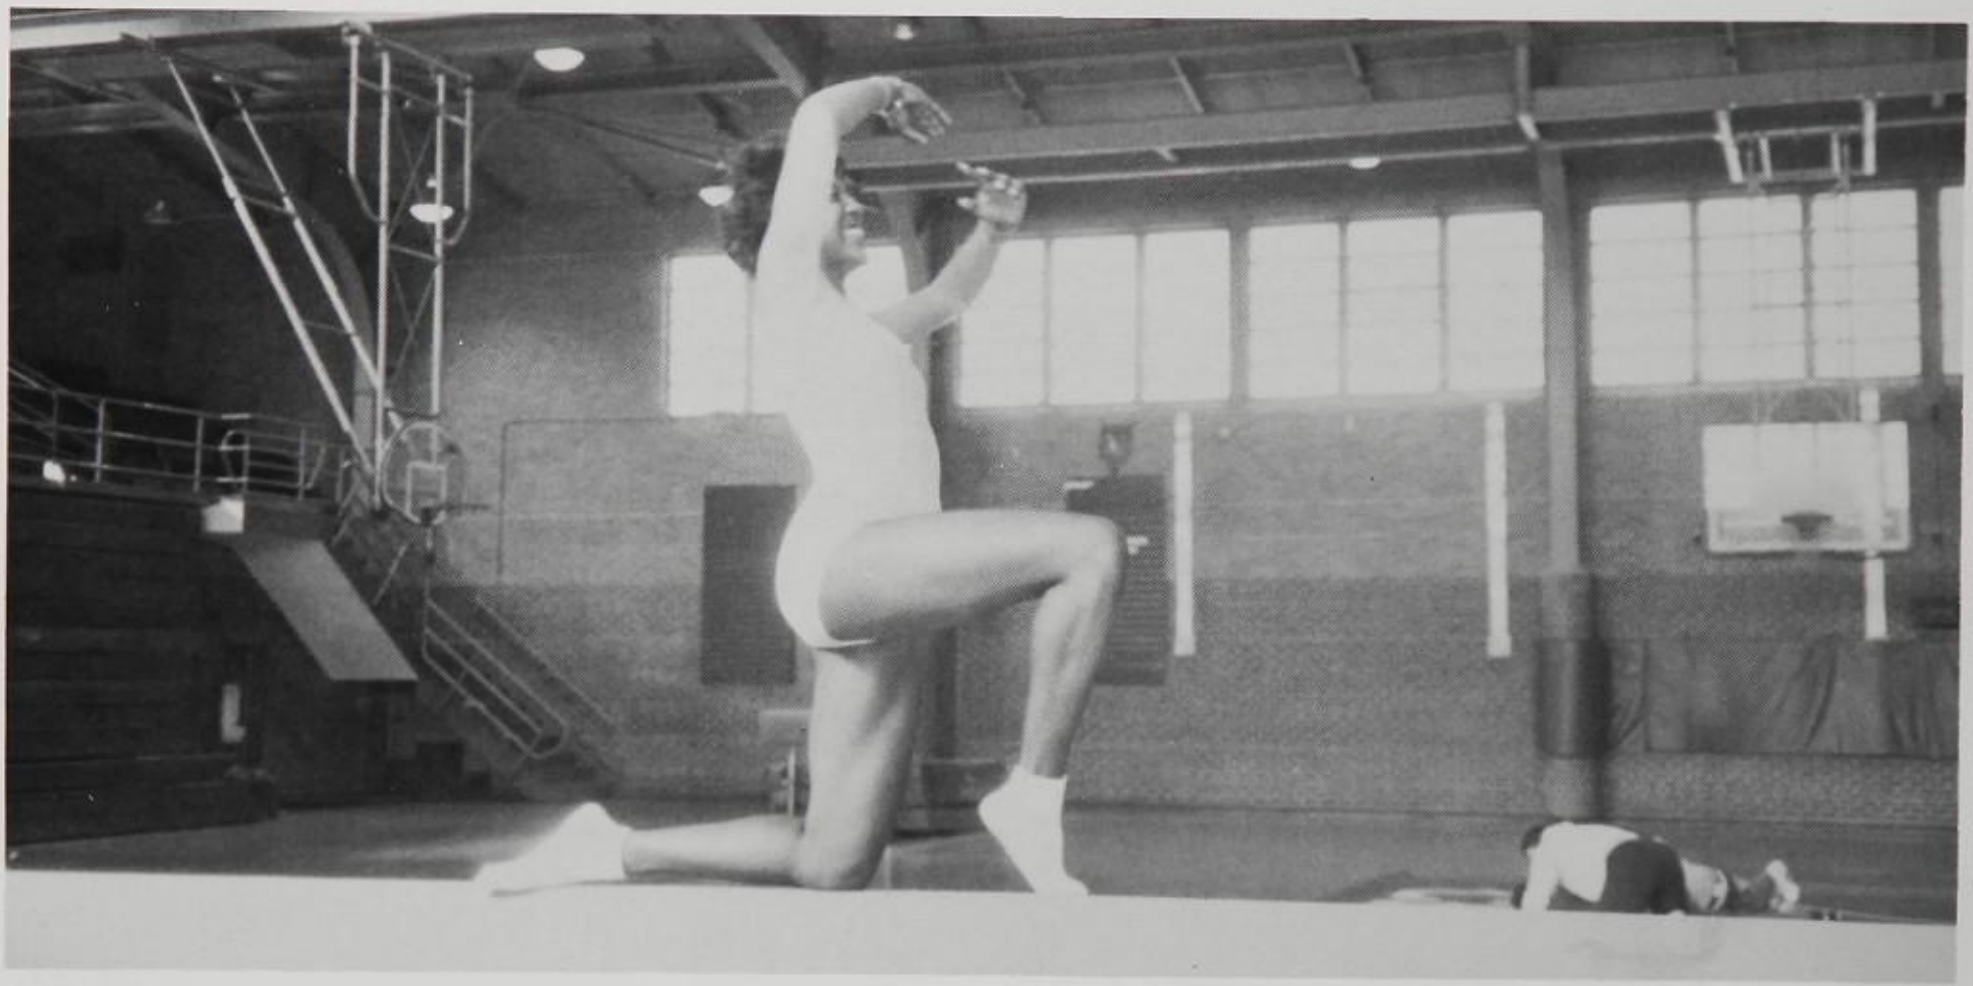
Competing with a teammate to determine the faster runner motivates these athletes.

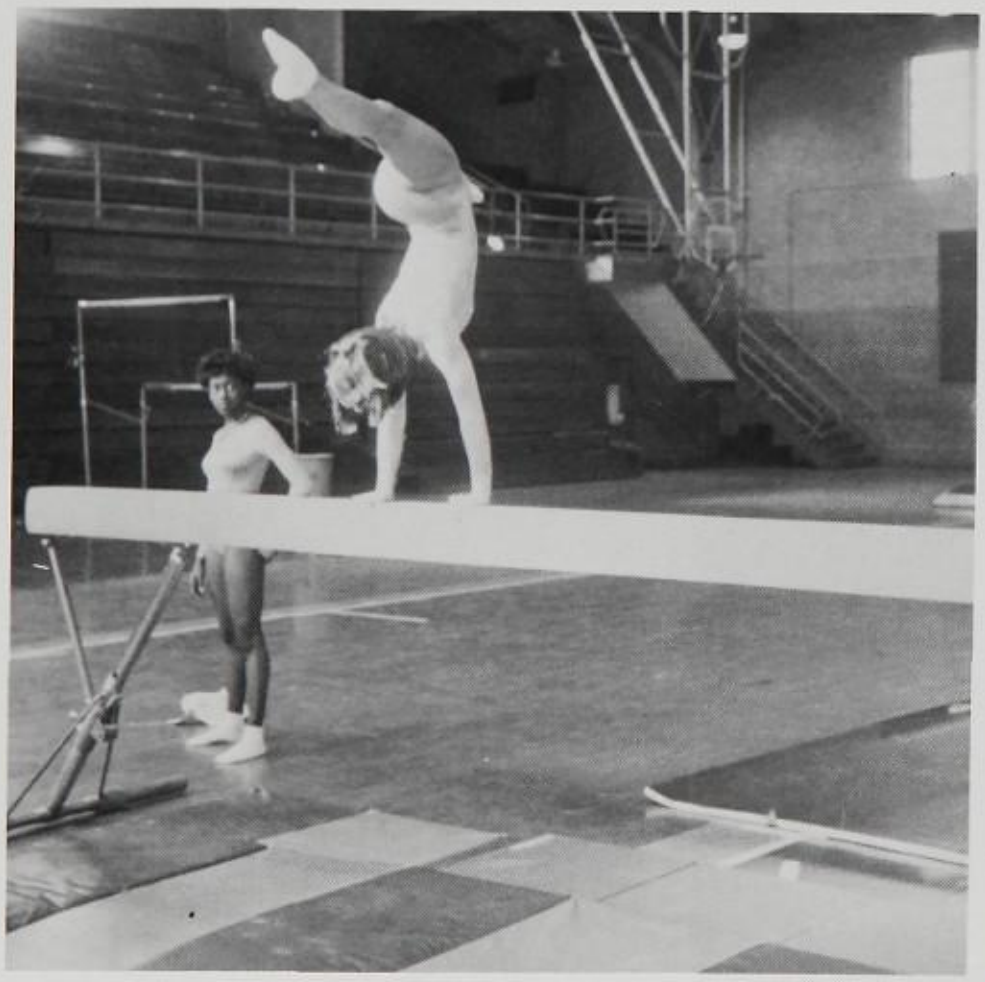
The high jump tests the athlete's strength and skill.

Sophomore Tometo Williams grasps the baton from his teammate.

Junior Brian Gardner puts all of his weight behind the shotput.

TUMBLING AROUND CHS





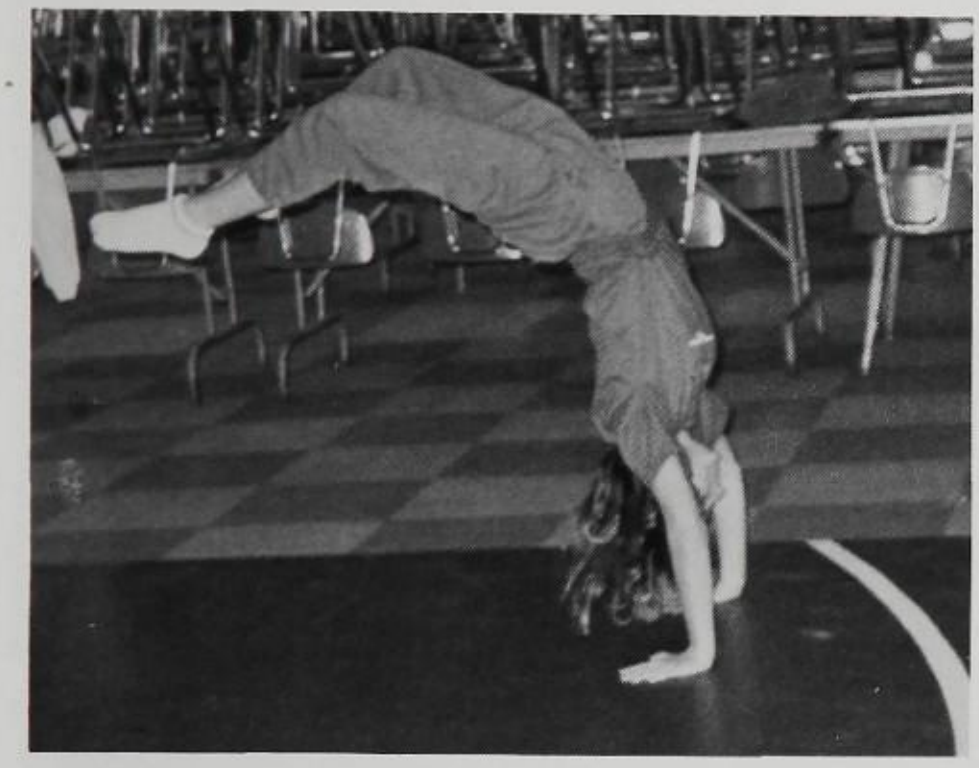
Gymnastics requires a great deal of skill, energy, dedication, determination, and creativity to be successful. The Blue Devil Gymnastics Team met those requirements in all aspects. They practiced at least four days a week and competed in area meets and the Muscogee County Invitational. Their dedicated coach was Miss Ginny Davis.

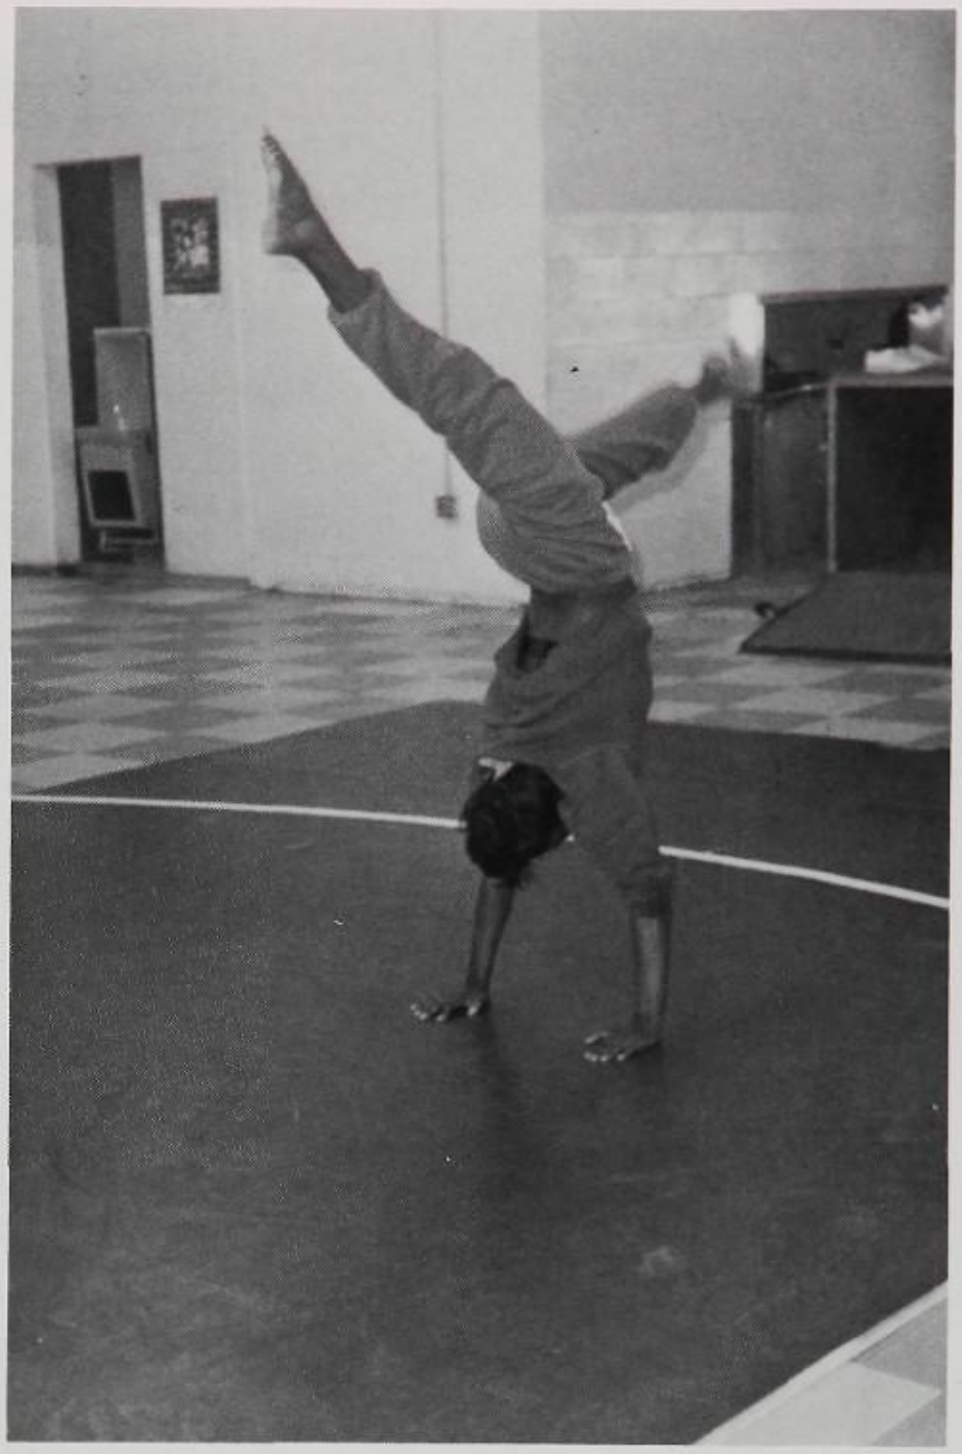
Varsity gymnast Kyra Wynn strikes a ballet pose while practicing on the beam.

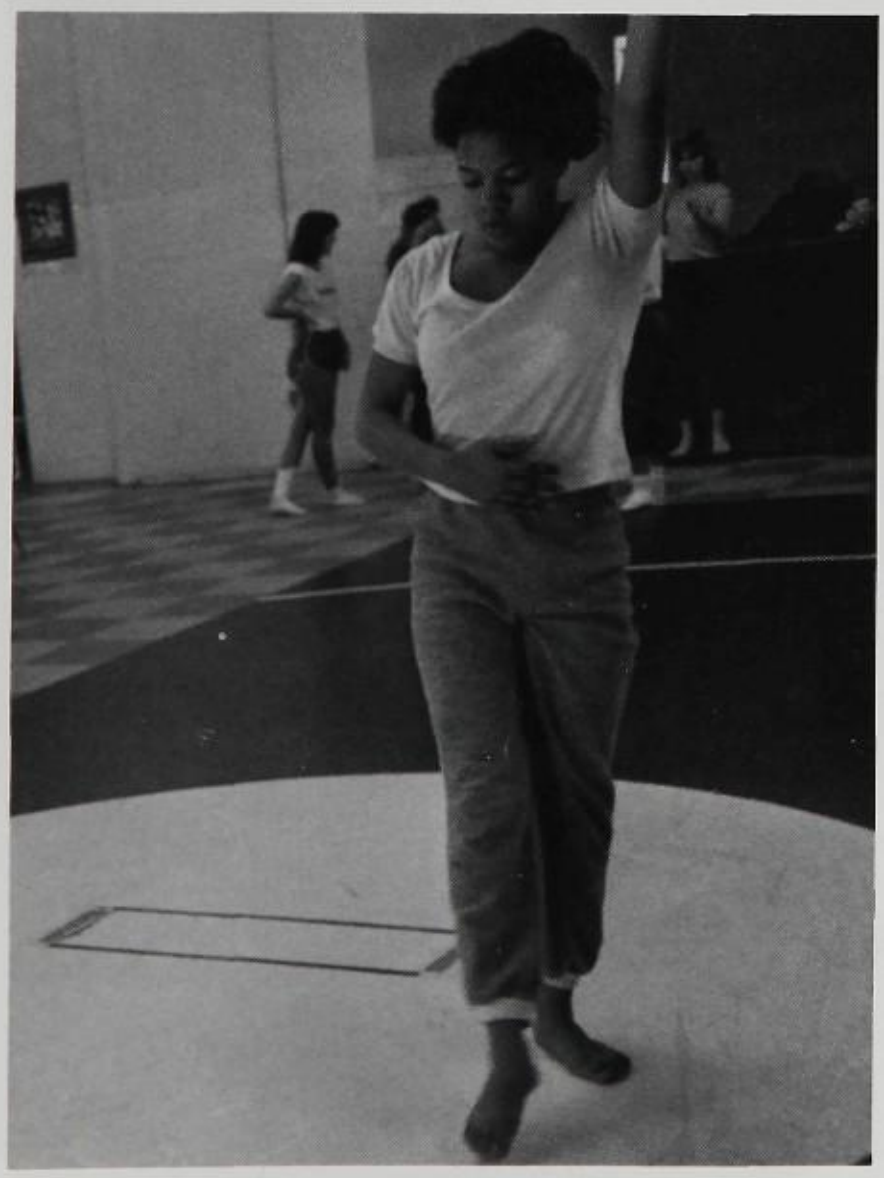
Gretchen McCosh shows poise and grace on the beam as Kyra Wynn looks on.

The gymnasts follow Miss Davis' advice and stretch before tumbling.

VARSITY GYMNASTICS TEAM: Kathy Armstrong, Kim Herring, Kathy Rogers, Lisa Asche, Hilary Chesman, Kyra Wynn, Gretchen McCosh, Carol Simon, (not pictured), and Beth Ward (not pictured).







Miss Davis concentrates on helping develop routines while junior varsity members get tips from upperclassmen Kim Herring and Kathy Rogers.

LET'S PLAY BALL!

The 1986 Blue Devil Baseball team started out with high spirits that lasted throughout the season. After the final cut in Spring, players practiced everyday after school and on the weekends. With the help of Copach Howard and Coach Gaines, the Blue Devils were ready to take on the competition.

The catcher poised with an opened glove makes a good target for the pitcher.

Coach Howard prepares the Blue Devils for a game.

Sophomore Vince Milam makes an out at first.

Freshman Jeff Boatner tries to strike the batter out.

Junior Darren Miller concentrates on the batter at home.

Senior Ray Davis suffers through the pains of practice.

Coach Howard goes over the agenda for the day's practice.

Coach Howard tries to calm Junior Darren Miller down after a rough inning.

Senior Steve McLendon prepares to bunt.

Senior Ray Davis practices his batting technique.

Junior Jason Talbot warms up his arm during practice.

Sophomore Jeff Radney reaches to catch a ball thrown a little high.

Collision at Home Plate!

Sophomore Vince Milam looks where he needs to throw the ball.

GETTING TEED OFF

The Golf Team practiced with great expectations for their season. They met at Bull Creek golf course four or five days a week to exchange helpful hints and improve their game. Coach Mattingly supervised newcomers Jeff Waters and Earnie Davis, and encouraged Jeff Wolford, Lee Henderson, and Carlos Alexander, all returning golfers. Golf may seem to be the easiest thing to do, but these golfers know better.

Freshman Jeff Waters concentrates on sinking this putt.

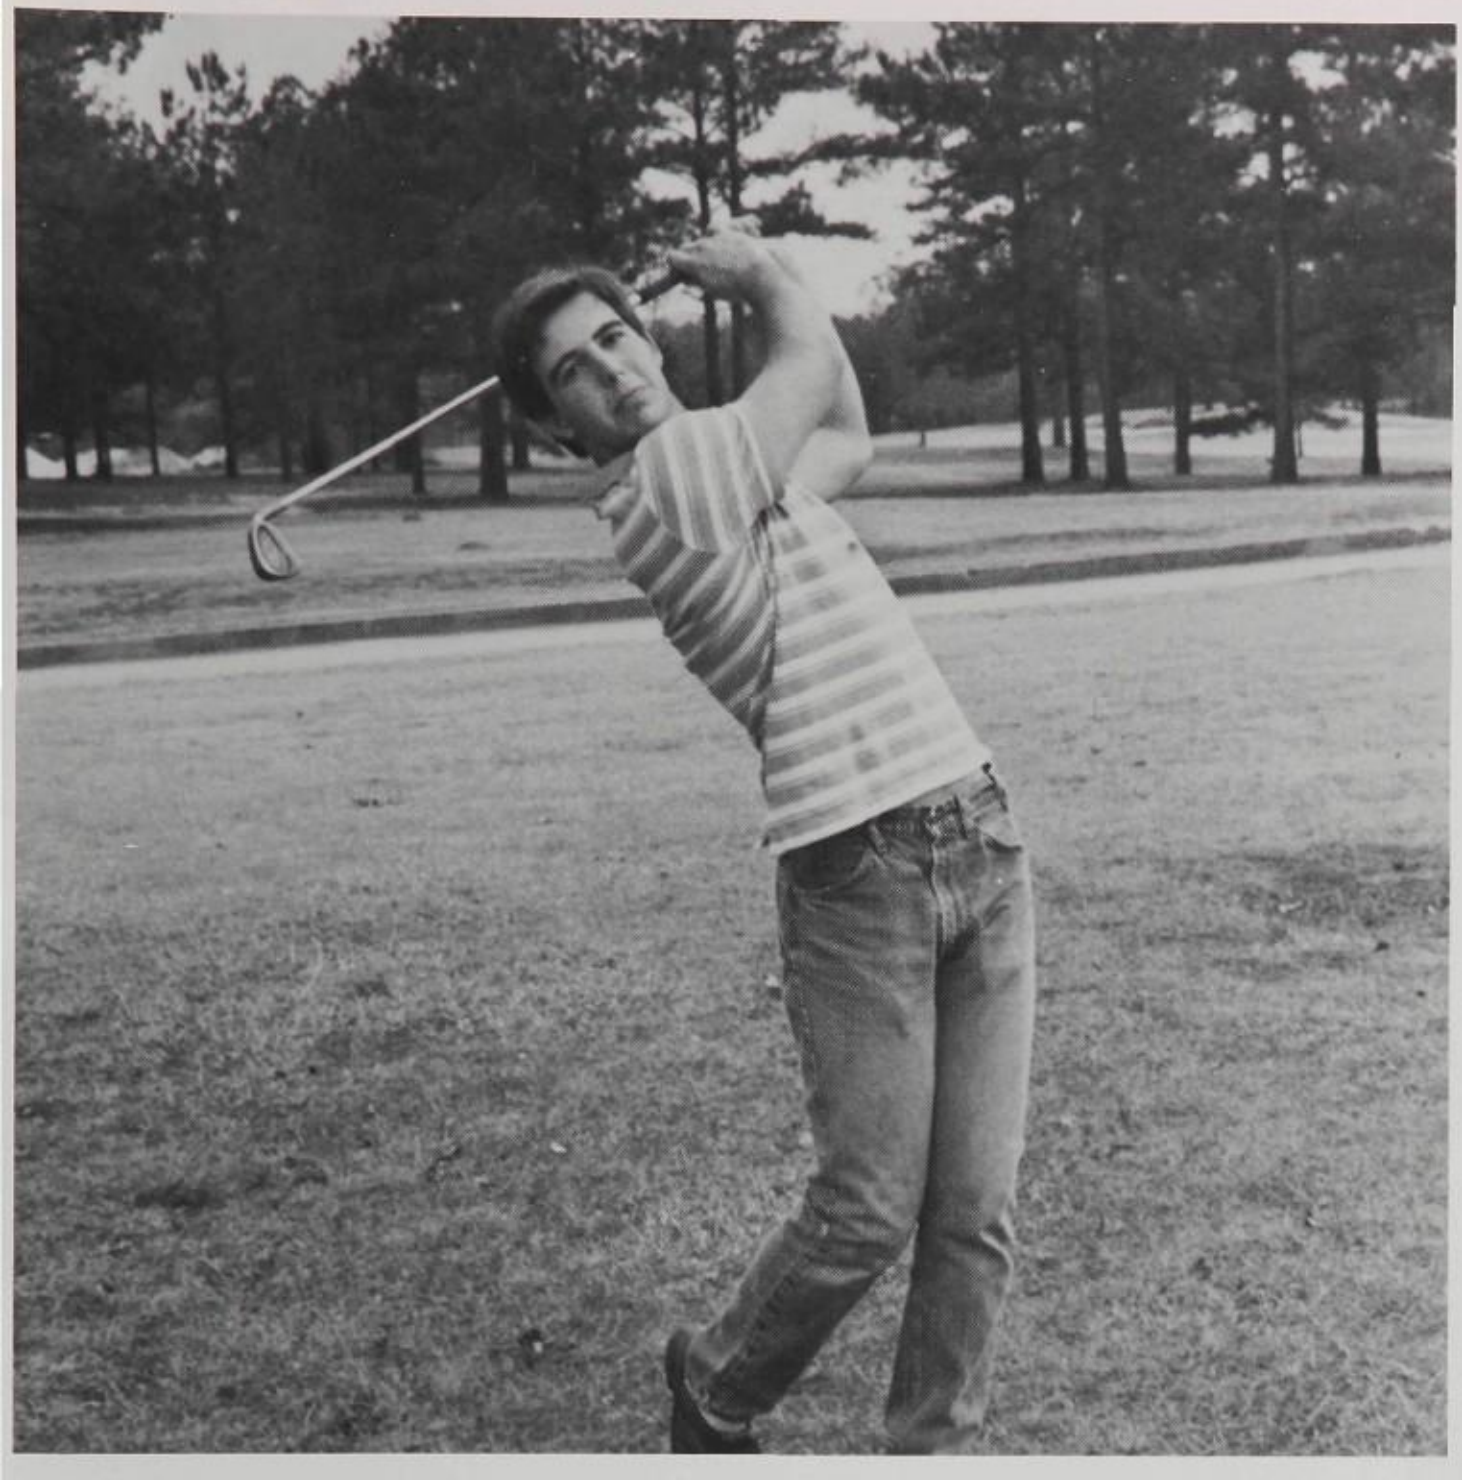
Coach Mattingly and top golfer Jeff Wolford worked hard to make sure Columbus had a good golf team this year.

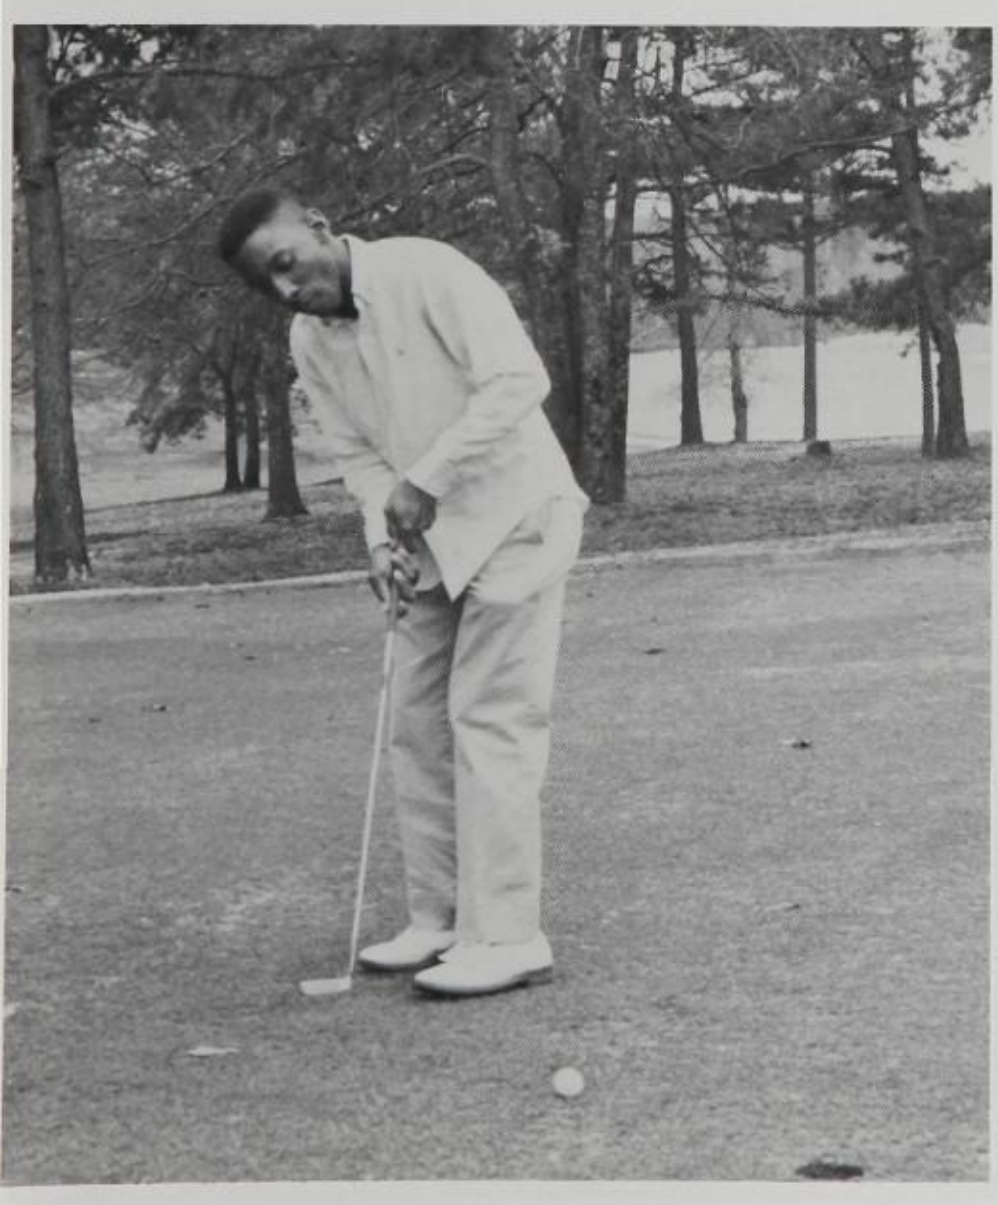


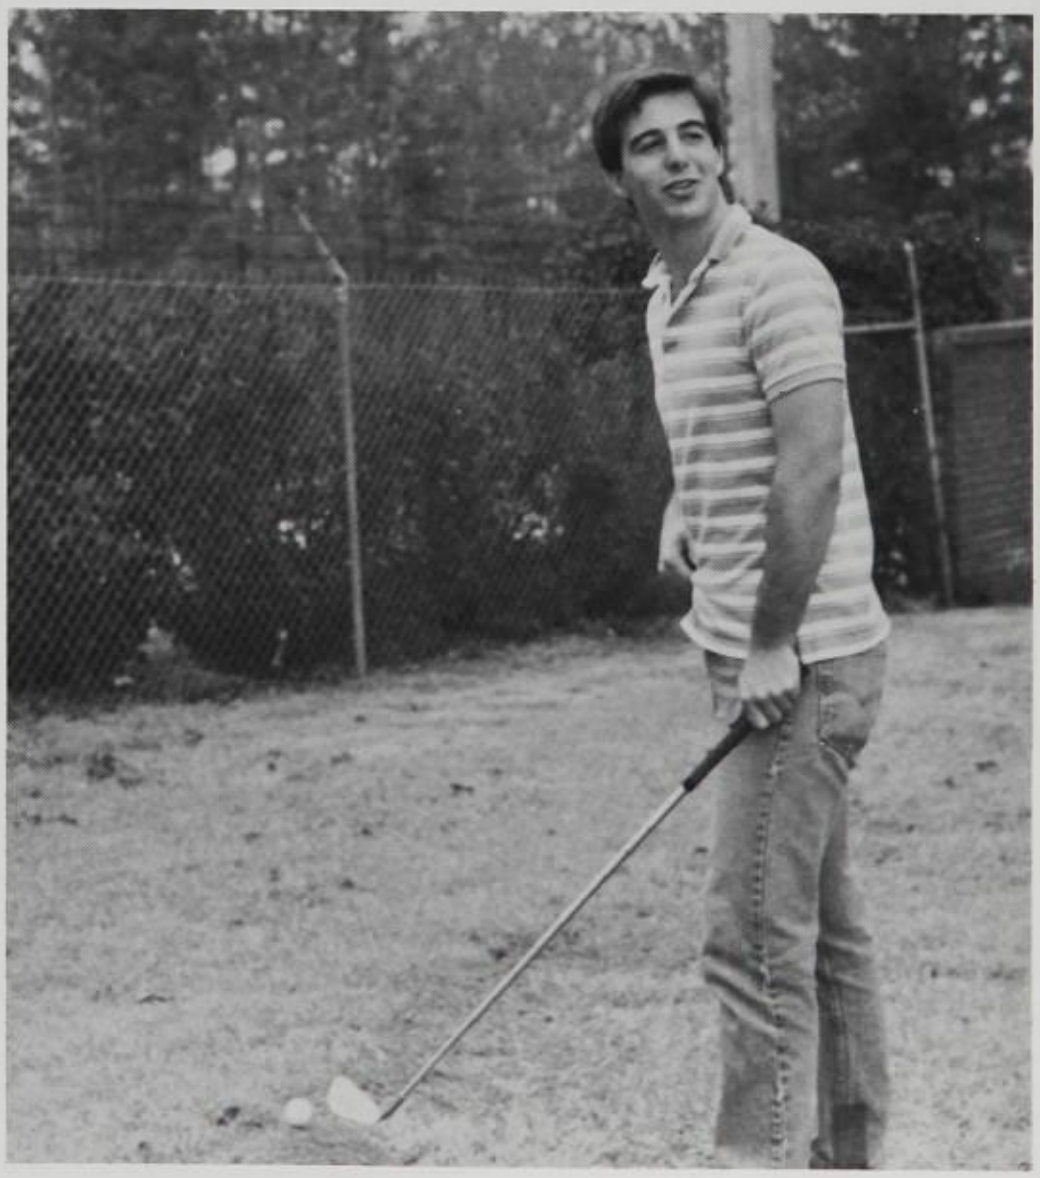
Senior Jeff Wolford's initial swing puts the ball right where he wants it.

Sophomore Lee Henderson is forced to hit the ball high to clear the surrounding trees.

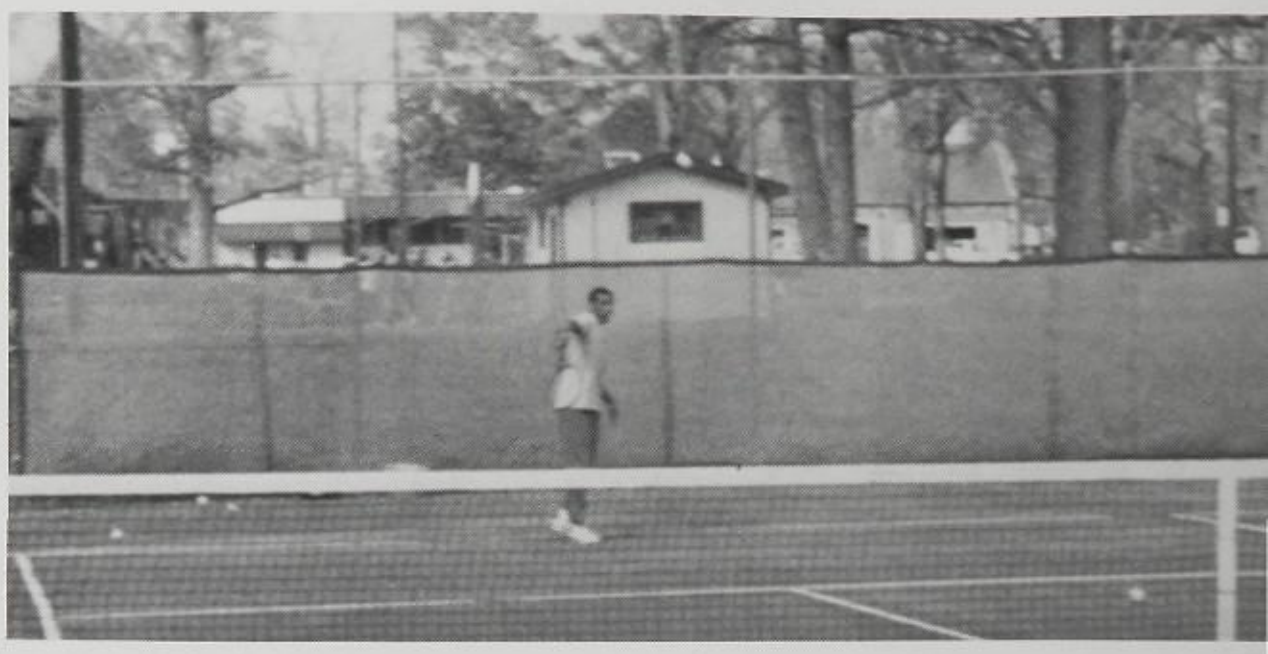
Junior Carlos Alexander is trying to determine the speed of the greens.

Senior Jeff Wolford's ball lands in an ant bed, and he doesn't seem too anxious to hit it.





THAT PERFECT MATCH



Mrs. Land was the devoted coach of the Tennis Team.

The Columbus High Tennis Team participated fully in region competition, which involved a maximum of ten matches. All matches were played at Cooper Creek, and consisted of six singles and three doubles matches for both boys and girls. Individual players were chosen to represent Columbus High in the Annual Muscogee County Invitational Tennis Tournament. An awards banquet was held in the spring to recognize outstanding players.

Senior Sean Cleveland gracefully hits the ball to his opponent.

Senior Ram Taylor practices to improve his backhand.

Sophomore Jeanie Goldsmith practices her serve.

Senior Renee Roth returns a serve.

TENNIS TEAM: Beth Bone, Brooke Bone, Jennifer Carmack, Jeanie Goldsmit Patrice Luttrell, Michelle McLaurin, Renee Roth, Amy Watson, Sean Clevelan Jason Murray, John Pittman, Ram Taylor, and Shawn Turpin.

MAKING A BIG SPLASH

SWIM TEAM: Karen Hill, Captain; Nancy Hill, Susan Wagner, Laurie Walker, Brad Stewart.

The swim team started in 1983. Coach David Kirk became the appointed coach. At the time, there were only two members. Now the team has grown to five. The high school swimming season consisted of two main meets: the Emory High School Invitational in Atlanta and the State High School Meet in Athens. Each swimmer was only allowed to swim in two individual events and one relay. The team practiced fifteen hours each week.

Senior Karen Hill and Freshman Susan Wagner don caps and goggles and grab floats before working out in the pool.

The starting block is where it all begins for this serious competitor.

Freshman Brad Stewart joins Laurie, Nancy and Susan, three members of the girl's relay team that took first place at Emory.

The backstroke, breaststroke, butterfly and freestyle are all easy for these four, who demonstrate them with ease.

FACULTY

Mrs. Price and Mrs. Johnson enjoy an opportunity to exchange ideas in the privacy of the teachers' lounge.

When Mr. Jack Schiffman, English and Humanities teacher, was asked what made him want to teach, he replied, "I'M CRAZY!"

FACULTY

Over the years, Columbus High has been recognized time after time for its students and graduates and their awards and accomplishments. The controlling force of Columbus High is its faculty. The word faculty includes not only teachers, but the principal, assistant principals, guidance counselors, and secretaries, as well as the library staff. Their contributions often go unnoticed. On the other hand, educators are also the center of controversy. Some people say they are underpaid and overworked, and some disagree, but either way,, they do a great job of leading and guiding CHS students. They have led many Columbus High students to realize their potential and become noted personalities and political leaders.

Dr. Ronnie Shehane, principal, is very dedicated to the school's purpose. Dr. Shehane guides the other faculty members and solves crucial problems. Our assistant principal in charge of attendance, Mr. Jimmie Habersham, checks students in and out of school and takes care of announcements and various other tasks. Mr. Habersham is a vital part of Columbus High. Mr. Wayne Barefield is assistant principal in charge of discipline. He has a reputation for being a very strict disciplinarian. He cares about the students. In other words, he treats the Blue Devils as if they were his own children.

Our guidance counselors, Mr. Tim Mayse, Mrs. Marie Floyd, Mrs. Charlotte Kaeserman, and Mrs. Florence McCorlew, are very dedicated to their work. They make extreme efforts to be in touch with every student. These four individuals, assisted by Mrs. Verdie Jones, take care of grades, test scores, competitions, and special events for Columbus High students.

Mr. Keith Tilton is in charge of absentees. He calls the home of each absentee every day to inquire as to what is preventing that student from attending school. The secretaries, Mrs. Joyce Bias and Mrs. Katrina Price, are hardworking and dedicated to handling phone calls and paperwork.

Librarian Roy Judah and assistant Mrs. Oneysa Johnson and secretary Mrs. Loretta Freeman take care of Columbus High's wealth of literary and audio-visual equipment. The library offers a great environment for students to do projects, study, or watch films.

Without its faculty and administration, Columbus High would not be the same. We are grateful for a dedicated staff.

WELCOMING NEW ADDITIONS

Six new teachers have joined the faculty this year. We welcomed them at the beginning of the year with open minds, and now that this year has gone by they are truly a part of the CHS tradition. Their spirit and contributions are part of the reason our faculty outshines them all.

They were: Dr. Deborah Faulkner and Cynthia Thomas, science; Beth Skelton and Ann Lyons, math; Susan Leonard, Spanish; and Ms. Wilson, orchestra.

A SILVER ANNIVERSARY CELEBRATION

1986 marks the 25th year Mrs. Barrow has been teaching at CHS. When considering copy material for this special feature we asked Mrs. Barrow to give us some information on her years at our school. She said it so well we decided to neither cut it nor add to it, but to print it as is. After all, who could better express Mrs. Barrow's experiences here than Mrs. Barrow herself.

I graduated from Columbus High School in 1948; in the fall of 1961, I returned here to teach. Although my field was English literature, I was hired to teach French I. I had to return to college during the summer to take a refresher course in French. I learned more than my students during the first few years that I taught because although I had studied French for two years in high school and I had minored in French in college and was certified to teach it, I really had to study to stay ahead of my students to be able to answer questions that they might ask. Some classes I remember better than others because there were either exceptionally good students in class or there were a great many discipline problems in the class. One of the worst classes I ever had was in Language Orientation — a course which required students to study Spanish, French, and Latin for twelve weeks each; the teachers rotated students. I was relieved when the School District decided not to offer that course anymore because the students were not the least bit interested in foreign language and foreign cultures.

One day I was teaching French to my last period class when this bald-headed man walked in; I continued to teach for a second or two before I realized that our governor, Lester Maddox, had walked into my classroom; he just said hello and continued on his way; he was in Columbus to speak to a civic group and had asked to visit some schools. He had been responsible for improvements in teacher's salaries and in the school programs and wanted to see the results.

I have had some pleasant surprises from my students. I was chosen STAR Teacher in 1980 by Stacy Turner; that same year the annual was dedicated to me. I was selected STAR Teacher again in 1982 by Donna Fussell. All of these I consider great honors because they come from students who consider that I have been influential in a positive way in their lives.

I once had a class of twenty-eight students: three girls and twenty-five boys. They came to me for English during the sixth period. One day we discussed chivalry and I made the statement that chivalry is now dead, no one opens doors for females anymore and no males stand when a woman enters the room, except my husband. The next day an English teacher came to my room to ask me a question; when I reentered my room, all the boys were standing. I didn't know what was going on until one of them said, "Mrs. Barrow, why don't you sit down so that we can sit." Then I realized that they were trying to be chivalrous. This same class one day turned all their desks around while I was at the door with a teacher. I just pretended that everything was normal and did not say a thing to them about the direction in which they were facing. Needless to say, I won't soon forget that class.

My years here have been enjoyable and have been years of tremendous change in everything from the makeup of the student body to the shape of the building to the curriculum. I feel honored and proud to have been a part of the changes.

— Marion Barrow

KAREN HILL STRIVING FOR EXCELLENCE

Senior Karen Hill has come a long way from the time she first learned to swim in a neighbor's pool. She has now acquired enough swimming awards to fill an entire room in her home. She has served on the National Junior Swim Team, holds top national and international ranks, and went to the trials for the 1984 Olympics.

Few realize how much time and training it took to achieve this. Karen trains with the Columbus Aquatic Club and her coach, and practices up to seventeen hours a week. In addition to this, she has kept up an exceptional school record. When asked if she thinks she is missing out on teenage life she said, "I sometimes do, but I really don't mind because I realize how much swimming has given me."

Karen says her family has been very supportive. Because her meets cut down on their time together, they occasionally turn her out-of-town meets into family vacations.

Karen never stops striving for excellence. Even a knee injury four years ago did not keep her down for long. She has now set her sights on the 1988 Olympic Team. We wish Karen all the luck for a very successful future!

SENIOR COUNCIL

In the final year at high school, an elite group rules the senior class. These men and women are known as the Senior Council. They contribute not only to their class, but to the whole school, by hosting dances and raising money.

Some of the projects the Senior Council undertook this year were hosting the Homecoming dance, selling the Homecoming corsages, selling candy to raise money for diplomas, and raising money to have their annual pictures in color.

The adviser of the Senior Council was Mrs. McCorlew. The senior class officers were: Kohlen Moore, President: Kimberly Marcus and Jodonna Glenn, Vice-presidents; Tracy Kennedy, Secretary; Karen Hill, Treasurer; Claire Dennis, Jeff Wolford, Jean Jones, Kim Pierce, Jocelyn Deramus, Senators. The members were: Gail Spetter, Jeff Wolford, Jamie Waters, Beth Bone, Glenda Shehane, Tina Jackson, Karen Killette, Kristine Pennington, Karen Hill, Renee Roth, Tony Ferguson, Claire Dennis, Kim Marcus, Joanne Andrews, Jean Jones, Jocelyn Deramus, Tammy Davis, Kohlen Moore, Kyra Wynn, Tracy Kennedy, and Jodonna Glenn.

JUNIOR COUNCIL

The junior class has been responsible for many activities and school functions in the past, and this year was no exception. The junior class sponsored this year's Junior-Senior Prom, held on April 5. The Junior Class Council sold M&M's and jewelry to raise money for the prom, and they also decorated the junior hall for Homecoming Week. Other activities for the class included organizing a Valentine's Day dance.

Advisors to the class are Mrs. Hopper and Mrs. Farmer. President of the Junior Class Council is Lisa Thompson. Other officers include: Cathy Clark and Diane Watson, Vice-Presidents; Angelicia Nelson, Secretary; Denise Watson, Treasurer; and Sergeant-at-Arms, Donald Nichols.

TRADING PLACES

Two of our juniors, Stephen Shaul and Beth Tomlinson, will be going to LaPaz, Bolivia, for the second semester of this school year.

Beth is looking forward to her stay in Bolivia. She thinks that it will influence her education greatly, because she may never get another chance to go to Bolivia. She has been preparing for her trip since August. It was Dr. Shehane's suggestion that Beth become an exchange student.

Stephen is also anxiously awaiting his visit to LaPaz. He wants to be an exchange student because he feels that the experience of living in a foreign country would be excellent. Stephen has had three years of Spanish and has been planning this trip since July.

Beth and Stephen will be living with the families of Monica Duran and Jorge Bartos from January 6 until the end of school in May. Bon Voyage!

THE LITERARY CRUSADER

There were letters mysteriously turning up in teachers' boxes. Some of these letters contained excerpts from poems, novels, and classics whose themes were sometimes quitting and other times to keep on trying. One quote given was "That's the wonderful thing about man: he never gets so discouraged or disgusted that he gives up trying it all over again, because he knows very well it is important and worth the doing." — Ray Bradbury's Farenheit 451. The crusader? Connelia Holloman. She wanted to be on the newspaper staff this year. Because of QBE, the Blue Streak was taken out of school and altogether dropped. Connelia was trying to encourage teachers to help her fight for a newspaper staff.

Connelia reviews last year's Blue Streak and makes plans for this year's premiere.

A STUDY IN ART

Storey Henry, sophomore, has an intense interest in art and has won several awards for her works. The most notable of her achievements is winning Fourth Place from the Third Congressional District of Georgia in a statewide contest, the Columbus College Art Competition. Storey's painting was selected by prominent artists from all over Georgia and the United States. The award winning piece is "STUDY" — a watercolor of a girl in a sunhat surrounded by flowers.

Storey first discovered her interest in art around age five, and she also began to take lessons from Geri Davis, at age seven. Storey's artwork mainly consists of painting — watercolor, oils, acrylics. She also works with pen and ink, pastels, and pencil drawings.

Teacher Geri Davis and cousin Mary Passailaigue have provided much inspiration for Storey. A well known Columbus artist, Mrs. Passailaigue's works have been displayed throughout Columbus and Georgia, including Columbus College.

The subjects of Storey's art are usually flowers and some landscapes. She enjoys doing pictures of skies and oceans, also.

Storey thinks that she will probably continue to paint but not as a career.

SURFIN' U.S.A.

Though Columbus is miles away from an ocean, fifteen-year old freshman Phil Mullinax is an avid surfer. Every summer Phil surfs near Daytona, Florida at New Smyrna Beach. Phil gets his love of the ocean from his family. He, his parents, and his older sister, Lauren, take regular seaside vacations.

Phil has been belly-boarding for a long time, and he's been surfing since last year when he and a group of his friends learned how. He has never entered a competition. He says, "It's just fun!"

Surfing is always popular with beach natives, but its wide spread popularity has dimmed since the 60's and 70's. About the popularity Phil says, "When I was little I would want to see people surfing in the ocean, but there were hardly ever any people out there. But last summer there were lots of surfers. I think it's becoming more popular."

Anxious to join the other surfers, Phil watches for ways to improve his form.

Colorful sails, picturesque seascapes, and magnificent sunsets are all part of a surfer's life.

BO,
Well I don't know Dave. We've seen a school year come to a close oh so many times. Watch him, watch him sign that annual,
I'm glad we're fixin to get the heck out of school. We've tripped everybody out. Even though I sat the bench, basket ball was still pretty fun with the Timbo Shuffleing crew & Nagrones boys. We became better friends than 7th grade so that's good. keep playing basketball even though it sucks sometimes. Let's do something over the summer. Try to stay out of trouble a little bit. See ya,

Scott "Spud" Stewart

hey tony.
Bo-well it's been real dudette JUST Kidding.
now that was queer. It was a trip having you in spanish.
Also- sorry [redacted] what can [redacted] hope to see ya over the summer and dont get in trouble ya.
Allison.

Bo,

Hey dude!
wSup!
Well I'm glad that me and you were pretty good

THE CURTAIN CLOSES FOR A SUMMER INTERMISSION

The 1985-86 school year was a great one for the Columbus High Blue Devils. For the senior class, it was a year of beginnings and endings, filled with mixed emotions. Most seniors were glad to graduate, but sad to leave CHS. For the juniors and sophomores, this year was a bridge toward bigger and better things. For the freshman class, this year was just the beginning.

January 28, 1986 will be remembered by CHS students and people around the world as the day that Space Shuttle Challenger exploded just seconds after lift-off, killing its crew of seven. This crew included the first civilian ever to fly on a shuttle mission, a teacher. Sub-freezing temperatures forced the Muscogee County School District to close its schools that day. Columbus area high school students stayed at home, watching television news updates instead of the usual cartoons or soap operas. Although the shuttle tragedy rocked the nation, President Ronald Reagan vowed that the space program will proceed with as few delays as possible. He displayed hope and perseverance, emotions that are felt throughout Columbus High as well. Blue Devils are a unique breed, and they display that matchless quality everywhere, whether in academics or athletics. As Blue Devils, we always strive to stand alone, and to maintain the belief that we do not follow the crowd, but we march to the beat of our own drummer.

The coming of Comet Halley every 76 years is a regular occurence, just as is the coming of school each fall. The comet was a constant during 1986, and as the comet disappears from view, so does this school year. With it go the charms of 1985 and '86: its classes, teachers, clubs, sports, activities, friends and so much more. All of these things are gone forever, never to return exactly as they were before, except in our hearts and the pages of this yearbook. Though these charms may be gone, they have made a great difference in our lives, and we shall always cherish the memories of this year, and remember that, as always, DEVILS OUTSHINE THEM ALL!

Freshman Robin Hewitt looks forward to days when she can drive to school instead of waiting for a ride.

Junior Carol Simon plays chauffeur for several other CHS students.

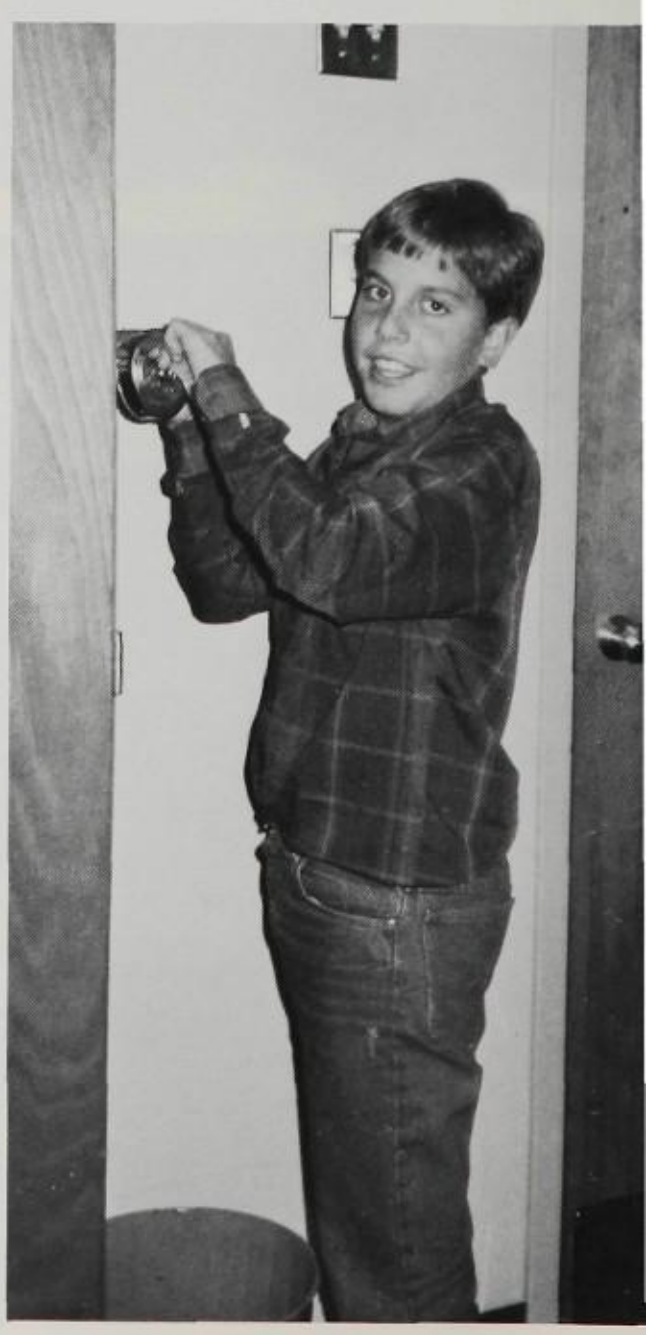
Kristi Hargraves, freshman, shows the spirit of a cheerleader, even in practice.

Sophomores Jennifer Burzynski, Sue Downes and Samantha Westbrook use their thirty minute lunch period to socialize.

Is it really an art project, or just another of Mr. Akbari's students?

Senior Reginald Snellings and junior Dallas Austin join the masses of students waiting for rides behind the school.

Kyle McCollum, freshman, wonders how long his pencil will stay sharp this time.

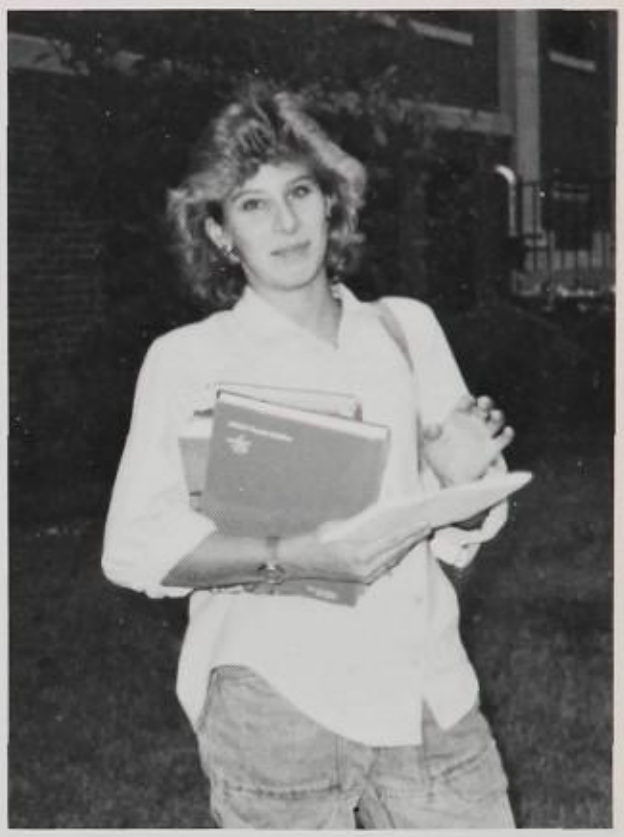


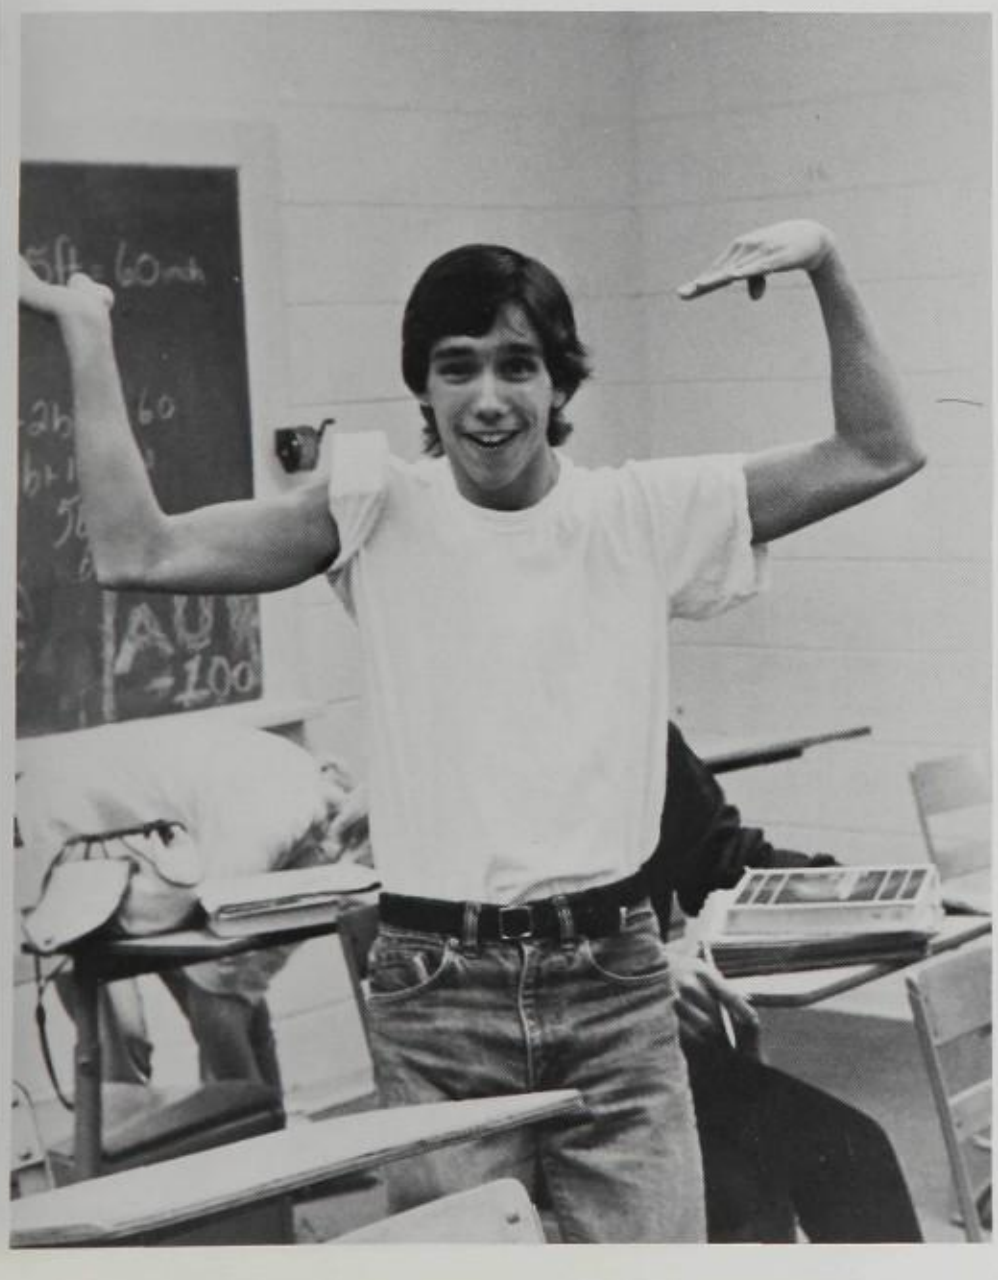
Students of Mrs. Urquhart watch a different transparency every day!

Sophomore Lisa Asche collects her books to turn in, looking forward to a summer free of schoolwork.

Chris Osorio, senior, captures the true spirit of Fifties Day.

Sophomore Janie Brinkley realizes that she only has one hour to go before school is out.





Katie Humphrey and Beth Hunsinger, freshmen, chat while awaiting the bell.

Sophomores Vincent Milam and Bretta Hollis seem to enjoy life more after 2:30.

CHS students are a close-knit family.

Miss Thomas smiles mischievously; doesn't it make you wonder what she's up to?

The contributions of others to this yearbook have been both great and small, but whichever they have been, they played a role in helping us with our "idea". A yearbook, afterall, begins as only an idea. This year's idea was conceived, planned, organized, and followed to completion by its editor, Laurie Atkins, and by those who diligently supported it. The work was frequently frustrating but always challenging. There were mistakes that had to be corrected in the late hours, but in these mistakes we discovered a purpose and a direction. Our decision was, then, that for us it had been worth it all.

We would like to acknowledge the contributions of: Dr. Ronnie Shehane, the school janitorial staff, Jennie Chandler of the Ledger Photography department, and Deborah, Bubba, and Don at C. Malcolm Newell Studios. Thanks also to these students: David Ferguson, Jamey Hart, Donald Nichols, Beth Tomlinson, and Amy Whitman.

The majority of the candid shots were taken by staff photographers and developed and printed at Newell Studios.

LAYOUT STYLE: Opening and Closing sections are in the smokestack style. Student Life feature pages use the Mondrian design. All other pages use the 2- and 3-column mosaic method.

In Gratitude

Dear Columbus High Faculty, Studen and Administration:

I wish to thank you all for such a wonderful year. It was truly an experience one could never forget. I hope that one day I will be able to return to the States and enjoy once again your Southern Hospitality.

To the Faculty:

I want to thank each of my teachers who directly or indirectly assisted me. It was difficult for me to make the transition from Germ to English. I thank you once again for being patient with me during this time.

To the Students:

I especially give my deepest thanks to you. You were the ones wh made me feel like I was at home. For all of you who shared special times with me, be it at a party, at Dr. Blalock's house, or just riding around, I want to thank you again for making me feel like a part of you. I will always carry that Blue Devil Spirit.

To the Administration:

I also want to thank you for helping this wondrous event take place. Thank you for helping me to choose my classes and guiding me through this wonderful year and making me one of your students.

In closing I want to thank each of you once again from my heart. Thi is truly one of the most meaningful experiences in my life. THANK YOU.

Most Sincerely,

Dana Vollmer

Bo,
I have sort of kind of almost enjoyed this year.
No matter how many names
you call me, or how many times you slap
my curls your still the preppiest, ugliest person I have ever known.
Stay cool (Ric).
